Rush 'Tiger Woman' to San Quentin

BIG JAUNT OF CLARA AT END

Convicted 'Hammer Murderess' Still Hopes to Prove Innocence

NOTORIOUS PRISONER IMPOSED ON SHE SAYS

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Clara Phillips will be taken directly to San Quentin penitentiary tonight. Superior Judge McCormick late this afternoon granted a motion of Deputy District Attorney Keyes and signed new commitment papers for her, on the ground that her former appeal had technically been filed a day too late to comply with the law.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—The monotonous clicking of a limited over the desert rails today hastened the end of the six months "vacation" from the county jail of Clara Phillips, escaped "hammer murderess."

Tonight at 7:40 when the Sunset Limited pulls into the station, Clara's sensational jaunt to the tropics, beginning when she crawled through the window of her jail cell December 5, and culminating in her arrest at Tegucigalpa, Honduras, a few weeks ago, will be ancient history.

Her hope of freedom and her dream of fame gone, she will be back where she started—in a plain, white-washed cell in the county jail. There will be one difference, however: her cell will not look out over a friendly roof to the street.

But even these plans may be upset at the last minute. The district attorney's office will breathe much easier once Clara is safely escorced in "murderer's row" of San Quentin.

A final legal skirmish between the rights of the state and Clara's few remaining legal safeguards was to be held late this afternoon in superior court.

Clara's sister, Etta Mae Jackson, attempted to obtain an attorney for her at Tucson, Ariz., but Clara's guards refused to let him see her when he presented himself at the station, according to advices received at the district attorney's office.

CONVICTED SLAYER HOPES FOR RE-HEARING

ABOARD SUNSET LIMITED, June 1.—Clara Phillips' greatest hope as she approaches Los Angeles is that she will be given a chance to prove she is not a "hammer murderess."

The notorious prisoner appeared disconcerted over reports from California that she would be denied an opportunity for re-hearing of her case and her escape from the Los Angeles jail last December.

"I was a good sport down in Honduras, and when the American officials arrived I waived my extradition so that I could return and prove my innocence. I played the game squarely and now when I get back to my own country I find they are trying to take away my only chance to do that which I came back to do. It isn't fair and I can't believe it is true."

In her vanity case Clara carried an important looking legal document. It was her waiver of extradition, embossed with gold seals and bound with red ribbon in the manner of official Latin-American papers.

Over her signature it stated she was confident she could prove her innocence and for that reason would come back voluntarily to America.

"See, I put my faith in writing," said Clara, pointing to the impressive-looking document. "I waived extradition. I said I would come back and face the music. I played the game on the level with all my cards on the table. Now they want to persecute me."

So-called 'Spoils' System Bill May Face Referendum

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Invocation of the referendum to bring the Bromley bill, passed by the last legislature and now before the governor for signature, before the people for vote at the November election was broached today.

Letters signed by State Senator Herbert C. Jones; Mrs. Aaron Schloss, California club woman, and Chester Rowell, former railroad commissioner, editor and University of California regent, were broadcast over the state, asking citizens to sign petitions to bring the bill to the state polls.

Opponents of the measure claim it will give the governor control of almost a dozen state commissions, placing 100 important offices under his direct appointive jurisdiction constituting a "spoils" system.

Mrs. Stillman Opens Home to Baby Guy Only if Mother Withdraws Affection.

LA TAQUE, Quebec, June 1.—"If Baby Jay Leeds should come into my home—and I am ready to take him in—it must be on the basis of complete separation from his mother."

Thus did Mrs. Anne U. Stillman draw the line between the son of her husband and "the other woman", and the "other woman" herself.

"I am ready at any time to adopt Little Jay Leeds and bring him up with my own children, whose half brother he is," said Mrs. Stillman in an interview at her home at Grand Anse.

"If Mr. Stillman shirks his plain duty, it is still the duty of the Stillman family to recognize its responsibility for the welfare of the child. If there is no one else to care for him, I will assume the entire burden. It is a difficult situation, a terribly difficult situation. But it does exist and we must recognize it.".

COUPLE TO BE MARRIED AT S. S. PICNIC

While mothers of the congregation of the Spurgeon Memorial church were preparing chicken and delicacies for picnic lunches tomorrow, and while fathers gave attention to the condition of the family automobile for transporting the family to the park, kiddies of the households today were looking forward to the annual picnic of the Sunday school, at Orange county park, tomorrow, in anticipation of getting their first glimpse of a wedding party and witnessing for the first time a marriage ceremony.

Introducing a novelty in the program of a Sunday school picnic, Miss Maymie Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Armstrong, 622 South Sycamore street, and an active worker in the Sunday school and church, at 3 o'clock, will become the bride of George Bercereau, of Los Angeles, with a pastor from Los Angeles performing the ceremony. The wedding ceremony will be public and the marriage vows will be taken in a corner of the pavilion at the park.

Miss Armstrong is a graduate of the Santa Ana high school, and last June graduated from the Southern Branch of the University of California. She has been teaching this term at Fountain Valley school, at Talbert, which position she has resigned.

The groom is a nephew of L. D. Mercereau, of this city. He is employed in Los Angeles.

The Sunday school picnic program for tomorrow will include a number of athletic events for men, women and children.

Precidio was almost unconscious by the time he delivered his load, because the deadly fumes escaping from the T. N. T. had impregnated the air about the truck.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., June 1.—An injunction suit to halt the "one man" grand jury probe into alleged immorality in the House of David religious cult, was filed in court here today.

John H. Culby, a farmer and canning factory owner, in asking the restraining order, declared the investigation is being held by Judge Harry Dingeman under a "fictitious complaint" issued by County Attorney Charles W. Gore.

Culby asks that Clarence J. McMullen, county treasurer, be restrained from paying fees and other expenses of the probe.

2 EMPLOYES ARRESTED IN ROW

Pipe Line Squabble Takes New Turn As Injunction Suit Is Filed Here

Fighting in the "woodland fued,' involving pretty Virginia Lee Cookson, rancher, and Charles S. Mann, manager of the Modjeska ranch, was renewed today as two employes of Mrs. Cookson were arrested on a complaint signed by Mann, and Mrs. Cookson filed an injunction suit against Mann, asking the court to compel him to refrain from interference with her.

A two-inch pipe line, running from a reservoir across 1000 feet of the Modjeska land, to Mrs. Cookson's ranch, was the point of contention in both suits.

Robert E. Suthton and S. F. Mittingly, farm hands employed by Mrs. Cookson in laying the disputed pipe line, were arrested yesterday when they came to the sheriff's office, and were arraigned before Justice J. B. Cox on charges of having destroyed a pipe line belonging to Mann.

Plead Not Guilty

Pleading not guilty, they were released on their own recognizance to appear for trial July 16. This was the date that Mrs. Cookson was scheduled to come to trial on the same charge.

In her suit, Mrs. Cookson gave a history of the dispute. When she purchased her ranch from the Modjeska company, she secured permission, in her contract, to connect a two-inch pipe to the reservoir and use a reasonable amount of water, without cost to her, she claimed. The contract containing that provision was appended.

When, however, she laid this line, at a cost of $500 to her, and connected it with a 3-inch outlet at the dam, which, she claimed, Mann told her was her's to use, he ordered her to remove it.

This she refused to do, whereupon he caused her arrest by the sheriff, and tore up the pipe line, she claimed.

She restored the line, however, but upon information available, she understood that Mann plans to disconnect it and remove it, she said.

She asked a temporary order from the court, enjoining him against such action, until the case shall come up for hearing.

Finally, she asked that a permanent order restraining Mann from interfering with the line, be issued by the court, and that the court find for her to the extent of $5,000 damages.

The suit was prepared by Attorneys W. F. Menton, Santa Ana, and J. Robert O'Connor, and Charles Scholz, Los Angeles.

RECORD FLIGHT OVER NATION PLANNED

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Clark Vance, Logansport, Ind., an air mail pilot, will attempt a twenty hour non-stop transcontinental flight from San Francisco to New York within the next ten days, the National Aeronautical association announced today.

Vance will fly in an airplane he built himself.

Vance intends to leave San Francisco at 10 a. m. and land in New York at 6 the next evening. His route will lie over Omaha, Chicago and Cleveland.

A. C. Nelson, Salt Lake City, superintendent of the western division of the air mail service, today applied to the national aeronautical association for official recognition of the flight. Vance is on leave of absence from his air mail duties. His plane, when fully loaded, will weigh 4200 pounds, carry 350 gallons of gasoline and travel 122 miles an hour.

Last February he won praise from his superiors by landing his plane on the crest of the Sierras in a snowstorm, after fighting a ninety-mile gale. He made his way through the storm to the Reno railroad station with 300 pounds of mail and completed his trip to the coast by railroad.

Ruhr Business Is Seemingly Normal Says Gov. Allen

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LONDON, June 1.—"Business as usual" is the order of the day in the Ruhr, in spite of the strike, communist uprisings and executions, former Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas said today in an interview.

Having just returned from a visit to the occupied area, Allen gave his eye and ear impressions as follows:

1—There are few outward inward indications of the military occupation; the Germans are well dressed and don't look hungry.

2—Germans in the Ruhr don't attempt to conceal the fact that the policy of passive resistance is doomed to failure. It is realized that a reasonable reparation must be made.

3—The atmosphere of calm may be due, in part, to the fact that the French have deported 120,000 German railroad employes who might have caused trouble.

FATE OF WETS IN NEW YORK IN BALANCE

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press)

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—A statement will be given out by Governor Smith between 6 and 7 o'clock tonight explaining his action on the repealer of the state prohibition enforcement bill, it was stated at the governor's office.

This gave rise to a report that he had already acted on the bill. The statement will run between 4,000 and 5,000 words, it was said.

The fact that it would be of such length was seized on by the wets as a sure indication that he had signed the repealer it being argued that such a long statement would not have been necessary if he had vetoed it.

The governor denied himself to all callers this afternoon after he had held a hearing on a minor bill and devoted himself to the repealer.

Final action of the governor on the repealer will be announced to the newspaper men shortly after 9 o'clock tonight. This was the information furnished by the governor's secretary, who added that it would be released to the morning papers.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—Governor Al Smith, as judge and jury, took the case of prohibition under advisement today.

Before Sunday midnight he must sign or veto the repealer of the state enforcement act passed by the legislature—sing and make himself leader of the wet faction in the national Democratic party, or veto and abandon the cause of Tammany hall.

The evidence in the case is all in, having been presented in the final arguments of wet and dry leaders during a five-hour hearing in the assembly chamber yesterday. The thirty-day period in which he is permitted to act on the repealing bill expires Sunday midnight. In view of doubt over whether it is ethical or legal to act on Sunday, the governor is expected to make known his decision by midnight tomorrow.

There is no definite information as to what action the governor will take. Presence of some of the Tammany leaders in Albany gave hopes to the wets that their pressure might be exerted on the governor to sign the repealer. Dry followers, however, were convinced that they had swayed the executive

GIANT PLOT ON FRANCE REVEALED

Royalists All Over Country Planned Overthrow of Republic, Claim

(By United Press Leased Wire)

PARIS, June 1.—A royalist plot, directed against the republic, has spread throughout France, Minister of Interior Maurice Manoury announced in the chamber of deputies late today.

The government has discovered proofs that the royalists of all France bound themselves together in a conspiracy directed at the government, he said. Manoury declared police had seized documents showing plans and the list of members.

The investigation is continuing.

The revelation concerning the plot came as the result of pressure brought by the left wing of the chamber of the government, following attack upon three Socialist leaders last night in which they were roughly handled.

Royalists Blamed

It was charged this attack was designed by the royalists.

Manoury declared the government deplored this outbreak and would pitilessly suppress any further movement of French facisti.

The chamber voted confidence in the ability of the government to repress disorder and defend the republic, 379 to 191.

Adoption of fascisti methods by French royalists caused a violent uproar in the chamber of deputies.

Deputy Daudet, whose followers last night administered a purple ink shampoo and castor oil to three Socialist leaders, was waylaid as he entered the corridor of the chamber.

Deputies Curse, Yell

About sixty deputies surrounded him, cursing and yelling insulting names. Guards rushed in and Daudet was spirited away while several of the deputies clashed with the guards.

Later when Daudet entered the chamber during a debate, deputies of the left wing leaped from their seats and attempted to attack him. They shouted "assassin!" as they ran toward him. Officials, however, intervened.

Deputy Herriot demanded in the chamber that the government immediately take steps to repress the royalists. He declared they were conducting an intolerable "facisti campaign." Daudet rose to reply, but those on the left wing yelled so loudly that he could not be heard.

AMERICANS REFUSE TO TALK DOPE

U. S. Delegation Leaves Opium Meeting at Geneva Without Giving Attitude.

GENEVA, June 1.—After an uproarious session in which American delegates withdrew, the League of Nations' opium commission today adopted the program submitted by the United States for suppression of the traffic.

GENEVA, June 1.—The entire United States delegation walked out of the opium commission meeting at League of Nations headquarters here today. The Americans refused to answer questions regarding their proposals, or to participate in any discussion of them.

Chairman Porter of the house foreign affairs committee and other American leaders recently appeared before the commission and urged that steps be taken to stop production of drugs.

The American withdrawal occurred in connection with a resolution introduced by Sir Malcom De Levignes accepting the American proposals.

Porter announced that the Americans could not discuss the proposals. The commission must take the proposals and leave them as they are, he said.

The American delegation then withdrew and the session broke up in a heated row. Many of the delegates declared they considered themselves insulted. Order was finally restored. The Americans remained absent, so De Levignes announced he would answer the questions as best he could.

DEATH TOLL 10 IN RELIGIOUS LAW RIOT

DURANGO CITY, Mex., June 1.—Soldiers patrol the streets and churches are closed today following religious rioting which yesterday resulted in ten deaths and wounding of 17.

Three police are among the dead.

The killings occurred when a crowd of 3,000 attacked mounted police in front of the governor's palace. They were demonstrating through the streets in protest against the new law, which limits the number of ministers of any sect to not more than twenty-five.

Religious students claim the normal number of priests in the state of Durango is 250 and the law would result in practical extermination of Catholicism.

The crowd began demonstration at noon yesterday, and after three hours listening to speeches began throwing stones at the palace.

Police fired high first and then the battle began.

Socialists' Ire Up After Purple Ink Shampooing

(By United Press Leased Wire)

PARIS, June 1.—Introduction of Fascisti methods into French politics will be debated in the chamber of deputies.

Following the manhandling of three Socialist leaders, who were shampooed with purple ink, forced to drink castor oil and rolled in the mud, Deputy Herrott said he would interpellate the government concerning the episode.

As the three Socialists—Deputy Moutet, Marc Sagnier and former Minister Violette—were leaving their homes late last night, they were stopped. The attacks, it is said, were aimed to prevent the three from attending an "anti-Fascisti meeting."

Ridge Route Detour Told by Auto Club

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—One detour on the Ridge route between Crane Lake and Caswell on the road to San Francisco is necessary for motorists to make, according to the weekly report on the Automobile club of Southern California.

This detour is two miles long. Some work is also being done on the inland roads. The work of widening and resurfacing the coast route along the beach front at Gaviota pass occasions the necessity of a small detour.

The San Diego highways are reported in good condition, as are all county highways leading from the city.

"I could have escaped then if I had wanted to," she said. "But what was the use? I had nothing to fear from going back to Los Angeles. I have nothing to fear now. I could have escaped at Tegucigalpa, too, but I didn't want to. I wanted to come back to my own country and exonerate myself. I hated Honduras and its people. I was sorry I ever went there. But now it seems I am to be denied a chance by my own people to face my accusers again and prove my innocence."

Same Conductor In Charge

By coincidence H. W. McBreen, Pullman conductor of Los Angeles, who identified her on his train when she was fleeing to the border after the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, is in charge of the train that is now returning her from her longer and more spectacular flight. He visited her in her compartment today and reminded her how she had denied her identity until the sheriff at Tucson boarded the train and placed her under arrest.

Mrs. Phillips received him coldly.

At El Paso police officials boarded the train and identified Clara as the woman they had seen in Juarez, Mexico, last February. It was the belief of officials that she came from Mexico City to the border on some mysterious mission after her flight from Los Angeles. Clara denied she was ever near the border after she sailed with Jesse Carson from New Orleans January 19.

Mrs. Phillips is closely guarded. She and her sister, Etta Mae Jackson, occupy the middle of three compartments with connecting doors. The officers in adjoining rooms maintain a steadfast watch.

Both Use Rouge Freely

Both women take particular pains with their personal appearance. Clara wears a brown silk dress with a blue net neatly coiffed over her hair. Etta Mae wears a black traveling frock. Both use rouge freely and blacken their eyebrows and eye lashes.

There are nearly 300,000 women farmers in the United States.

January was named after the two-headed Roman god, Janus.

Restores Color to Gray Hair

Prof. John H. Austin, eminent hair and scalp specialist of Chicago, has discovered a preparation to restore the natural color, life and luster to gray and faded hair just as nature intended. This remarkable discovery is not a dye. It is just a clear, odorless, greaseless liquid without any injurious chemicals such as lead or sulphur. It will not wash or rub off. It is pleasing and simple to apply and cannot be detected like ordinary hair tints and dyes. This preparation is known as Co-Lo Hair Restorer and may be had for every natural shade of hair. A6 for black and all dark shades of brown; A7 for jet black; A8 for all medium brown shades; and A9 for all light brown, drab and auburn shades. Co-Lo is obtainable at druggists everywhere.—Adv.

Wage Boost Grant Precludes Strike

CHICAGO, June 1.—Suspension of Chicago's $300,000,000 construction boom was averted today, when an agreement was reached giving the thirteen "open shop" building trades workers a twenty per cent pay increase.

The new wage is effective today and increases the pay of the so-called "basic trades" to $1.25 an hour. Other workers will receive wages ranging from $1.05 an hour, for stone planer men, to $1.37½ an hour for stone carvers.

Postpone Hearing On Will Case Objections

Hearing on the objections to tax costs and expenses of the Royer will contest trial, scheduled to take place today before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams, was continued one week by stipulation of attorneys.

The contestees, losers in the $250,000 suit to break the will of the late General Julian O. Royer, who left an instrument in which he bequeathed the bulk of his fortune to Miss Marie Feraud, a lifelong friend, claimed that some of the expenses of witnesses in the trial were excessive.

Edendale Is Astir Over Ferocious Dogs

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—A pack of ferocious malamute dogs is terrorizing a section of the Edendale district of this city, and police protection was asked by frightened residents today.

More than a year ago, an Alaskan dog, thought to have escaped from some movie company, appeared in the district. He found a mate and now there is a pack of over 15 dogs, which is said to make nightly forays on the houses of the district.

RADIO AS ILLS FINDER HELD BEST YET

BY FRANK A. CLARVOE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO June 1.—Dr. Radio, diagnostician, pathologist psychologist and what not, has hung out his shingle.

The radio and its league, electro-magnetism, acording to Dr. Albert Adrams, San Francisco physician, whose methods of diagnosis by radio have rent the medical world, are instruments for the future diagnosis of disease and thought and for germ sanitation.

For years Dr. Adrams has employed the principles of radio activity in diagnosing disease through the use of human blood. In this work he has employed a human subject as the sensitive "receiving station," for the waves of energy, he claims, are broadcasted by various diseases. He considered the human body the most sensitive of all receiving apparati for radio activity. But after five years of experimentation, he has evolved a radio machine which eliminates the human subject.

Mental Reaction Held Recorded

The instrument receives reactions, both physical and psychological, according to the demonstrations he has conducted on his clinical laboratory.

Among the discoveries claimed by Dr. Abrams, which he claims he is able to employ in diagnosis through the use of this delicate instrument, are:

That the human body are fundamentally healthy, that each human body gives forth and receives waves of radio activity, and that each person has a wave length peculiar to himself.

That with death, the radio activity of the body ceases.

That each risease has a distinct wave length which may be recorded on his instrument set to receive "messages" from that disease.

Disease Broadcasts Regularly

That diseases "pulsate" giving forth waves at regular intervals, cancer, for instance, pulsating every four seconds.

That thought travels on ether waves and its nature and the moment of its birth may be recorded.

The general use of electro magnetism in sanitation is predicted by Dr. Abrams on the basis of experiments which have convinced him of the value of its use.

Dr. Adrams uses a horse-shoe magnet in "sterilling" his radio instrument before and after each experiment in diagnosis.

"I believe that the best method of sanitation in the future will be a great horse-shoe magnet, hung in the place visited by the influence of disease," Dr. Adrams declares. "There are unlimited possibilities here; who can tell what they are?"

to the dry viewpoint.

The governor, himself, has refused to express, even to his closest friends, any indication of his action. A speech he made a week ago in Coney Island, in which he said he "would enforce the law," no matter whether some of his friends liked it or not, is the only vague comment he has made.

EX-GOVERNOR CLAIMS BIG REVENUE LOSS

PASADENA, Calif., June 1.—Former Governor John A. Dix of New York, spending his vacation here, today indicated that New York had lost so much money since the prohibition laws went into effect, and would have to spend as much moreto enforce prohibition, that there was much economic justice in Governor Smith's hesitancy in signing the repealer that is before him today and upon which the nation is awaiting his decision.

"With prohibition New York lost $24,000,000 annually in excise taxes, part of which went to schools, but added $24,000,000 in expenses for the cost of enforcement," Dix said. Dix expressed much interest in what Governor Smith's action will be but ventures no prophesy or opinion as to what it should be.

BARITONE SOLOIST PLEASES AIR FANS

KFAW'S pogram last night was curtailed through an unavoidable cancellation of the Belvedere Terrace orchestra which was scheduled to play at The Register radio studio.

The burden of the evening's entertainment therefore fell upon John C. Putman, baritone soloist, who rendered several selections. In his fine baritone voice he offered "Face to Face," "Call Me Back, Pal o' Mine," "Sunshine in Your Smile" and "After Every Party." Claude Gorham, pianist, played "Carolina in the Morning," and also accompanied the soloist of the evening in all his numbers.

Next Monday, KFAW will present a big program when Garry Fisher's Frisco Favorites will play for The Register's big family of air fans. This orchestra, one of San Francisco's best, is playing at the Lighthouse Cafe, Balboa, for the season and their appearance at KFAW has been made possible through the courtesy of Messrs. Loveridge and Spencer, proprietors of that cafe. Monday night's radio entertainment should prove to be the event of the year, as the personnel of the Fisher organization is composed of seven musicians, each one a past master of syncopation.

WABASH, May 25.—When Oscar Nayrocker of Wabash visited the office of the county treasurer to pay taxes on a vacant lot owned by him he was informed by the treasurer that there was a two-story frame building on the lot. Prospector Goes Money Mad Claim

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The very latest wrinkle in reasons for not asking alimony was given here by Mrs. Allyre Hamilton when granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Frederick Hamilton, living in anchorage, Alaska.

"He wouldn't pay alimony anyhow," she told the judge. "He's gone money mad."

But beneath the humor of her assertion was tragedy, as in most divorce cases. She said she had had a happy married life until Hamilton struck gold in Alaska and became wealthy. During eight years they sought the yellow metal happily together. With the finding of gold three years ago, Hamilton quit writing her and forgot her, she asserted. Their five-year-old son became ill and unable to buy him needed luxuries, she was forced to see him die unhappy and forlorn.

BANKER URGES CARE IN SALE OF HOMES

Organization of a county association of realtors for discussion of county problems and promotion of sociability among real estate brokers of the county was suggested by A. E. Hargrove, president of the realty board at Anaheim, in a communication read at today's meeting of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors at St. Ann's Inn.

A meeting to discuss plans for such an organization will be held Monday evening at Anaheim in the office of the Chamber of Commerce. Six local dealers indicated their intention of attending the conference.

With W. L. Salisbury as chairman of the program committee, E. B. Sprague, cashier of the Orange County Trust and Savings bank, was the speaker. He declared that realtors assumed a great responsibility in the location of a family in the city.

"You are dealing in a serious business—you may look lightly on the selling of a home to a new arrival, but if the buyer is investing all his wealth in the home you are selling him, it is a serious matter," Sprague said.

"If you locate a family in a certain part of town, you should bear in mind that you are dealing with the future of that family," continued the speaker. "The environs will have their influence on the children of that family, and may determine the future of the children. Be careful that you locate a family in the proper environs."

Mrs. Croker Fights For Share of Fortune

DUBLIN, June 1.—Mrs. Beulah Crocker denied on the witness stand here late today that she had ever married previous to meeting the late Richard Crocker, Tammany millionaire.

Children of Crocker's first marriage, in the suitb rought here, contend that she had lives as the wife of Guy Marone in North Ampton, Mass., and other places. They based their suit against the will, leaving her the major portion of the Croker fortune, on this charge.

"I never was in North Ampton, New Brunswick or Canada," Mrs. Croker declared. She said that during the 26 days of a previous trial in Florida she had never heard Marone's name mentioned.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

There is hardly a neighborhood in the United States where women cannot be found who have derived benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this botanic medicine has been overcoming some of the worst forms of female ills. As one woman has been benefited by its use she has told others who have used it with the same good results; so the use of this great medicine has spread from shore to shore by the recommendation of those who have found it good. Therefore, ask your neighbor; let her tell you from experience the benefit which ailing women derive from its use.—adv.

Telephone Service In Orient Chaotic

PEKING, May 26.—At the present time telephone service throughout China is in a somewhat chaotic condition as far as ownership and control are concerned. The central government operates a comparatively small number of exchanges, most of which are at Peking, and a few stretches of long distance line. The remainder of the system is under private control either by foreigners or by the Chinese. In some cases provincial or state governments operate what are in effect municipal systems.

The chief cause of this unfortunate state of affairs is due largely to the government's attitude in the matter of granting concessions for the development of this important public service. Unable to exploit it adequately itself, the government has in recent years manifested an increasing unwillingness to attract the private capital necessary for the purpose.

OBITUARY

Dr. Henry S. W. Barnes was born in Marshall county, Illinois, near Lacon, the county seat of that county, April 4, 1850. He grew to manhood, with his parents on the homestead in that locality.

He was a student of the Northwestern university at Evanston, Ills., for one year, after completion of a good common school education In 1871 he became a student of Rush Medical college in Chicago and was there at the time of the great fire of October 9, 1871, at which time the college was totally destroyed and the students scattered to other schools in various places.

Dr. Barnes went to the State University of Iowa at Iowa City, where he finished his medical studies and graduated March 5, 1873.

On April 17, 1873, at Winona, Ills., he was married to Ann Eliza Erwine. Following that event he, with his wife, moved to Fairbury, Ills., where he formed a co-partnership with Dr. N. T. P. Robertson, an old established physician, and his brother Dr. S. M. Barnes, who had previously established himself there with Dr. Robertson.

He practiced medicine there for six years, then moved to Launemina, Ills., in the same county, where he built a store building and opened a drug store and continued his practice which was well established in that county. The store building was the first store building in the town.

In 1882 he sold his drug business and moved to Macksburg, Iowa, where he practiced his profession until 1892 when he moved to Creston, Iowa, where he lived and practiced medicine until 1907, when he came to Santa Ana, where he remained and was in active practice until he was disabled by his last illness which was diabetic ganggrene and from which he suffered for about fourteen months.

AN APPRECIATION

Death is a reaper
And with his sickle keen.
He reaps the bearded grain
And the flowers that grow between.

Tributes to men of Dr. Barnes' type are difficult to formulate. His life was such that eulogies seem superfluous. He leaves a record on the pages of time sweet with the fragrance of good deeds.

Those who had an intimate knowledge of his life feel the weight of sorrow at his passing, and the sympathy, love and esteem of these go with him through the valley of death into the brightness of that eternal day where shadows and sorrow give way to light and joy; and years will not dim the sweetness of life or the kindliness of deeds left on the sands of time by this absent brother.

For a half century, most of the time spent in a country where physical hardships were encountered, this good man visited the sicksick and suffering, never sparing himself to reach the bedside of those who were in distress. His high sense of profressional honor and his indefatigable search for wisdom gave him prominence in the activities of the State Medical Society of Iowa.

He loved his books, and his literature was selected with great care. The advancement of his profession never left him behind. He possessed a keen analytical mind and poetic temperament. In matters pertaining to politics, religion and sociology he was well informed and very decided in his opinions. He was an intense student and a ceaseless reader of the best literature of the time. His sixteen years residence in California brought him great comfort, as he had longed to identify himself with this state, especially Santa Ana and Orange county in which he had unbounded faith.

An alert mind and retentive memory made him a most interesting conversationalist. He reveled in the beauties of nature and received great inspiration from the Creator's handiwork. Vacations to the mountains, the valleys or the seashore brought to him more than the simple enjoyment of vision. He studied these mentally and discussed formations and composition that revealed a scientific mind.

Devotion to his family, friends and profession were strong characteristics. His life was an active and useful one.

As a baby, a bay, a youth, a man, he filled each place since his life began.

And now after many, many years filled with inevitable joys and sorrows, pleasures and pain, hopes and disappointments, he reached the mountain peaks where the snow caps of old age crowned a life of usefulness, and then he gently sank into the evergreen foothills of everlasting rest. And so he would not have us grieve, but would say to us:

"Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me;
But may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea."

FIRST, the product that offers some new and better way of meeting human wants. For such a product advertising offers the cheapest, quickest means of finding those people who will appreciate the advantages the new product offers.

SECOND, the product with hidden values that escape the consumer's untrained eye. For such a product advertising can educate the buyer until he becomes a discriminating purchaser.

THIRD, the product which—in lucid moments—its owners will admit is no better than others of its kind. For such a product advertising can create a personality that will make it stand out from competing products like the one lighted house in a row of dark ones.

SOCIETY

Girlhood Triumphant Shown In Pageant At Twist Home

"We should all unite in holding forth certain ideals to the splendid girlhood of our land," declared Mrs. W. L. H. Benton yesterday in outlining the theme of a pageant of girlhood presented under her direction by the young girls of the Church of the Messiah in the attractive gardens of the Charles G. Twist home, 1520 North Main street.

According to Mrs. Benton, the pageant was chosen as a means of teaching truths and fostering pure and noble thoughts in the minds of girls, and surely no one could see the success of lovely pictures without realizing that the aims must have been fully realized.

With Miss Mabel Krause at the piano and Loren Cannon playing violin obbligatos the musical setting was particularly lovely while solos by Mrs. Walter B. Leecraft and Walter C. Vieira added to the impressive effect.

As members and friends of the Church of the Messiah gathered on the lawn, the pageant opened with a graceful dance by Miss Virginia Lowell, who in rose silk kimona with batik obi and gay chrysanthemum head-dress, was a charming Japanese maid.

The pageant proper opened with a presentation of seven well-known girls of ancient and Biblical history, each noted for some sterling worth of character. Miriam, represented by Miss Boyd Joplin, as patriotism, appeared as a young Jewish maid with oriental headdress and scarf over her white flowing draperies. Her pose of triumph with cymbals upheld was particularly pleasing.

As she paced slowly from sight, The Blessed Virgin entered. Miss Enid Twist as Purity, in the rich deep blue and soft rose draperies so beloved by the old Masters in depicting the Virgin, was a picture of Madonna-like serenity and her expression of holy and spiritual joy was remarkable, as she quoted the words of joy of the Virgin.

"Eustochium," that studious Roman maid who aided St. Jerome in his translation of the Vulgate, was enacted by Miss Loretta Spangler clad in the coarse brown cassock, rope sandals and blue head dress of the student. She entered with her head bent low over a copy of the Bible and walked with slow and thoughtful step to join her companions.

One would think that Miss Jane Griffiths as Jeanne d'Arc was really hearing the voices, judging from the rapt expression on her face as she paused and the strains of the Marsellaise filled the air, sung by Mr. Vieira. Miss Griffith was attired in true peasant frock—little white blouse, flowing blue skirt and black laced bodice of the Maid of Orleans.

As the girls slowly disappeared, their places were taken by their counterparts in modern life.

Miss Clara Louise Lambert in a frilly white frock was a lovely young society girl whose whole face and air bespoke the purity of the Blessed Virgin. Miss Virginia Rice in pink gingham and with her arms filled with books, was the present-day counterpart of the studious Eustochium while courageous Iphigenia lived again in the factory girl of today, represented by Miss Beatrice Boyd in the neat uniform and cap required in the modern factory.

Miss Juliette Taylor in lovely flowered frock of Colonial days, was the "little mother" who exemplified duty and with two pretty wee "sisters," (the little Misses Josephine Keeler and Frances Was) declared her dearest duty was to lead her younger sisters in healthy happy ways.

Attired in the neat sweater, small hat and pleated skirt of the business girl of today, Miss Olive Granger showed the thrift exemplified by the Priscilla of Miss Robertson after which came the Apotheosis of Girlhood, when, to appropriate music, the Blessed Virgin appeared to take the center of the picture with the two little maids, Josephine Keeler and Frances Was standing, one on either side, holding sheafs of St. John lilies while the girls of the old world and those of today, grouped themselves on the lawn beneath the wide porch where Miss Twist stood.

The entire affair was so beautiful and the characters so well chosen that each role seemed perfectly adapted to the one presenting it, that guests crowded around Mrs. Benton to express their appreciation of her leadership. The young girls taking part were all congratulated and later were posed on the lawn for a succession of pictures which Mrs. Twist wished to take.

A pleasant social aspect was given by the serving of tea by Mrs. S. P. Freeman and punch by Mrs. Guy Gilbert and her friend, Mrs. Burgess of Pasadena.

A table devoted to home-made candy was presided over by Miss Jean Battersby.

Stitch and Chatter

Mrs. F. J. Rogers and Mrs. William Thompson entertained the members of the "Stitch and Chatter" club Thursday afternoon, at the former's home, 1010 North Ross street when two pretty comforts were tied for Mrs. Rogers and a fine programe was enjoyed.

Ariel Thompson gave a reading entitled, "How Edythe Helped Things Along," (James Whitcomb Riley) and a song "That Same, Old, Dear, Old Place," also a piano solo, "Melodies."

Miriam Adamson gave a reading entitled "Polly's Surprise Party," a song "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," (James R. Ball), and a piano solo "Girl of Mine," by Harold Freeman. Later Edythe Rogers of Orange played a piano solo, "Carolina in the Morning," and De Etta Bierbower also of Orange, offered a clever reading, entitled, "Cat a Kissin," all of which was much enjoyed.

Then came refreshments of punch, sandwiches, wafers, cake and ice cream. Tiny American flags as favors, were given to the seventeen guests. Roll call was answered by a Memorial day quotation and each one gave her "most embarrassing moment" as a closing bit of enjoyment.

Election of officers of the Monday club will be held on the date of the first meeting of the new year, September 10, it was announced today by Fred Rafferty.

It has been customary, Rafferty said, to hold the election of new officers on the date of the last meeting of the year. A small attendance due to pre-dating of the meeting made the meeting unfavorable for an election, he said. The meeting was scheduled for May 28, but was held May 21.

Professor J. H. Jackson of the Junior college faculty presented a paper on Browning's "The Ring and The Book" at the club meeting.

Church Young People Frolic Gayly As In Childhood Days

Young people of St. Peter Lutheran church of this city, attired in discarded, knee-length party clothes of childhood days, motored to the William Reusch home at Garden Grove Tuesday evening and there took part in a joyous "kid" affair. The "little people" were made welcome in a home decked for the occasion with pink roses, sweet peas and Easter lilies.

Upon their arrival, they were treated to stick candy and all-day suckers through the generosity of certain of the guests and were entertained by suitable games of childhood. Great enjoyment was expressed in the manner in which they entered into the games.

One of the most interesting events was the presentation of an Eversharp pencil to one of the members, Siebit Goldenstein, a Luther Leaguer, who after having been a member for some time will soon return to his home in Golden, Nebraska. He will be greatly missed by his comrades of the league of which he has proven a worthy member.

For the enjoyment of the "children" assembled, refreshments of wafers in animal shape, kisses, punch and all-day suckers were served all of which met with the enthusiastic approval of the Misses Mary and Margaret Kraft, Alice and Malinda Miller, Louise Scheibe, Justine and Phyllis Krock, Ella Anderson, Verna and Mildred Petz, Messrs. and Mmes Edward Simpkin, George Krock, Lou Anderson, Emil Franzen, William Reusch; Messrs. High School Graduate Will Become Bride In Early June

Filling the two most important roles of girlhood, Miss Viola Riutcel will be a sweet girl graduate with this year's senior class of the Santa Ana high school and soon thereafter will be a blushing June bride when on June 12 she will be wedded to Mr. John Reid, an electrical engineer of this city.

While the engagement had never been formally announced, Miss Riutcel's friends and comrades of the Junior Philathea class of the First Methodist Sunday school were well aware of the approaching marriage and last night honored the bride-elect with a charmingly appointed shower held at the church community house, 602 French street.

Dominating the attractive decorations was the great fire-place banked with mountain ferns. Sweet peas and carnations were used in profusion and the light from twinkling candles shed a soft radiance over the scene when refreshments were served.

Small tables were arranged with tiny tapers to harmonize with the pastel tinted tall ones, and were centered with crystal baskets filled with dainty Japanese sweet peas which further emphasized the pastel colorings. A salad course was followed by ices and cake after which the honoree was showered by her friends with lovely gifts in honor of her approaching wedding.

Details of the attractive affair were in charge of a committee of which Miss Thelma Stockebrand was chairman and those extending their loving wishes to Miss Riutcel included her mother, Mrs. Riutcel and the class teacher, Mrs. Ed. Van Nest together with the Misses Marjorie Arnold, Gertrude Smith, Hazel Salisbury, Thelma Stockebrand, Irene Turner, Mary Nunn, Frances Stockebrand, Hazel Morrison and Bessie Jackson.

Music lovers generally are extended a cordial invitation to be present and enjoy a program which will open with three Blake compositions, "Bunny Rabbit," "Waltz," and "'Cello" played by Phillip Griset to be followed by a second Blake group of "Organ Man," "Eskimo Lullaby" and "Church Bells" played by Donald Griset.

Miss Flora Postle will offer "Theme" by Rossini and Hannah Smith's "Summer Sea" will be played by Claude Evans. Miss Florence Resnick will offer a Bach "Minuet" and the "Uncle Remus" of Grant-Schaefer while nine-year-old Emmaline Richards will give as a violin number, "Dvorak's "Humoresque."

A "Barchetta," by Miss Elizabeth Cleary, "The Swan" by Miss Elizabeth Roehm, "Butterflies" and "A Night in June" by Miss Lucilla Huston and "Fantasia" (Nollenhauer) by Miss Georgia Belle Walton as a violin number will follow each other in rapid succession, and Miss De Etta Miller will interpret "Solfeggietto" by Bach and "Poet's Song" by Heller.

The program will be brought to a conclusion by a string quartette heard in Lachmund's "Lullaby" the members being the Misses Georgia Belle Walton, Rowena Newcomb, Dorothy Lutz and Mildred Johnson, ('cello).

Dinner Is Followed By Theater Party For "Country Cousin"

On Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Duggan of 222 South Sycamore street, with their daughter, Miss Dorothy Duggan, just returned from Berkeley for her summer vacation, entertained with a dinner and theater party for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pease of Orange.

Following the enjoyment of a delectable menu at the Duggan home, the members of the party went to the Temple theater where they thoroughly enjoyed the performance of "The Country Cousin" by the Community Players.

Parent-Teachers

Combining important business with an interesting program, the City Federation of Parent-Teacher associations held its last meeting of the year last night at the Church of the Messiah.

Election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. Harry Leipsic; first vice-president, Mrs. Walter Fine; second vice-president, Mrs. William R. Sylvester; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. C. Mays; treasurer, Mrs. Byron Walbridge; financial secretary, Mrs. J. C. Bach; historian, Miss Isabel Anderson; auditor, W. W. Hoy; parliamentarian, Mrs. Sallie Powell.

The program included community singing of "America"; a vocal solo by Maurice Phillips, accompanied by Harry Garstang; a Dutch doll dance and a basket dance by little Miss Muriel Bray, an outline of the playground and community service situation by Miss Mildred Wiley, and a talk on "Citizenship" by Miss Isabel Anderson.

Miss Wiley read the proposals given to the Santa Ana Community Service board and her report was followed by a talk by the retiring president, Mrs. E. M. Blake, who stressed the need of supervised playgrounds and urged the city association to support the Community Service plans.

City Superintendent J. A. Cranston stated his approval of the plans and spoke of the fine work Parent-Teacher associations are doing, declaring it to be a material held to the promotion and maintenance of good schools.

Miss Anderson outlined the tools for the making of good citizens, speaking of the national ideals of citizenship laws which have been passed to promote it, and emphasized compulsory education and part time laws, which she said were invaluable in the building of good citizens among the children.

"The government does not exist apart from all of the people," said Miss Anderson, and hence a universal responsibility rests upon the whole people."

"The schools cannot assume the entire responsibility for making good citizens. Teaching of Latin and algebra may be left to the school but teaching of citizenship requires co-operation of the home which furnishes the materials, the legislature and school administrations which furnish the tools and the teachers who are the workmen."

Amendments to the constitution of the city federation were passed, one of the most important being that which stated that there should be two regular evening meetings in the year, to be held the last Thursday in October and in May.

Announcement was made that there would be an all-day district board meeting, June 9, in Birch park.

Five Hundred Club Is Entertained

Mrs. Jack Campbell was charming hostess to members of the Five Hundred club and a few other guests last night at her home, 1072 1-2 West Fourth street where American Beauty roses offered attractive decoration.

Miss Margaret Wiley scored high at the evening's amusement and was rewarded with a handsome pendent of carved ivory. Later the guests remained grouped around the tables while Mrs. Campbell served a delightful two course menu of fruit salad and coffee with ices frozen in the familiar forms of the different suits of playing cards accompanied by individual cakes in similar shape.

The pleasant evening will be the final one enjoyed as a club until the coming of cooler weather when the members will again institute their winter series of entertainments.

Those enjoying Mrs. Campbell's hospitality were Mrs. James Kittle, Mrs. Ralph Cole, Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Roy Handy, the Misses Gwendolyn Hoyle, Blanche Hill, Rebecca Joplin and a guest group composed of the Misses Margaret and Isabel Wylie, Glenna Jean Hill, Ella Clocum and Alice Fuller of Orange.

POPPIES MADE BY GERMANS OPPOSED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 1.—The sale of poppies made in Germany by American commercial concerns to posts of the American Legion was characterized as "disgraceful" and as an "insult to the heroic dead of the World War," by Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the American Legion, in a statement issued at legion national headquarters.

The statement came as result of word from Iowa that several posts of the state had been victimized by firms who sold the "made in Germany" poppies. The poppies had been supplied by a firm in an Indiana city.

"American Legion national headquarters obtained a supply of 2,500,000 poppies made by French disabled men and other needy persons in that country" Mr. Bolles said. "From this supply national headquarters is providing official legion poppies to be worn on Memorial Day in honor of those who died in the World War. The flowers will be sold by several thousand legion posts in all parts of the country to provide funds for the decoration of overseas graves and for the relief of sick and needy veterans. The tactics of irresponsible business concerns in importing poppies made by citizens of a nation responsible for the death of those whose memory we reverence on Memorial Day are disgraceful, and are an insult to the heroic dead. The legion will oppose their methods whereever it finds that posts are being victimied by the unscrupulous firms."

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE PLAN FOR SUNDAY COMPLETE

Admission to High School Exercises Limited to Those With Tickets

OTHER EVENTS SET

Four Days Next Week Will Be Needed to Complete Commencement

With the Rev. Will A. Betts, pastor of the First Methodist church, scheduled to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the high school graduating class here next Sunday night, Principal D. K. Hammond announced today that admission will be by ticket only.

At the same time, it was announced that the public will be welcomed at the junior college baccalaureate services, to be conducted by the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, at the First Congregational church, Sunday at 11 a. m. and at the overflow baccalaureate services to be led by the Rev. Moffet Rhodes, at the Spurgeon Memorial church, Sunday evening, June 3, at 7:30 o'clock.

Seating Capacity Limited

"At the high school," said Principal Hammond, "we will be able to take care of only about 1500, and this will make it necessary, as usual, to limit the admissions.

"The tickets for the sermon, as well os those for the high school commencement exercises, will be distributed to parents and others through the high school senior class members. The seats covered by these reservations will be held a reasonable length of time, say until 7:45 p. m., when the vacant seats probably will be given to those who are waiting."

Principal Hammond said it would be wise for all those not holding tickets to go to the Spurgeon Memorial church instead of attempting to gain admission to the high school services.

Many Events Scheduled

For the high school baccalaureate services the Rev. M. Betts will take as his subject, "A Synonym of Genius." At the Spurgeon Memorial overflow services the Rev. Mr. Rhodes will preach the sermon for 220 pupils of the junior high school who are schedled for promotion this year.

With busy days ahead of them, pupils and instructors of Polytechnic high school today were making active preparations for the ceremonies which will close the school year here next week. Events scheduled include class day assembly at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday; the senior play, "The Charm School," scheduled for Tuesday Junior college commencement exercises, Thursday night, high school commencement, next Friday night, and the ilumni banquet and dance, at St. Ann's Inn, Saturday night, June 9.

ASKS HICKORY LIMB

LEAVENWORTH, June 1.—Albert Auts, negro farmer, appealed to county commissioners to buy him a new wooden leg. His last one was destroyed when his home burned recently, he said. Unless he is provided with the wooden limb, he will be unable to earn his own living and become a ward of the county poor farm, he said.

Scientists say the surface temperature of the sun is 6000 degrees, Centigrade, or 11,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

INN 'HELLO GIRL' FINDS CONVENTION DUTIES ARE VARIED

Her duties range from finding husbands, to predicting the name of the new president to be acclaimed by the conclave.

Whenever a convention comes to town — and they are frequent these days — Tiny Hawkins is to be found at the telephone switchboard of St. Ann's Inn, which under the management of G. A. Schweiger, has won the honor of being convention headquarters.

Tiny insists she never had any other name but "Tiny."

Not many years ago, within the exclusive limits of Boston, Mass., a pair of new and extremely proud parents gasped in ecstatic chorus: "Isn't she tiny!" Their statement has remained unchanged.

Tiny Hawkins, Santa Ana girl, who greets delegates and visitors at the telephone switchboard of St. Ann's Inn whenever a convention comes to town and establishes headquarters there.

The pilgrimmage of the trio to Santa Ana was a natural consequence. Choice flowers blossom in the "Garden Spot of California."

Then Tiny bobbed her hair, absorbed the modern girl's philosophy and became a telephone operator. She has been operating her philosophy and telephones for five years.

"No, I am not a man-hater," she explained. "But they seem so unnecessary. Once a telephone operator, always a telephone operator. That's my motto."

Uutimatum Reason Mystery

Whether her ultimatum was the result of watching the convention antics of temperamental musicmasters, the toreador tendencies of realtors, or the cavorting, roaring lions, deponent sayeth not.

But take it leave it, Mr. Delegate, your blandishments are of no avail. Tiny says so.

She is a regular, modern, up-to-the-minute, independent business girl, 1923 model. Owns her own car and everything. She has been "pinched" for speeding and paid her fine like a man.

"It was ridiculous," she declared with painful reminiscence. "My car is not boosting for any particular prospective presidential candidate. Nor is it a Moon. But it has a heavenly name, "and rattles like thunder."

Tiny allowed one guess at this riddle.

Was 'Pinched' Once

"I've had it only three months," she continued, "and would you believe it, I was arrested for driving twenty-nine miles an hour. Wasn't that ridiculous?" she appealed.

Between conventions Tiny Hawkins acts as relief operator for a long distauce line.

"That's where the car comes in handy," she explained. "One day I may be in Anaheim. Another in Fullerton. My work takes me all over the county and at all

MOOSE LODGES WILL PICNIC SUNDAY

Moose will frolic beneath the sycamores and oaks of Orange county park Sunday, at the joint picnic of the Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, and Anaheim lodges of the fraternal order, according to Charles Hamilton organizer of the Santa Ana lodge.

Plans for the picnic were completed at a meeting here last night. Musical events, athletic contests, a baseball game, and a variety of "stunts" were planned.

Busses Will Be Provided

Special transportation in Crown stage busses will be provided members of the Moose lodges and their families and guests to the county park Sunday morning, Hamilton said.

The first stage will leave the Crown stage office, on North Main street here, at 10 a. m. Other stages will be dispatched as soon as a sufficient number of picnickers arrive at the stage depot, according to arrangements. The final stage is scheduled to leave at 1 p. m. The return from the park will be handled in the same manner, it was announced.

Athletic Rivalry is Keen

"The affair will be a regular basket picnic," Hamilton said, "ollowing complete demolition of the contents of the baskets dancing, games, and stunts will entertain the picnickers.

"A baseball game has been arranged between two of the lodges. The Anaheim lodge has issued o challenge for an athletic event. Not to be outdone, Huntington Beach has issued a few challenges on its own account.

"The entertainment program of musical events and vaudeville turns promises to satisfy an audience of 'first-nighters.'"

RAIL COMMISSION RULING IS UPHELD

Holding that the commission had acted within its discretionary power, the state supreme court today had denied the application of Sidney E. Saunby, C. A. Melcher and the California Farm Bureau federation for a writ of review to annul an order of the state railroad commission of April, 1922.

This order required the Southern California Edison company to make a rate reduction in several counties of approximately $1,600,000.

The action was based upon the proceeding for the readjustment and fixation of rates in several counties of Southern California. The presiding commission limited the scope of the inquiry to exclude the question of state and federal taxes. By a previous order of the commission, the Edison company was allowed to charge a certain amount of this to operating expenses.

This, the supreme court ruled, was permissible, hence the denial of the application for a writ of review.

COUNCIL DEFIED IN REPAVING BATTLE

Property Owner Says Law Favors Him, But City Officials Differ

Maintaining that under an agreement with property owners at the time of the original paving on East Fourth street, the city is responsible for maintenance of that street, and declaring that property owners were "bulldozed" into paying for the repaving of the street two years ago, Frank Thomson, 902 East Fourth, today declared that he was not scared in the least by recent action of the council, directing the city attorney and city engineer to prepare for proceedings to have the street in front of his property paved under the district plan.

In effect Thomson says that the city may go as far as it pleases in its legal proceedings, for in the end, he believes, it will have to pay whatever expense is incurred in connection with the repaving of his frontage.

Agreement Claimed Made

"I complied with the Vrooman law in the original installation of the pavement in 1905," said Thomson today. "Later an agreement was entered into between the city, myself, the late W. H. Spurgeon and others by which the city assumed responsibility for future maintenance of the street. I have no fear as to the final result. My attorney advises me that I am within my rights—and I am going to stand pat."

When the street was repaved two years ago, Thomson held out and would not put in the work in front of his lot. Later he started installation of the pavement under a formula of his own, and was halted by the city, and after that section of the street he is held responsible for was about half paved.

Council Reverses Itself

Recently he submitted to W. G. Knox, city engineer, a proposition to tear out the work and replace it with eight-inch base, the city to do the surfacing. The council at its meeting Monday evening, May 21, last, decided that it would have the work done at its own expense. It reversed this position last Monday night and directed that proceedings be begun to force the work, under the 1911 improvement and 1915 bond acts.

City Attorney Z. B. West Jr., declared today that just as soon as he is presented by the city engineer with data on the boundaries of an assessment district, he will prepare an ordinance approving the boundaries, and will follow this with a resolution of intention to create the district and order the work.

Valuation Basis Is Crux

West pointed out that the acts provide that where abutting property in a district has been improved, assessments shall not lie against such property, the point being that in the case of Thomson, and another piece of property across the street which has not been repaved, the costs of the proceedings can be charged against the two pieces.

The law provides that cost cannot be imposed on a district in excess of 50 per cent of the assessed valuation of property within the district. In some quarters it has been maintained that proceedings could not be adopted for forcing the repaving of the two pieces because the cost would be in excess of 50 per cent of the assessed valuation of the two properties. Under interpretation that the costs cannot exceed 50 per cent of the assessed valuation of the property in the district, West maintains that the law can be invoked to force the repavement on the unpaved portions of the street.

Minutes and Records Searched

Knox stated today that he had made diligent search of the minutes of the council having to do with the original paving of East Fourth, and other records bearing on the work, and he is unable to find the agreement referred to by Thomson. The latter says the agreement was made some time in 1907.

Thomson is now engaged in erecting a two story concrete store and rooming-house building on a portion of his property. The structure will cost approximately $5000, Thomson says.

WALNUT EXPERT TO GIVE TIPS FROM CHINA

Richland Growers Go Into Annual Meeting With Officials Tomorrow

With the annual reports of the president, J. A. Smiley, and secretary, Andrew D. Smiley, scheduled to be presented, and selection of a board of directors slated, members of the Richland Walnut association of Orange today were contemplating attending the annual session of the organization to be held at the packing house at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Carlyle Thorpe, manager of the California Walnut Growers' association; W. T. Webber, sales manager, and W. B. Hooper, walnut specialist with the state university, will deliver addresses.

Meet Held Important.

"This meeting is of extraordinary importance since it will give leaders of the industry an opportunity to emphasize recent discoveries which are expected to be of great financial benefit to the growers," said J. A. Smiley.

"A year ago Thorpe made a trip around the world to gather the information which he intends to disseminate at the Richland meeting. On camel back and in jinriksha, he traveled across great arid areas in China and Manchuria to reach the walnut growing districts which have been feeding the Orient for thousands of years.

"While on this tedious journey he made many observations as to cultural and harvesting methods.

To Tell Basic Rules.

"Some of these ideas are the fundamental principles of walnut growing in the Orient. Some of them are basic principles which have successfully stood the test of centuries.

"Bringing these ideas home, Thorpe compared them and their results with local cultural and harvesting methods and their results. He found, in some cases, the methods in this newer country were not as successful as those which the Orientals have practiced for centuries.

CRIQUI CONFIDENT OF WINNING TITLE

NEW YORK, June 1.—Eugene Criqui, European featherweight champion, today announced that he would knock out Johnny Kilbane in the sixth round when they meet here tomorrow.

The 34-year-old Frenchman, who fought his way to the European championship after he had part of his jaw shot away at Verdun, said he felt fine, that he weighed 124 pounds and that he was ready to take the title.

Kilbane, on the theory that socks and not words win fights, refused to venture a prediction on what he would do.

"I'm the champion and I feel as good as I ever did. You know what I mean," he said.

The champion said he was also under weight and that he would spend the rest of the time doing nothing. He finished his training two days ago. Tom O'Rourke, who is staging the contest in the park of the New Kork Giants, said the ground would hold 60,000 spectators and he expected to have customers hold all the seats.

Reserved Seat Tickets For Big Fight On Sale

SHELBY, Mont., June 1.—Reserved seat tickets for the Dempsey-Gibbons heavyweight championship fight to be staged here July 4, were delivered today and are being prepared for distribution.

Blocks of ringside tickets will be sent east by airplanes and mail and Mike Collns will go to the Pacific coast cities to take charge of the distribution.

Dempsey is on a fishing trip and Tommy Gibbons is at his home in St. Paul. Gibbons is expected to return the first of next week with his family and he will start final training.

Children at Day Nursery, 610 Garfield street.

Contentment not only of the seventeen wee tots who spend their days there but contentment on the part of the matron, Mrs. A. H. T. Taylor, marks the few days that have been spent by them in the new Day Nursery home at 610 Garfield street. The Ebell society conducts this nursery.

"What a change!" said Mrs. Taylor, expressing her complete satisfaction with the new nursery.

"It's just ideal here," she continued. "There are so many things that are better than we had on East Fifth street that I can hardly recount them. First, the nice airy rooms, the big yard and the shade. Why, in summer at the Fifth street place it was very hard for the children to play, because we had no shade. Now we have several nice trees, and it's just fine.

"Then, we have a separate room for the clothing that we sell as one of the means of supporting the Day Nursery. This is a well arranged room, and those who patronize it can come to it without disturbing the children.

"And we have a lot of porch. Wire has been put up so that we can fence this porch off for the youngsters."

The children of the Day Nursery range in age from one year to six. In every instance, the parent or parents are employed during the day, and the children are cared for at the Day Nursery. A warm, substanial meal is served at noon.

Milk and bread and jam are also provided at "hungry times."

In the back yard are swings and teeter-boards.

"A slide and two big sandpiles are the present needs of the children's playgrounds," said Mrs. Taylor.

8903 AUTOISTS VISIT CAMP IN YEAR

Eight thousand nine hundred and three motorists have visited Santa Ana's modern auto camp in the last year, according to the report of L. A. Ludwig, custodian, given out here today.

Two thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine cars, representing virtually every state in the Union have visited the big park on North Main street since it was thrown open in May, 1922.

Last month, Ludwig said, 215 cars arrived at the park, the total number of visitors for the month being 699. Out of this number, Ludwig added, eight had become residents of Santa Ana, while two families had settled in Orange.

May Shows Gain

"The figures for May show a decided gain over those for April," said Ludwig, "and indicate that tourist travel will be exceedingly heavy this summer.

"Motorists from Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Minnesota and other states tell us that many Eastern and Mid-Western residents have determined to head for California this year.

"Santa Ana, exceptionally well advertised by word of mouth, will draw its full share of the great summer rush. When the vacation period is on in full swing, many newcomers will undoubtedly make Santa Ana the center of their summer tours.

521 In May

"Since March 1, we have had 521 cars in the auto park, with 1,541 persons, from all sections of the country."

Among the visitors who had heard of Santa Ana's attractiveness was a tourist from Juneau, Alaska.

"He was delighted with our highways and the scenic beauties found along the route," said Ludwig. "In Juneau and vicinity they have only 35 miles of good roads. It costs $10 for a city license and $10 for a territorial license."

BATHING SUITS OF GAY COLOR WILL DAZZLE THRONGS AT BEACHES

Peek Ordinance Sets City to West Astir Because of Possible Loss

S. A. STORES PREPARED

Garments For This Season Seem Ideal For Beauty and Real Comfort

By TOM LEWIS

With Long Beach emerging from a merry councilmanic war concerning bathing suits—their length, color, cut, and the manner in which they shall be worn—Santa Ano and Orange county residents today were projecting their thoughts beachward and asking the leading question: "What are we going to wear?"

"Wear what you like, but come often, seems to epitomize the sentiment of beach resort proprietors, who have watched with lively interest the efforts of Long Beach to "get from under" the deluge of publicity which marked the revival—and subsequent repeal—of the famous Peek bathing suit ordinance.

After ordering the Peek ordinance, calling for long-skirted women's bathing suits, into force for several days, the Long Beach city council hastily killed the measure, after a heated session in the council chambers.

Publicity Damaging, is Plaint

"The order to enforce the Peek law has cost Long Beach $10,000 damage in the past few days, through ridicule, which caused marked decrease in the beach crowds," Councilman Frank Downs is quoted as saying to the city fathers.

This ordinance, drafted several years ago by former Director of Safety W. M. Peek, also prohibited "low visibility" bathing suits, and prescribed suits "which show plainly at a distance that they are suits, and not flesh."

The council also ordered all bathing tents removed from the beach, accentuating, Orange county residents declared, the fact that Newport Beach now has a so-called "dressing ordinance," which will require beach habitues to be on guard against possible arrest when the bathing season is at its height.

This ordinance, passed after a bitter fight marked by pointed debate, makes it unlawful for bathers to use their automobiles, in certain zones, for dressing and undressing. In other zones, however, notably at the auto camp, dressing and undressing, with specified restrictions, will be permitted.

Comfort Santa Ana Motto

However, all this has little to do with the demand for snappy models in 1923 bathing suits, according to Santa Ana dealers.

"Be comfortable, whatever you do," is the advice of one leading merchant, who admitted that he was more interested in satisfied customers than in disputes between well-meaning city fathers.

"This year, the bathing suit manufacturers have done themselves proud. The garments are ideal—neither too long, nor too short—and the colors! Ah, the colors are sublime! The discerning man and the fastidious woman can have anything the heart desires. See for yourself!"

Colorful Garments Everywhere

A minute inspection of multi-colored suits proved that the astute merchant was correct. In a woman's shop there was a nifty garment of purest white, and the ferret-eyed reporter wondered who was going to wear that — and whether Mr. Peek would bar it from Long Beach, on the grounds that it "did not show plainly at a distance that it was a suit and not flesh."

Other shop windows were resplendent with colors and littered with beach shoes of every conceivable hue.

There were green suits, suggestive of the great deep on a tranquil day; vivid reds, reminiscent of Pacafic sunsets; delicate pinks, sky blues, orange tints, and the prosaic black and white, with here

Every spoonful of Kellogg's Bran helps free you from toxic poisons!

Constipation is largely responsible for auto-intoxication that leads to dangerous diseases unless it is not only checked but permanently relieved. Constipation, in fact, is the basis of a majority of human ailments which could be headed off if people would only help rid themselves of this serious, health-undermining condition, which can be easily done.

Constipation must be fought to a finish—not with pills and cathartics, which are dangerous to the delicate membranes of the intestines and temporary at best—but with nature's greatest cereal health food—Bran—Kellogg's Bran, which is as delicious as it is beneficial.

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful in its work because it is ALL BRAN. And, to get permanent relief, ALL BRAN is a necessity, for it is the "bulk" of Kellogg's Bran that sweeps and purifies, ridding the system of poisons and bringing conditions to normal. Eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; as much with each meal in chronic cases—and we guarantee that you will get relief permanently and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran is delicious. You do not have to learn to like it. Eat it as a cereal or sprinkle on or mix with hot or cold cereals. Or, cook it with hot cereals, allowing two tablespoonfuls for each person. Kellogg's makes wonderful muffins, griddle cakes, raisin bread, macaroons, etc. Recipes on package.

Leading hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers.

John R. McLean Gains 18 lbs Taking Tanlac

Kept Losing Ground for Five Years, Says Los Angeles Man—Declares He Now Feels Fine as in Younger Days.

When John R. McLean, a cabinet maker, living at 519 Maple Ave., Los Angeles, said: "Tanlac was what I needed to put me in first class working trim," he corroborated the statements of thousands of others who have used the medicine with the most gratifying results.

"Before taking Tanlac," he explained, "I had lost considerable weight and was in a badly run-down condition. Every year, for five or six years, I had been getting thinner and feeling more and more rundown.

"I at last realized the importance of getting something to stop my decline and build me up, and as my aunt had gotten such good results from Tanlac, I turned to the treatment myself with the result that it has added eighteen pounds to my weight and made me feel as good as I ever did in my younger days."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere. adv.

FORD MAY WIN IF HE OBEYS HIS ORDERS

WASHINGTON June 1.—If Henry Ford would play the game according to the rules that Democratic politicians lay down for him he could have the Democratic nomination for vice-president in 1924.

Ford will refuse the vice-presidential nomination, if it is offered to him.

He will refuse to play the political game according to any set of ancient rules made by party politicians.

He doesn't care a whoop for party loyalties or party services or even for parties, by all of which the politicians set great store.

Democratic politicians are worried about the "Ford-For-President" movement which their experienced observers tell them is sweeping the west and middlewest. Public contemptuous towards Ford and his possibilities, in private, leading Democrats have given earnest consideration to means of making Ford do one of two things. These are:

1—Establish himself as a "regular" Democrat in good standing and by performing service for the party show himself entitled to party honors.

2—Eliminate himself from consideration as a Democratic nominee.

They cannot figure out a way to do either, simply because Ford will not play politics the way the politicians are used to playing it. presidency. William Randolph strength, various Democratic candidates would like to make a deal with him to accept the vice-presidential nomination. They have received no encouragement. Ford has said he is not interested in the presidency. The politicians do not believe him, but they do know he is not interested in the vice-presidency. WFilliam Randolph Hearst's effort to hook his third party to the Ford popularity has gotten nowhere thus far. Indications are that Ford does not want to tie to any man or any movement that is cluttered up with "side issues" like political revenge. In fact, if he gets into the presidential campaign, either as Democratic nominee, or as an independent, Ford will run on the most "unpolitical" platform and by means of the most unpolitical methods ever seen in American politics, his friends say.

SEANCES 'FAKE' EXPERT SAYS TO PSYCHICS

NEW YORK, June 1.—Harry Houdini, master magician and president of the Society of American Magicians, denounced as "an outright fake' the alleged spirit manifestations which he and other experts observed at a seance arranged by the Scientific American at its offices in the Woolworth building last Wednesday night. Houdini is the first of the nationally known judges of the psychic test to declare that the demonstration was not what the medium claimed it to be.

Houdini's denunciation of the performance by George Valentine, the medium of Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, came after the magician had been tounted by his friends "for being such a simpleton" as to take any stock in the proceedings staged by the Scientific American. He said he couldn't permit his friends to believe that he was convinced that the performance by seance. When questioned Houdini explained why he had concluded that the seance was a fake, and declared that he went to the demonstration at the invitation of the Scientific American which placed no restrictions upon him.

Would Arrest Medium.

The head of the Society of American Magicians was so firmly convinced of the fraud perpetrated by the Wilkesbarre medium that he declared Valientine ought to be arrested for "preying on the most sacred emotions of the human heart." Houdini said he went to the seance prepared to believe in spiritualism if the medium could prove it. But he was far from convnced that the performance by Valientine was any more than a second rate exhibition of old stock tricks which could easily be detected by evan the inexpert.

Valientine was the first of these recognized mediums of the United States to try to win the five thousand dollar prize offered by the Scientific American to any one who could produce genuine manifestations of psychic phenomena.

Houdini says every person in the room was pledged to give the Wilkesbarre medium all the latitude he would take in his performance. It was the belief of Houdini, according to the latter, that the more rope the observers gave the medium, the sooner would he hang himself. And according to Houdidi he did. Just listen to Houdini:

Sought Prize Only.

"The man came there to win the five thousand dollar psychic test prize offered by the Scientific American and we had all agreed to act like a lot of boobs to see what his game was. They put him to a test which any man with half a brain could have seen was no test at all. The man did not have a chance of producing any phenomena that would convince any of us that it was spiritualism.

"Yes, I went there at the invitation of the Scientific American, and I feel at liberty to tell just what happened. There was no string tied to my invitation and I was not pledged to secrecy although there has been an awful lot of reticence on the part of those who were present at the 'seance.'

"I never saw such awkward work in all my life; and that medium had made a statement which he asked us to believe, that he had often been lifted off the floor by spirits and that the spirits had placed him upon a table. He got off that bunk before he started his performance.

"And we said, 'Is that so' and 'How remarkable' and 'Can you just imagine a thing like that.' That man thought he had us fooled. There wasn't a chance at any time that this magician fooled us.

"I think those people ought to be put in jail for preying on the most sacred of human emotions."

Mystery Of Twins In Denver Unsolved

DENVER, Colo., June 1.—The mystery of the "missing twins" continued to baffle Denver police today in one of the strangest investigations ever undertaken by the department.

On May 13 twins were born to Mrs. Clinton Plantz. The mother declared a strange physician was summoned by a neighbor and that the doctor took the babies from her to put in an incubator. That was the last she saw of her children.

Mrs. Plantz does not remember the physician's name nor the name of the woman who called him, she says.

Plantz declared today that he was not at home when the babies were born and that when he arrived at the house from work he was told he was the father of twins who had been taken away by the physician.

hours of the day or night."

The conventional exclamation was made as to what her parents thought of her driving alone around the country at all hours of the night. Her home is in Santa Ana.

"Can't help it," she replied. "It's part of my work."

And Tiny returned to her fascinating task of tracing lost husbands, foundered committees, past presidents, future presidents and various convention items.

STOCKS SUFFER AS INTEREST IS LAX

Professionals Have Free Hand and Pound Short Side of Exchange

(By United Press Leased Wire)

NEW YORK, June 1.—Stocks suffered today from a lack of public interest. With the outside following apparently indifferent to developments on the stock exchange, professional operators had a free hand and they pounded the short side on the theory that further reaction was due, following the six point recovery in the industrial averages over the last ten days.

Another break in cotton carried prices down $4 a bale, reflecting the cutting down of activity in the textile trade. This development in one of the principal commodity markets reacted in turn on stocks which developed larger volume on the decline in the last hour. Some selling of steel common and the independent steel shares, especially Republic and Bethlehem, was based on the failure of incoming orders to take up the current rate of production.

GRAIN PRICES IN ANOTHER DECLINE

Wheat Forecast Favorable and Export News Has Bearish Trend

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press)

CHICAGO, Juue 1.—Favorable crop reports and depressing export news caused grain prices to drop sharply on the Chicago board of trade today.

The B. W. Snow report, placing the condition of winter wheat at 80.4, compared with 79.5 a month ago, resulted in heavy selling of wheat. Word was received from Washington stating that Greece had forbidden the importation of wheat and flour, discrediting reports that traders might expect a heavy demand from that country for this season's crop. Snow said the crop was in an improved condition, but continued favorable weather would be needed for proper maturing.

A moderate volume of trade was noted in corn throughout the day, but there was no heavy buying.

Demand for oats was limited. Most of the buying came from commission houses.

CHOOSE HEADS OF LUTHERAN SYNOD

Following the organization of a separate district of the joint synod of Ohio and other states, delegates attending the district meeting, in session at St. Peter's Lutheran church here today, devoted the forenoon to a close study of Galatians in the original Geek text, as presented by the Rev. J. H. Peters of Anaheim. The discussion of this study will be followed by a paper on missionary problems.

Yesterday the forenoon session was devoted to preliminary work, in which the synodical constitution was read and adopted. At the afternoon session the program for the remainder of the convention was outlined. The program late today was devoted to a practical application of a paper on missionary problems, presented by the Rev. W. Hohberger of Los Angeles. Dr. E. F. W. Stellhorn, mission superintendent of Columbus, O., was among today's arrivals.

Officers elected for the district were:

The Rev. Mr. Hohberger, president; the Rev. George F. Pauchert, Santa Ana, vice president; Rev. W. Lange, Long Beach, secretary; J. Krock, Santa Ana, treasurer, and the Rev. Mr. Peters, editor of The California Missionary.

After the business session, short addresses were made by Carter and Mr. Tripple of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder of San Diego, O. Johnson and W. F. Heathman and Judge Francis Bartle, of this city.

Judge Bartle presented the local lodge with a large silk banner, known as the Orange county price banner.

This was followed by refreshments of home made cake and coffee. The grand march from the hall to the banquet room was led by Gilbert Carter of Long Beach and Mrs. Bartle of Santa Ana.

Next Thursday night will be open night for members and friends with a social dance, it was announced.

FINANCIAL COMMENT

Short Talks on Current Events of Interest to Investors

By James Wilbur

By the transformation of large areas of arid lands into sections rich in agricultural products, the hydro-electric corporations of California have enriched this state by millions of dollars annually and provided employment for thousands of citizens. The growth of the state has been identified closely with the development of hydro-electric projects. Industrially, the state is practically dependent upon power from this source, but it is probable that, by supplying cheap and dependable power with which water is pumped to the surface of arid lands and the soil made to yield bountifully under cultivation, the corporations have benefited the greatest number of persons.

Irrigation is necessary to the successful cultivation of the greater portion of agricultural lands in Southern California, particularly the citrus groves, for which this state is famous. In many parts of the state this irrigation has been made possible by the organization of irrigation companies, which by the construction of impounding dams and ditches have brought the waters from higher levels to the ranches and citrus groves.

In other districts, however, it has been found impossible, either because of natural reasons, or because of prohibitive cost, to construct irrigation systems. It is here that the hydro-electric corporations, by supplying power for pumping at rates which make it profitable to cultivate the lands, stepped in and by assisting the ranchers in every conceivable manner, have added millions of dollars to the value of the annual products of California ranches.

The three great hydro-electric corporations operating in the southern central part of California today are furnishing power to irrigate more than one million acres of lands as follows:

	Acres
Southern California Edison Company	626,000
Nevada-California Electric Corporation	61,054
San Joaquin Light & Power Corporation	341,556
	1,028,610

These figures are as of December 31, 19222, and each of the companies has added considerable area since that time. The transmission lines of the Nevada-California Electric corporation, which extend from Mono lake to the Imperial valley, traverse an immense area of arid land which is suitable for cultivation. Much of this land already has been tested and found to have a plentiful supply of water beneath the surface within easy pumping distance. After pumps have been installed this now unproductive land will yield big returns.

In extending their lines to the agricultural lands, thereby gaining additional business and enriching the state, the power companies have taken the lead. It is an axiom in California that "population follows the power lines." On the private power corporations has fallen the burden of pioneering the way. Through their efforts these million acres now are supporting thousands of citizens and adding millions of dollars annually to the wealth of the state and nation.

Alleged Liquor Law Violator Pays $500

James Morrison, arrested several weeks ago in the big liquor raid at Seal Beach by sheriff's deputies, today had paid a fine of $500, imposed yesterday by Justice J. B. Cox.

Morrison had pleaded not guilty to possession, but yesterday he retracted his plea.

Despite the plea of guilty, and the statement of Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wettlin, that this precluded the possibility of a trial, Cox insisted on hearing evidence before imposing the sentence.

Man Who Took 20 or 30 Drinks Bailed Out

J. Eddie Goss, the man who was said to have admitted taking between "20 and 30 drinks" when he was arrested near Orange last Tuesday night, was free today under $300 bail, awaiting preliminary hearing before Justice J. B. Cox July 2 at 2 p. m. He is charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Goss was arrested by Sheriff Jernigan and Deputy Orlo Moncrief after he had driven his sedan into a hedge on the E. E. Campbell ranch, authorities said.

STRAWBERRIES ARE SOON DISPOSED OF

Firm Stock of Cantaloupes Fails Yet to Appear on Market, Price Less

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Receipts of strawberries were lighter today and dealers experienced little difficulty in moving their stock at prices ranging from 60 to 65 cents per drawer. Blackberries and loganberries were lower in price. Cantaloupes were 50 cents lower by the crate, but fresh, firm stock was rather scarce. Peaches were in light demand with crates selling from $1 to $1.25 each.

City cold storages now hold a total of 36,116 boxes of apples, which is a reduction of 10,291 boxes for the week.

Receipts: Grape fruit two cars; oranges two cars; cantaloupes two cars.

A few sacks of wax beans sold at 17 1-2 and 19 cents per pound.

One car of celery was received and the market was weaker, with crates selling from $7.50 to $10.00 each. Stockton red onions are selling from $1.75 to $2, the former price being at the wharf. Stockton yellow onions, just received, brought $2.50 per cwt. New white potatoes are in better demand at 3@3 1-2 cents per pound. Best tomatoes sold up to $2.50 per lug.

There were no price changes reported today in poultry. There was a good movement in all closses with the exception of leghorn hens, which are showing a slight accumulation. Receipts consisted of 215 coops of live poultry by express.

DRIVER OF DEATH CAR GETS 1 YEAR

Denied probation after he had been found guilty of intoxication when he drove the automobile in which Ollie Miller was killed several months ago, L. L. Meek was today sentenced to serve one year in the county jail.

He was tried before a jury in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court several weeks ago, and when he was found guilty, applied for probation.

This the court denied today but gave the young man a jail sentence instead of committing him to San Quentin, an alternative which the law affords.

Denies Charges Made In Will Contest Suit

General denial of charges contained in the will contest suit filed by Goldie McGregor and Wilma Bladen Young Taylor, when he attempted to secure probate of the will of the late Vada Bladen, were filed in superior court today by Harry Bladen.

Bladen denied that the deceased, who left the major portion of her estate to him, cutting off the plaintiffs in the suit with $10 each, was of unsound mind.

He denied that he had been convicted on an infamous crime, but admitted serving one year in the pententiary at Oregon for larceny. He was pardoned in 1913, he claimed.

He denied that he used undue influence on his mother, or that he had told her that his sisters, the plaintiffs, were immoral and kept company with objectionable persons.

Attorney A. E. Koepsel appeared for the defendant.

One year on the planet Mercury is equal to about 88 of our own.

TINY CRIPPLES TO SEE S. A. DANCERS

Plans today were being completed by Kiwanis club members to furnish the necessary automobiles in which children of Mrs. Maude Putnam's classes of the Mabel Rockwell School of dancing will be taken tomorrow, to Los Angeles where the dance revue given recently at the Temple theatre, will be presented on the lawn of the Children's Orthopedic hospital on South Flower street at 2 p. m.

The little crippled children of the hospital will have their number augmented by similarly afflicted children from other institutions of that city. It is expected that 200 of the little folk will enjoy the program.

Nearly forty children dancers will go from this city and in their gay and brilliant costumes, will endeavor to give identically the same performance as that presented here.

Mrs. Putnam will join the party at Los Angeles. Mrs. Edith Androus will act as accompanist.

Start will be made from Rockwell hall promptly at 11:30 a. m., it was anncunced.

Asserted 'Bad Man' Held In Gun Threat

Charged with threatening to kill, J. R. Campbell, asserted "bad man" of Placentia, was today held in the county jail.

He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff G. Edward McClellan, after Placentia residents had claimed that he, flourishing a revolver, had threatened to "shoot up" the town.

Man Has Car 15 Days, Then Thief Is Owner

Fifteen days ago W. C. Holloway, Fullerton, bought a new touring car.

Marylyn Back For 'Romp' With Jack

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Jack Pickford and Marylyn Miller were here today in the seclusion of their Hollywood bungalow after their "professional" separation of some months' duration. The musical comedy star announced, on her return from the east, that she would spend the next three months "playing around with her husband" before she resumed work on her new contract with Flo Ziegfeld.

ESTATE LEVIES MAY GO UP IN NEXT SESSION

WASHINGTON, June 1.—An increase in taxes on estates will be one of the proposals in the next session of congress which is certain to stir up controversy. Senator Capper, Konsas, Republican, head of the senate farm bloc, includes an increase of this character in a tax program which he announces that he favors. Others of the so-called "progressives" group rates on estates than those in the present law which range from 1 to 35 per cent be imposed as a means of forcing those who inherit wealth to pay a larger share of taxation.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon not only is opposed to any increase in taxes on estates, but believes that the present rates are much too high for peace time and are actually destructive of values. It is Secretary Mellon's contention that taxes which in effect seize upon capital as distinguished from earnings are fundamentally wrong. He points out that if the wealth of an estate consisted of money, evil results of a tax of this sort would not be so great, but that usually it is necessary to convert holdings of an estate into money in order to pay taxes and that this forced liquidation causes a shrinkage in values.

Some of those who insist that the present tax is not high enough would go so far as to double the rates. To prevent evasion of estate taxes this element favors a tax on gifts.

Tax Exempt Changes

Senator Capper in outlining his views on taxation favors the elimination of tax exempt securities, the imposition of a tax on undistributed earnings of corporations, increased inheritance taxes and a tax on gifts.

"The last congress by removing the excess profits tax and by reducing the millionaire's surtax on income from 65 to 50 per cent, made it still easier for those who can pay taxes easiest and who own the largest amount of taxable property, to carry far less than their just share of the nation's tax burden already being carried by the little fellows," said Senator Capper.

"But it seems with all of the tax evasion and tax lifting among those whose incomes run into six figures, or better, they are not satisfied. Wall street promoters and financiers are to descend on the next congress, in December, with another demand to enact the sales tax scheme, although prices and living costs are steadily rising and profiteering in coal and sugar is rampant. This would mean a further tax on lean pocketbooks for the benefit of fat ones, the taking from the people of a larger percentage of their earnings through subjecting the consumer to a consumption tax, that wealth may get still further from under its share of the national load.

"The usual pretense will, of course, be made that by taxing consumption and relieving big business still further from paying taxes, the giant will have that much more capital to invest in business.

Purpose of Move

"Summed up, the purpose of all this tax propaganda is to put more and more the tax burden upon the producers of wealth and less and less on wealth itself. No good can come of it, ond worse time for attempting to put over a sales tax could hardly be found. Prices are rising, profiteers are openly preying upon the people. The chances that the people will calmly submit to a sales tax is small, indeed. And yet great wealth in its blindness and unwisdom cannot see that it is so.

"Probably congress has the greatest fight on the tax question in its history just ahead. The people's representatives must prepare for it. The big shift in taxes already has gone too far and must go no farther; in fact, the load must be adjusted. This country cannot be made prosperous by exempting great fortunes from taxation and piling the cost of government upon the American standard of living. Instead, what the situation demands is that the flood of tax exempt securities be checked; that a tax be placed on a gift tax levied to prevent their evasion. These measures constitute a square deal program in taxation and nothing less should be accepted as final."

DEMAND FOR HORSES NOW IS INCREASING

Although the number of horses in the country has been steadily decreasing and the number of stallions registered for service in the various states has been on the decline in recent years, according to an analysis of the situation by the United States department of agriculture, there are indications that this downhill movement is coming to a halt.

There is also reason to believe that as a result of the culling that has been going on in the last few years the quality of the horse stock is being improved at a rate greater than usual.

At the end of 1922, there were 203,000 fewer horses and 39,000 more mules in the United States than at the beginning of that year. While production has not kept pace with the death rate, the demand has been increasing. Last year there was an increase approximately 40 per cent in the number of horses received on markets over the previous year.

NEW PRINCIPLE IN NUTRITION, CLAIM

Experiments in nutrition during the last few years have resulted in the discovery of new principles in nutrition, many of which are important in the proper feeding of dairy cattle, says the United States department of agriculture.

It has been found that an adequate diet must cotnaine certain mineral ingredients, and also certain organic compounds whose exact chemical nature is still unknown, but which have been called vitamins.

It is quite possible to make up a diet from ordinary feedstuffs which will containe sufficient protein and energy, and yet be deficient in either minerals or vitamins or both.

HUGE LOSS IS CHARGED TO RAT HORDE

Damage by rats to produce and property in the United States amount to $200,000,000 annually, according to the department of agriculture.

Rats affect a larger percentage of the population than any other pest in existence. Infesting almost the entire world, they carry on unceasingly their work of destruction, of transmitting disease, and of inspiring repugnance or dread where they are present or threaten invasion of the home.

Injury to farm produce starts when the seed is first planted and continues through the growing season and harvest, in the wholesale and retail markets, and often in the home of the consumer. Such losses in the aggregate so affect the ultimate price of foodstuffs that everyone shares them, whether he maintains rats on his premises or not.

Modern ideas of thrift are opposed to such unnecessary waste, and the demand for relief is becoming insistent. What is most needed is a constant campaign of education to increase public intolerance of rats, carried on by extension and sanitation officials and all others interested. Individual efforts, which through the centuries have been ineffective in eliminating rats, must give way to organized endeavor.

For information regarding the relation of the rat to the public health, address the surgeon general, United States public health service, Washington.

For information relative to the habits, life history and economic status of the rat and for additional information in regard to anti-rat campaigns and methods of control, address the bureau of biological survey, United States department of agriculture, Washington.

Probe Sudden Crash Of Stock Magnates

NEW YORK, June 1.—Investigation into the crash of Jones and Baker, the largest stock brokers on the curb here and one of the largest firms ever to go into involuntary bankruptcy, was launched here today, while authorities in Chicago were determining whether the Illinois "blue sky" law had been violated by the firm.

"Long" accounts of customers were reported to amount to $10,000,000, with short accounts running possibly to $2,000,000 and bank loans totalling $2,500,000.

Steps were taken by authorities to insure that there would be no obstacles to surmount as in previous inquiries when other brokerage firms failed.

TRANSPLANT TOMATOES

Don't hesitate to transplant tomatoes twice if the plants are growing too thick in the seed beds or seed boxes. The double transplanting will make them stockier plants.

It takes about 100 days from seed sowing to the first ripe tomato of the earliest varieties, if conditions are favorable. Figure it out and see if the tomatoes do their duty.

Flavor of Brandy In Mince Pie Is Illegal, Court Says

CHICAGO, May 25.—Mince pies will not retain their ancient flavor of brandy, according to a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals returned Wednesday asserting that the Victoria Distilling Co. of Louisville, Ky., could not move 45 barrels of brandy which it has in storage in Chicago.

The company said that the brands was to be used in mince pies.

DECLARES U. S. SHOULD WIN AIR RACE

WASHINGTON, May 22 — Deploring America's apathy toward the aviation development as a national peril and scandal, Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the naval air service, declared today the United States must win the international seaplane races in England, Sept. 28, to arouse this country from a fatal lethargy.

Admiral Moffett said the nation must awaken to the real possibilities of navigation of the air, already recognized in other countries, where vast fleets of commercial and fighting planes are building, and to look upon aviation as an industry rather than a sport.

"The seaplane races are not primarily sporting events," he declared, "but look to the development of planes and engines that will meet the most severe tests, both from the commercial and combat standpoints. They are of outstanding importance because of the stimulating effect on airship development."

The United States, although entering for the first time and confronted with the best aviators of France, England, Belgium and Italy, using the finest planes those countries can produce, has a good chance to win the race, according to Admiral Moffett.

Victory means the event will be held in the United States in 1924 and the possession of the famous Snyder air trophy by the American navy. Admiral Moffett said the American entries would be the last word in aviation art, while the pilots would be selected after a careful study of the navy's 135 flyers.

Within a short time candidates for the American team will be assembled at Anacosta, D. C., air station for intensive training.

Three seaplanes, the most powerful ever built by the navy, to be piloted by an American team, are under construction.

WASHINGTON IS PREPARED FOR SHRINE CLUBS

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Cities have risen mushroom-like over night during gold-rushes in the West, but no staid metropolis has ever doubled its population in a day. Yet that is what Washington expects to do during Shrine Week—June 3 to 8.

The Nation's Capital was a beehive of activity today preparing to play host to a multitude that will make the great inaugural crowds seem like a Squash Center county court day throng in comparison.

Washington, normally a city of about 450,000, anticipates tucking away 900,000 each night of the week the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine turn the city into a colorful Arab camp with their red fezes and bisarre zouzave costumes.

A shriner with a bent for statistics has figured out that Washington's guest, if rolled into one, would make a noble twice the height of the Washington Monument—1100 feet—weighing 75,000,000 pounds. Broad Pennsylvania avenue would make a narrow footpath for his 150 feet shoes and he would wear a fez the size of the capitol dome.

The housing committee, having filled every available hotel, has asked citizens to open their homes to this gigantic guest. Nearly 1500 Pullman cars standing in the terminal will house others and many thousands may be forced to go to the tent colony now being organized.

Washington's guest will pay a board bill of $5,000,000 a day. Washington merchants, who have raised a fund of $500,000 for entertainment of their guest, expect to reap a profit of $50,000,000 in ten days.

The hens of six states will be kept busy laying eggs for the crowd. "Old Bossy" must give up 25,000 gallons of milk daily for coffee alone and the baker must furnish 250,000 loaves of bread. It is estimated that 2,500,000 pounds of meat will be eaten during the colossal carnival.

VIENNESE FLOCK TO RISQUE DANCES

VIENNA, May 25.—Dancing in the nude, exhibitions of which are being given nightly in one of the largest concert halls, is the latest attraction to which Viennese are flocking.

Despite a storm of protests from the clergy the exhibitions have defied police interference.

The dancing pair, appearing nightly before thousands of admiring patrons, are Anita Barber and Sebastian Droste, popular Viennese cabaret artists.

They have been appearing for several years in scanty attire in cabarets and on the vaudeville stage, but only recently did they startle their audience clad in nothing more than the proverbial "smile."

Their performance was undisturbed as were those of the following few nights. Then the press and clergy began a storm of protest and a tirade against the police department for permitting such exhibitions.

On beholding the dancers in their terpsichorean interpretation of Chopin, Verdi and Gounod, the prefect of police decided that there was nothing indecent about the exhibition, and that on the contrary it was a worthy contribution to the world of art.

Meanwhile Barber and Droste continue their nightly exhibitions in the "altogether," and the concert hall at which they are appearing is turning nightly away hundreds of disappointed "patrons of art."

ONIONS SMELL LIKE SUBWAY TO HIM

COLUMBIA CITY, Ind., May 25.—A vague, yet strangely familiar, aroma was wafted on the erstwhile sweet spring breezes to the delicate nostrils of an ex-New Yorker. "Ah," he exclaimed, taking a deep inhale, "when did they put in the subway out here?" It developed that high winds had damaged the onion fields by blowing the small tubers out of the earth and hurling them through the air.

TEA

The tea plant is an evergreen bush, growing about four feet high; its growth being limited by frequent prunings. There are three kinds of tea. First, Green or unfermented. Second, Black or fermented. Third, Oolong or semi-fermented. All of these teas can be produced from leaf picked from the same bush.

There are three crops or pickings of tea. The first crop is picked the last week of April and the first of May, the second is picked the last of May and the third crop in June and July. The first crop tea is always the highest grade.

Green Tea is produced by steaming the leaf, when picked, to make it soft and pliable, then it is rolled, and fired in pans or baskets over a charcoal fire. The leaf retains its natural color through the entire process. There are two main divisions of Green teas, Japan green teas and China green teas. Japan produces Basket Fired and Pan Fired green teas, China produces Gunpowder, Imperial and Young Hyson green teas.

Pan Fired teas are made from the small leaves, fired in pans and turned over by machinery, while Basket Fired teas are made from the long leaves fired in wicker baskets over charcoal fires. The leaves are placed in baskets about eight inches deep and are turned by hand in order to prevent as much as possible the breaking up of the leaf.

Gunpowder, Imperial and Young Hyson teas are practically the same, the only difference being the shape of the leaf. After these teas are rolled they are run through seives of different sized meshes. The small round rolls are Gunpowder, the large round rolls are imperial and the long rolls are Young Hyson.

Black teas are produced by a process of fermentation, which is brought about by spreading the green leaf on trays made of canvass, saturated with water. These trays are piled in a hot room for three or four hours, the evaporation of the water causes the leaf to change from a natural green to a copper color. The leaf is then rolled and fired at a high temperature, which turns it black.

Oolong teas are semi-fermented and are produced in the Island of Formosa. They are produced in the same way as black tea, except that they are fired when the leaves are only about half fermented.

There are two main divisions of black teas. The black teas produced in China are called English Breakfast or Congou teas. The black teas produced in India, Ceylon and Java are Orange Pekoe, Pekoe and Pekoe Souschoung.

The fine small leaf in all teas are the highest grade, and the large coarse leaf the cheaper grades. The darker the leaf in the cup the poorer the grade. The Orange Pekoe tea is considered the best for Iced Tea.

In making tea, scald out a crockery tea pot and while it is still warm put in the tea. Pour on freshly boiled water that has been brought to a quick boil, allow the brew to stand from five to seven minutes. If iced tea is desired the tea should be poured off to cool at the end of five or seven minutes. Never allow the tea to cool with the leaves in.

DO YOU LIKE A BLACK OR GREEN TEA? Whichever you prefer we have the tea that will suit you. Teas that make the FRAGRANT, Refreshing drink you like. We guarantee our teas to be absolutely pure.

H. B. TEAM RETURNS FROM BIG CLASSIC

Coach Walker Tells Views On Fight at Chicago For U. S. Track Title

Not alibing but still confident that they could have finished with more points had they had an even break of luck, members of the little Huntington Beach track squad, Coach Ray Walker, Ross Nichols, Charlie Bickmore, Virgil Elliott and Milt Nash, today were back home from Chicago where last Saturday they tied for fourth place at the National Interscholastic meet. The men returned to their homes late last night.

"We did pretty well, I think," Coach Walker said, "but had the breaks gone just a little bit our way instead of in the opposite direction I am of the opinion that we might have won the meet.

"Charlie Bickmore was fast enough to get either a second or a third in those high hurdles. He romped through his heat in the semi-finals when the runner in the lane to his left hit him and pushed him into a hurdle. Bickmore almost fell. He was out of his stride but at that he regained a lot of ground and just was nosed out of place. This would have entitled him to run in the finals which Nichols won with ease.

"Nash was simply not in form or he could have bettered his third position in the quarter-mile. He was not tired at the finish but he didn't have his usual finish at the tape.

Elliott's performance stamps him as a broad jumper to watch. He made 22 feet 6½ inches back at Chicago. Not once did he fail to better 22 feet. Next season he may get out to 23 feet or better for he was jumping in wonderful form in the east."

The Huntington Beach team still has a good chance to cop the national title for with the exception of Bickmore, every man on the squad will be eligible next season.

JUNIOR HIGH NINE LOSES TITLE GAME

BY DAVID ROBERTS
(Junior H. S. Sport Editor)

The Santa Ana junior high school baseball team yesterday dropped a hard-fought game for the cup awarded to schools in the surrounding country to prove themselves superior to all others. This was between Tustin and Santa Ana and Tustin won 12 to 8. Santa Ana won last season and if they had won this year they would have had the cup in their permanent possession.

Santa Ana was up against it for several of the boys on the first squad could not be present and four inexperienced players had to substitute the vacancies.

Although Santa Ana lost, Forgues, the local pitcher, struck out 18 of the 27 men that faced him.

Forgues and Kuykendall both knocked out triples while Kuykendall drew a double to his credit besides. Suddaby and Farrar got a double each for Tustin.

The boys al played well and comparatively few errors were made. This game marks the cosing of the league as a successful one for Tustin. Mr. Lauderbauch and his bunch of stars have played the game well and deserve much credit. As for Archer and the local team, a gamer lot never played the game and Santa Ana has had one of the best and cleanest bunch of ball-players that she has ever had in her history.

Former Champ Has Eyesight Restored After Blind Spell

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.—Pete Herman, former bantamweight champion, his eyesight partially restored after almost a year of total blindness, declared today he hoped to return to the boxing game.

"I am planning on getting back into the manager's end of the fight game," Herman said today. "I do not expect my eyesight will ever be good enough again to warrant my return to the ring."

Herman lost the sight of his right eye shortly after an exhibition charity bout in Philadelphia seven years ago. He continued fighting, however, and won many big decisions until a year ago, when his left eye began to fail him and he was soon totally blind.

Yesterday the bandages he had worn over his eyes for three months were removed and he discovered he had regained partial sight.

"It was one of the happiest moments of my life," he said today. "When those bandages were removed and I saw the light of day once more I felt like a new man."

Gene Sarazen Leading In English Golf Play

LONDON, June 1.—Gene Sarazen, American open champion, was leading by a large margin in the finals of the northern English professional matches at St. Annes this afternoon.

EXCELSIORS DEFEAT DALE INDOOR TEAM

One Tie, One Free Hitting Contest Mark Opening Of League Here

Featured by one torrid tie encounter and another free hitting melee, the Santa Ana Industrial Indoor baseball league got away to a big league start at the local "Y" court last night.

The Post Office team and the Robertson Electric company henchmen struggled to a 13 to 13 tie, calling the contest "no game" in order to relinquish the court at the scheduled time. Their tilt will be played off at a later date, T. P. McKee, local Y. M. C. A. secretary and director of the league, announced today.

The Excelsior Creamery company sluggers doned their hitting clothes and mangled the Dale Hardware force 26 to 13. Both teams hit the ball frequently.

The Southern Counties Gas company and the City Hall teams will hook up at 7 o'clock tonight in the second frame of the league. The Printers and Bankers mix at 8 bells.

Present Poly Girl Net Star With Cup As League's Token

MISS FRANCES COCROFT.

A member of three successful girls' teams, indoor baseball, basketball and tennis and now Southern California Interscholastic single champion in the net sport, Miss Frances ("Billie") Cocroft, today has as one of her most prozed possessions a shiny silver cup presented to her at a Santa Ana high school assembly yesterday afternoon by the Girls' league as an award for being the "best all-around girl athlete in school."

The beautiful trophy was awarded on the basis of scholarship, athletic ability and sportsmanship.

Miss Cocroft, who played in her first tournament only last summer, is just completing her second year at the local school. Tennis critics who have watched her style of play predict that the next few years hold a rosy athletic future for her.

Three silver cups are reposing in the Poly trophy case as a result of the victories of the tennis team during the season just closed. The Orange league cup is now the permanent possession of the local school.

DELHI RESULTS

Kid Mexico, Steve Biss—draw.

Henry Gatten, Young Sheller—draw.

Johnny Nandez won from Young Monroe, decision.

Eddie Dugan stopped Eddie Benson, first round.

Battling Weir stopped Eddie Carl, third round.

Eddie Doolis stopped Big Chief third round.

BY RINGSIDER

Crowding more action into their fourth round than they had offered during the entire first three frames, Kid Mexico and Steve Biss, middleweights, went to a draw in the main event at the Delhi arena last night. It was a popular decision.

Mexico made the mistake of trying to box his speedier opponent in the opening stanzas and was slowly losing out on points until he snapped out of his lethargy and began to fight the only way he ever should—to hammer, slug and cuff. The Huntington Beach boy can take them far better than nine out of ten of his opponents and in a slugging match the other guy usually will give ground first.

Mex Begins to Fight

Realizing that he was trailing the ex-sailor on points, Mexico began to fight the last round. His straight right and his uppercut landed frequently, the former blow almost invariably stopping on Biss's damaged optic which was closed completely. Just when the beach boy had overcome the sailor's slight lead and was beginning to sail out in front, Biss landed a darby right to the button that shook Mexico all the way down. That punch evened matters.

Joe Grimm, badly dented from his bout at Vernon Tuesday night, gave way his place on the card to Henry Gatten. Gatten slightly outpointed Young Sheller but was awarded a draw. Sheller held his own until he broke a bone in his right hand in the last round. He was helpless thereafter and Gatten punished him severely.

Johnny Nandez whipped the ducking little Joe Monroe, a game kid but a poor opponent for a boy like Nandez. Monroe was floored by a smack to the jaw in the second and was always second best. It was a poor match.

Dugan Stops Benson

Eddie Dugan rushed Eddie Benson into a corner and knocked him kicking with one punch after about sixty seconds of first round milling. Benson was out cold and Referee Tommy Quinlan didn't even finish the count over him.

Two big fellows, one styling himself Battling Weir and the other Eddie Carl, went two and a half dizzy rounds before Weir got wise that Carl's stomach was a vulnerable spot. The fight stopped one punch later. It was a riot while it lasted.

Practical Notes on the S. S. Lesson

Prepared for The Register by Cal. Ogburn

Lesson for June 3. Jer. 35:5-14, 18, 19. JEREMIAH, THE PROPHET OF COURAGE.

Jeremiah stands as the representative of all who have been—or may be—identified with any "Lost Cause," that, because of its worthiness, should not have been "lost." During forty long eventful years Jeremiah struggled against the inevitable. A son of Hilkiah the priest, he must have been from the first a man of standing, well known, the owner of a landed estate at Anathoth near Jerusales, and, therefore, should have had a great and wholesome influence. But he was unable, try as he might, to stay the rising tide that was to sweep the kingdom of Judah out of existence.

A remnant of his own people, against his expostulation, went into Egypt, compelling him to go with them, where, according to Jerome, he was put to death. And so ended the fruitless, thankless, life-long efforts of this prophet of God to save his country and his people from destruction.

A Successful Failure

From all that is recorded we can learn of nothing that Jeremiah ever said or did that made a lasting impression for good. He never so much as received the encouragement of a temporary success. And yet he kept on and on with his pleading, remonstrating, warning, just as though he was meeting with the most encouraging response. Why did he do it? There is one answer above all others: he was doing the will of God.

Jeremiah was not, after all, the champion of a "Lost Cause.' God's "Cause" never is lost. The people to whom Jeremiah spoke from God stubbornly refused his counsel and perished. But the cause of truth, justice and righteousness, to which Jeremiah devoted his life, is as everlasting as the throne of God. Judged by human standards, no man is bound to succeed, but he is under obligation to do the will of God, and doing that no effort of his goes unrequited. Believe that, and you will yield to no discouragement, and believe it you must, if you accept the justice of God as fundamental to his nature.

"I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites bowls full of wine, and cups; and I said unto them, Drink ye wine."—v. 5. Jeremiah was not tempting the Rechabites to drink wine. He knew that they were such thorough abstainers from all intoxicants that there would be no temptation to them in what he did.

An Object Lesson

Jeremiah meant to teach and reprove his own people by the use of this striking object lesson. A pictured truth is the most appealing. Here was a wandering, nomad, Gypsy-like band of people who had taken refuge for the time being from Nebuchadrezzar in the city of Jerusalem.

Jeremiah would use them to give instruction and reproof. He was original and resourceful in his methods. The teacher before his class, the preacher from the pulpit, the editor—in fact, all who occupy the place of an instructor—must make use of means that will arrest and hold the attention, if the truth taught is to be apprehended. And nothing is quite so well suited to do this as an apt illustration. Do not hesitate to use the unconventional, if by so doing you can impress a vital truth.

"But they said, We will drink no wine; for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father, commanded us saying, Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your sons forever."—v. 6. Behold the influence of one man who who dared to be unconventional and unpopular! Jonadab had lived almost three centuries before—and still lived—and yet lives. No man who advances the common good ever dies. His name may be lost in oblivion, but his influence is immortal. The "Rechabites," of various names and orders, or none at all, have come to be an innumerable company.

To be a "teetolar" is no longer to be thought peculiar or ridiculous. Millions have been what Jonadab alone saw—in a practical way—that total abstinence from the use of all intoxicants is conducive to happiness and long life.

The Simple Life

While we have gained much in numerous ways during the last half century, we have lost much. We have lost, or are in great danger of losing, the ability to be simple in our manner of living. The loom of life becomes more and more complicated, and difficult and noisy in its operation. And the fabric that is woven is not of that uniformly high quality and subdued colors that was of our fathers weaving. We have neither time nor inclination to be leisurely, meditative, and thoroughly appreciative of the best that life might be made to contain. Ours is a nation of great and rapidly-growing cities, where there is constantly more or less turmoil, turbulence and trouble. Maybe it will all end in one sublime crash, as was the ending of the kingdom of Judah,—but more likely we shall gradually return to the quiet of the country and suburban life, and to the "simple pleasures that always please.' If we remain city dwellers. We learned, with Jonadab, that wine is not conducive to health, wealth or happiness, and outlawed strong drink as a beverage. And the time probably will come when the "simple life" will make an irresistible appeal. Let the "Jeremiahs' continue to point to the "Rechabites" as models and it will be done.

REINCARNATION IS BLAMED FOR CHAOS

CHICAGO, May 28.—Reincarnation is responsible for the present turbulent situation in Europe, delegates to the convention of the American Thesoophical Society declared here.

"The Romans were reincarnated into the English in whole groups," said A. Eugene Deaderick, one of the 700 delegates. "The Carthagenians were reincarnated into the Germans and the Greeks into the French.

"Thus the ancient Latreds and wars were perpetuated.

H. J. Budd, chairman of the society declared reincarnation is a proven fact; that the human ego is more highly developed each life time and finally approaches the state of super-human genius.

"Christ was a super-human," Deaderick declared.

Police Dog, Devoid Of Outer Garb, Now Is Hunting Barrel

"Starky," the police dog, has a hair cut.

In itself, a haircut isn't such an important operation, but when a large, fur-covered canine is involved, it becomes a matter of greater consequence.

The denuding process covered a greater area than haircuts usually do, and according to Officer Howell who is official guardian of Starky, the four-footed sleuth presents a changed appearance.

"He acted sort of ashamed after the tonsorial act was completed," Howell said today. "He walked around like he was looking for a barrel."

Anyway, the animal who has walked the beats with the best of Santa Ana's patrolmen, is now in perfect disguise, and may, according to City Marshal Rogers, be assigned to the detective squad with Sid Smithwick.

SEATTLE WILL SEE SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHS

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who is lecturing here on spirit manifestations, answered charges made by Dr. J. Allen Gilbert of Portland and by the Seattle society of psychic research.

The Seattle society asked that the Lally "spirit photographs" which Conan Doyle is carrying, be withheld from exhibition in Seattle because they were not authenticated.

Conan Doyle today replied that the photographs were particularly well authenticated. He said he "would certainly show them in Seattle."

Reply to Dr. Gilbert, who has offered $500 to Conan Doyle or any one else who can transmit a code agreed upon by Dr. Gilbert and his wife, now dead, Conan Doyle said: "These gifts from the beyond are controlled from the other side. We cannot say why one man gets assurances and another does not. For years I got none. Now I get many. We must go by the evidence that so many thousands, including many of the world's foremost scientists and leaders of thought, have actually had this consolation even though Dr. Gilbert has failed to get it."

Dr. Gilbert said he had received thus far 135 answers from mediums, none of which are correct.

NORMA TALMADGE, O'BRIEN ON WEST END SCREEN

If "Her Only Way" were not such a good photoplay as it is the real film-fan would find a visit to the West End theatre where Norma Talmadge is starring in the George Scarborough pay well worth while in the satisfaction that comes from seeing Miss Talmadge and Eugene O'Brien once more acting together in the same scenes.

The work of these two players in "Her Only Way" registers their efforts at a time when they were each bubbling with enthusiasm, each going ahead to honors on the screen and thus, working in their own interest, striving to make every scene and incident count in their favor.

These two players work out, in "Her Only Way", an interesting story of love and suspicion; intrigue and jealousy and selfish villainy in a highly edifying manner and the "surprise finish" gives the "kick" of satisfaction that comes when the plot detectives are baffled and happiness comes to end all well.

HARRISON FORD IN CAST OF PRINCESS FILM

Harrison Ford, as leading man in "When Love Comes", Helen Jerome Eddy's first independent starring vehicle now playing at the Princess theatre, gives us the proper touch of sentiment and romance to the role of the young and timid lover. His playing in the picture has been the subject of no end of favorable comment among screen fans who look deeply into the problems of photoplay production.

Harrison Ford has served as leading man for many of the foremost stars of the screen. Among his most notable achievements in recent months was his skilful playing opposite Norma Talmadge in "Smilin' Through."

The lobby of the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco, whach has seen international famous notables from all corners of the globe and which has been the site of many political convention headquarters, including the last Democratic convention, plays an important part in Marshall Neilan's "Fools First," which begins a two-day engagement at the Yost theater tonight.

Richard Dix, Claire Windsor and other players in this picture made the trip to San Francisco with Mr. Neilan, in order to give the public one of the most attractive lobby scenes ever staged and to insure an "honest-to-goodness" atmosphere for those scenes.

STARS RISK DEATH IN "THE GO-GETTER."

Several near accidents marked the filming of certain scenes for the production, "The Go-Getter," now showing at the Temple theater. Seena Owen, playing the leading feminine role, was slightly bruised b ythe wing of the airplane used in the production, and the leading man, T. Roy Barnes, risked his life by standing on the tracks in the path of a swiftly approacning train, jumping to safety when the engine was only a few feet away.

"The Go-Getter" is an excellent picturization of the story by Peter B. Kyne. The cast is excellent.

Rosin soap spray is especially good to use for scale on lemon and orange trees. Use one pound to about three gallons of water. A thorough spraying is almost as effective as a fumigation, if done at the proper time. Kerosene or distillate is often added, but should be used with care to prevent burning of foliage and fruit. We handle the Rosin soaps in one, three and forty pound cans.

ORANGE MAN IS BADLY BURNED ABOUT HANDS

ORANGE, June 1.—With his face and one arm swathed in bandages, Walter Lembke, this city, today was recovering from severe burns sustained when a gasoline stove exploded virtually in his face as he was about to toss it from a tent at Serra, near San Juan Capistrano.

Was Camping

The accident which might have proven fatal had Lembke's clothing caught fire, happened during a camping trip late last week.

The stove, one of the common gasoline camping variety, did not belong to Lembke but was in the tent adjoining that of the local people.

Lembke, who happened to be passing, found the stove ablaze on the floor of the tent which at that time was unoccupied.

Fearing that the flames might catch the tent and be transferred to automobiles parked about the place. Lembke picked up the flaming stove to toss it out in the open.

Just as he prepared to hurl it out of the tent, the tank exploded, severely burning Lembke's right arm and blistering his entire face.

Emergency treatment was applied at the camping grounds and then Lembke,, suffering untold pain, was hurried to his home where a physician attended him.

Sounds Warning

"There is grave danger in connection with the use of gasoline stoves on camping trips, or for that matter, the home," Lembke stated today in issuing a warning to prevent recurrence of similar mishaps.

WESTMINSTER, June 1.—Mr. and Mrs. John Nankervis and family have moved to their new home a mile east of Garden Grove. They began to move the last of the week. Mr. Nankervis was taken quite sick Sunday and his brothers Tom and Will Nankervis assisted in the moving this week.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray stopping in Dallas in the most exclusive suite in the most exclusive hotel, is the enemy of Colonel Henry Nelson, son of Bell Nelson, banker, Gray becomes friendly with the Briskow family, who have struck oil. Besides Gus and Ma Briskow there is a daughter, Allegheny, and a son called Bud. Pa Briskow takes Ma and Allie to the mountains, where they stay at an expensive hotel. Allie has a tutor named Mrs. Ring. Bud is sent away to school. Gray is in love with Barbara Parker, known as Bob, who buys land for Colonel Henry Nelson.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

AT such times Allie was more than disagreeable. Hate flamed in her eyes, she beat herself with her fists, she kicked the furniture, and she broke things. Once she even butted her head against the wall, uttering language meanwhile that all but caused her companion to swoon.

Mrs. Ring resigned after this final exhibition, but, lacking the courage to face Allie in a mood like that, she went to Gus Briskow.

"It is simply impossible to remain," she told him. "Already I'm a physical wreck, for I never get a moment's rest. The salary is attractive, but Allegheny is too much for me."

"You're kinda worked up, Miz' Ring. Mebbe I can make it pleasanter for you."

"In what way, may I ask?"

"Well, by payin' you more."

"You are generous. The salary we agreed upon isn't low."

"Try it, ma'am, for a little while. Mebbe it won't bother you so much after you get used to it. Allie likes you."

"And I—I am interested in her. She is progressing, too; in fact, I have never seen anyone learn more rapidly. But—she is so unusual. Still, perhaps I am the one—perhaps it is my duty, under the circumstances—"

Allie was sitting alone in her room one evening, fagged out from a hard day. Some people were talking on the veranda outside her window, and she heard one say:

"The girl can look really stunning."

"Exactly. I don't understand where she gets her looks, for her parents are—impossible. Wouldn't you know what they were?"

Allie needed no clearer indication of who was under discussion.

"She's a glorious rider," the first speaker was saying. "She passed me the other day, going like sin, with her face blazing and that big, lively chestnut running flat. The way she took that curve about the Devil's Slide brought my heart into my mouth."

The breathless eavesdropper felt a hot wave of delight pour over her, her very flesh seemed to ripple like the fur of a cat when it is stroked.

"Oh, she's a picture, mounted! Seems to have complete confidence in herself; and the strength of a giantess, too. But—my God! when she's on her feet!" And have you heard her talk?" Evidently the other speaker had, for there came the sound of low laughter, a sound that stabbed Allie Briskow like a bayonet and left her white and furious.

She was unusually silent and somber for the next three or four days; she went through her exercises without vim; at her studies she was both stupid and sullen. When Mrs. Ring's patience was exhausted and her frayed nerves finally gave out, Allie rounded upon her with a violence unparalleled.

In a panic Mrs. Ring sought out Gus Briskow and again resigned. By this time, however, the novelty of her resignation had largely worn off, for seldom did more than two weeks elapse without a hysterical threat to quit. Gus decided, after some consideration to wire Calvin Gray and offer to pay his traveling expenses if he would come to Burlington Notch for a few days.

CHAPTER XIV

Allie Shows Her Teeth

ONE accomplishment that Allegheny mastered with gratifying ease was dancing. It came naturally to her, for both she and Buddy were full of music.

Having schooled her in the simpler forms of ballroom dancing, Delamaster suggested a course in the deeper intricacies of fancy dancing.

"You're getting on," he told her, one day. "That last was splendid—top hole—absolutely."

It was on that afternoon that Delamater had told the clerk of discovering Ma Briskow alone in the woods. There was an open golf tournament at the Notch, prominent amateurs and professionals were competing, and the hotel was crowded to its capacity with players, fashionable followers of the game and a small army of society reporters and sport writers.

Delamater was especially agreeable today, more than usually flattering. Not for some time did his scholar become conscious of the subtle change in his demeanor.

They had become well acquainted by now and were on a basis of easy familiarity, nevertheless it came as a shock to Allie to be called by her first name—such a shock that she missed a step and trod on Delamater's foot. They came to a pause.

The dancing master was tall and slim his face was on a level with hers, and now he smiled into it, saying, "My mistake, my dear."

"I reckon it was." The girl's eyes were glowing queerly, and the man was amused at her evident agitation. Her first word had thrown the poor thing into a flurry.

They began to dance again, and, after a moment, with a gently rising inflection, Delamater murmured, "You heard what I called you?" He approved of the sachet that Allie used, and he became acutely conscious of the jewels resting in the palm of his hand. "You don't care?" he said, with his lips close to her ear.

"Humph! I'm not caring for anything or anybody today."

It is the lot of any man in the heat of his desire to make mistakes, and Delamater erred gravely at this moment. He kissed Allie. Without warning he kissed her full and fair upon her red, half-open lips.

For the the briefest instant of amazement the two stood motionless in the middle of the polished floor while the phonograph brayed on; then Allie shook herself free of her partner, and in the same movement she smote him a mighty slap that sent him reeling.

With a cry he scrambled to his feet. "What the hell—?" he growled, savagely.

Allie's face was chalky. Breathlessly, curiously, she inquired, "Wha'd you do that for?"

"What did I do it for?" Say! You ought to be complimented—tickled to death." Delamater rubbed his cheek and glared at her. "By God! I wish you were a man. Oh, don't worry, I won't touch you again! Who the hell would, after that?" Allie opened her lips to speak, but he ran on more angrily as the pain bit into him. "Thought I meant it, eh? Why, you lumbering ox—"

"Then you ain't in love with me or—or anything?"

"Love?" The speaker uttered an unpleasant sound indicative of scorn. "Wake up, sister! What d'you take me for? Why, your mother talks bird talk, and your dad lives in a box stall and eats oats with his knife! Here I kid you alone a little bit—slip you a kiss, as I would any girl, and you—you—" Delamater stuttered impotently. "Love? I guess I'm the first regular fellow that ever gave you a chance."

Delamater was surprised when his pupil turned her back upon him, strode to the nearest window and flung it open as if for air; his surprise deepened when she faced him again and moved in his direction. Her expression caused him to utter a profane warning, but she continued to bear down upon him, and when she reached out to seize him he struck at her as he would have struck at a man.

To those who are familiar with Burlington Notch, it will be remembered that the hotel is pitched upon a slope and that the rooms on the first floor of the east wing are raised a considerable distance above the lawn. The windows of these east rooms overlook the eighteenth green, and during tournaments they are favorable vantage points of golf widows and enthusiasts who are too old to follow the competitors around the course. Today they were filled, for an international title was at issue and Herring, prince of amateurs, was playing off the final round of his match with the dour Scotch professional, McLeod.

A highly enthusiastic "gallery" accompanied the pair, a crowd composed not only of spectators, but also of officials, defeated players, newspaper writers, camera men, caddies, and the like.

Out of the air overhead came the sound of a disturbance and every face turned. A most amazing thing was in the way of happening, a phenomenon unique in the history of tournaments, for a man was being thrust forth from one of the hotel windows, perhaps twenty-five feet above the ground—a writhing, struggling, kicking man with fawn-colored spats. He was being ejected painlessly but firmly, and by a girl—a grim-faced young woman of splendid proportions. For a moment she allowed him to dangle; then she dropped him into a handsome Dorothy Perkins rosebush. He landed with a shriek. Briefly the amazon remained framed in the casement, staring with dark defiance down into the upturned faces; her deep bosom was heaving, her smoky hair was slightly disarranged; she allowed her eyes to rest upon the figure entangled among the thorns beneath her, then she closed the window.

Mrs. Ring was waiting on the veranda for Gus Briskow when he returned to the hotel about dark. He had learned to dread the sight of her on that verando, for it was her favorite resigning place—what Gus called her "quitting spot," and it was evident tonight that she was in a quitting mood, a mood more hysterical than ever before. It was some time before he could get at the facts, and even then he could not fully appreciate the enormity of the disgrace that had overwhelmed Allie's instructress.

Avocado Growers Attention!
Day by day in every way our fine, rich, avocado lands that we are offerings at from $650 to $750 per acre at Carlsbad, California, are growing less and less.
We want to urge you now while the selections are still first class to avail yourselves of the opportunities offered you of purchasing this rich land, fully water stocked, in this mild, even climate, close to the sea with fine transportation and on ten yearly payments while it may yet be had.
We also offer for your selection beautiful, highly improved Palisade residence lots, fully restricted, some on the State Highway, overlooking the sea at an elevation of from seventy to ninety feet.
Our sales are growing so rapidly that we fully predict that before the summer is out, we will have none of this fine land to offer you.
While your trees are coming into bearing grow bulbs, flowers and two out-of-season vegetable crops per year at fine profits.

2. That the said franchise will be granted and shall be held and enjoyed only upon the terms and conditions herein contained, and the said grantee must within thirty days after the passage of the ordinance granting such franchise, file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, a written acceptance of the terms and conditions therein expressed.

3. The term "grantee" hereinafter used herein shall be held to include the grantee, his, its or their successors or assigns.

4. That the grantee of said franchise shall have the right to construct and maintain such traps, manholes, appliances and attachments as may be necessary properly to maintain the pipes and pipe lines laid or constructed under said franchise, and said traps, manholes, appliances and attachments shall at all times be kept flush with the surface of the highway and so located as to conform to any order of the Board of Supervisors in regard thereto, and not to interfere with the use of the highway for travel. The grantee of said franchise shall have the right, subject to such regulations as are now or may hereafter be in force to make all necessary excavations in said highways for the construction and repair of said pipe lines, traps, manholes, appliances and attachments.

5. That if the said pipe lines shall be laid along any paved or macadam highway in the County of Orange, they shall be placed at the edge of the highway so as not to disturb the paved or macadamized surface, and in no event shall any pipe be laid across the macadam or paved highway without a special permit from the Board of Supervisors so to do, which permit shall specify the manner in which the said pipes shall be laid across the highway and may provide for the repair of the highways after the said pipes have been laid, by the officers of the County at the expense of the grantee, and upon the presentation of a bill therefor the grantee shall pay the sum at once, or in the event of its failure so to do, this franchise shall thereupon be forfeited.

6. That all pipes, pipe lines, traps, manholes, attachments and appliances constructed, erected or maintained under the provisions of this franchise shall be constructed, erected and maintained in accordance to and in conformity with all the ordinances, rules or regulations now or hereafter adopted or prescribed by the Board of Supervisors of Orange County, provided that all pipes and pipe lines laid under said franchise shall be of first class material and subject to the approval of said Board of Supervisors, provided that no pipe laid under said franchise shall exceed ten inches in diameter.

7. That the work of laying or repairing all pipes, pipe lines, traps, manholes, attachments and appliances shall be conducted with the least possible hindrance to the use of the highways for purposes of travel, and as soon as the laying, constructing, erecting or repairing of any pipe, pipe line, trap, manhole, attachment or appliance is completed, all portions of the highway which have been excavated or otherwise injured thereby, shall be placed in as good condition as the same was before the laying, constructing, erecting or repairing of any pipe, pipe line, trap, manhole, attachment or appliance, to the satisfaction of the Board of Supervisors of said County, and that any damage or injury suffered by any person by reason of any excavation or obstacle being improperly guarded during said work, shall be borne by the grantee, his, its or their successors or assigns, of this franchise.

8. That the County of Orange reserves the right to change the grade of any highway over which this franchise is granted, and the grantee of said franchise, his, its, of their successors or assigns, shall within thirty days change the location of all pipes, traps, manholes, appliances, and attachments laid, constructed or erected hereunder so as to conform to such change of grade.

9. That if any portion of any highway shall be damaged by reason of breaks or leaks in any pipe or pipe lines, traps, manholes, attachments or appliances laid or constructed under this franchise, the grantee thereof shall at its own expense, repair any such damage and put such highway in as good condition as it was before such break or leak, to the satisfaction of the Board of Supervisors of said County.

10. That if said grantee shall fail to comply with any instructions of said Board of Supervisors with respect to the location of any of said pipes, pipe lines, traps, manholes, appliances or attachments, or the repair of any damage to highways within ten days after the service of written notice upon said grantee, his, its, or their successors or assigns, requiring compliance therewith, the said Board of Supervisors may immediately do whatever work is necessary to carry out said instructions at the cost and expense of said grantee, which cost by the acceptance of this franchise said grantee agrees to pay upon demand.

11. The grantee shall not commence the construction of any pipe lines under the provisions of this franchise until it shall first have obtained a permit from the Board of Supervisors so to do. Such permit shall be granted upon application of the grantee, which application shall show the following facts: the highway upon which it is proposed to construct or lay the said pipes, the length of pipe lines proposed to be constructed or laid upon the highway, the size and description of the pipe intended to be used in the construction of the pipe line and such other facts as the Board of Supervisors may require. On the first day of July and January of each year after the date of the granting of this franchise the grantee shall render a statement to the County of Orange showing in detail the permits issued and the total length of pipe lines for the construction of which under the terms of this franchise, permits have been taken out during the preceding six months, and if the total length of pipe line actually laid during said six months, is less than that permitted under the permits issued, such statements shall in addition to the above show in detail the total length of pipe line actually laid under said permit, and in either event the grantee shall accompany said report with the payment of One Dollar ($1.00) per rod or major fraction thereof of pipe line which has been actually constructed under the permit taken out during the preceding six months under the provisions of said franchise.

12. The grantee hereof shall also file with the Board of Supervisors on or about the 15th day of January of each year during the life of this franchise, a map or set of maps showing in detail the exact location and size of all mains, laterals, and surface pipes installed with the surface of the public highways in the territory hereinbefore described belonging to or used by or under the control of such grantee, or his its or their successors or assigns. Whenever any pipe, tunnel, or other structure located under the surface of said highways is abandoned, then within thirty days thereafter the said grantee shall file with said Board of Supervisors a statement in writing giving in detail the location of all such pipes, tunnels, or structures, which shall have been abandoned subsequent to the filing of the last preceding map, or set of maps. Said maps and said statement shall be duly verified by the said grantee or his, its, or their successors or assigns.

13. The said grantee shall also within thirty days after the granting this franchise file with the Board of Supervisors of Orange County a detailed statement showing the location and length in lineal feet of all pipe lines constructed by the grantee on any of the public highways within the district described in this franchise and for which no franchise has been obtained, if any such there be, and shall accompany such statements with the payment of One ($1.00) Dollar per rod or major fraction thereof, of pipe lines shown therein.

14. That the grantee of said franchise shall have the right during the period for which said franchise is granted to transport, furnish and distribute oil and its byproducts through the said pipe line.

15. That the said grantee shall during the life of this franchise, pay to the County of Orange, in lawful money of the United States, two per cent of the gross annual receipts of such grantee arising from the operation, use, or possession of said franchise. No percentage shall be paid for the first five years succeeding the date of such franchise, but thereafter such percentage shall be paid annually.

16. It shall be the duty of the grantee of said franchise to file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors at the expiration of six years from the date of the granting of said franchise, and at the expiration of each and every year thereafter a statement verified by oath of said grantee, or by the oath of the manager or presiding officer of said grantee, showing in detail the total gross receipts or gross earning collected or received by the said grantee during the preceding twelve months from the transportation and distribution of oils or their by-products through any part of the system, for the construction and operation of which said franchise is granted and within ten days after the filing of the aforesaid statement it shall be the duty of said grantee to pay to the County Treasurer of Orange County the aggregate sum of said two per cent of the amount of gross annual receipts arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise, and if the amount paid is incorrect in the judgment of the Board of Supervisors, they may order the payment of such additional sum as they may find due hereunder, and any and all sums due under said franchise, if not paid may be collected by suit.

17. The said grantee shall not sell, transfer or assign said franchise, or the rights or privileges granted thereby, without the consent of the Board of Supervisors, nor shall said franchise or right or privileges be sold, transferred or assigned, except by duly executed instrument in writing filed in the office of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange, and nothing in said franchise contained shall be construed to grant to said grantee any right to sell, transfer or assign said franchise, or any rights or privileges thereby granted, except in the manner aforesaid.

18. That any neglect, failure or refusal to comply with any of the conditions of said franchise shall thereupon immediately effect a forfeiture thereof, and the said County by its Board of Supervisors may thereupon declare said franchise forfeited, and may exclude said grantee from further use of the highways of said County under said franchise, and said grantee shall thereupon and immediately surrender all rights in and to the same, and said franchise shall be deemed and shall remain null and void and of no effect.

19. The grantor or any municipal corporation now existing or hereafter formed shall have the right at any time, after five years from the taking effect of the ordinance granting said franchise, to acquire the work, property, and rights of the grantee, or any portion thereof, constructed, acquired, or operated under the said franchise upon making just and reasonable compensation therefor.

20. Notice is hereby given that sealed bids in writing will be received at the office of the Board of Supervisors for said franchise up to ten o'clock in the forenoon of the 26th day of June, 1923.

21. That the said bids will be opened at that time, that all bids must be for the payment of a stated sum in gold coin of the United States, which sum shall not be less than Two Hundred Dollars, and that the franchise will be struck off, sold and awarded to the person, firm or corporation, who shall make the highest cash bid therefor, provided that at the time of opening said bids, any responsible person, firm, or corporation, present or represented, may bid for said franchise a sum not less than ten per cent above the highest sealed bid therefor, and that said bid so made may be raised not less than ten per cent by any other responsible bidder and said bidding may so continue until finally said franchise shall be struck off, sold and awarded by said Board of Supervisors to the highest bidder therefor in gold coin of the United States, provided further that said Board of Supervisors may in its discretion reject all bids received for said franchise.

22. Each sealed bid must be accompanied with cash or certified check payable to the County Treasurer of Orange County for the full amount of said bid, and no sealed bid will be considered unless said cash or check is inclosed therewith, and the successful bidder must deposit at least ten per cent of the amount of his bid with the Clerk of said County before said franchise will be struck off to him, and if he shall fail to make such deposit immediately his bid will not be received and will be considered as void, and said franchise will then and there be again offered for sale to the bidder who shall make the highest cash bid therefor, subject to the same conditions as to deposit, as above mentioned. Said procedure will be had until said franchise is struck off, sold and awarded to a bidder who shall make the necessary deposit of at least ten per cent of the amount of his bid, as herein provided. Said successful bidder shall deposit with the County Clerk within twenty-four hours after the acceptance of his bid the remaining ninety per cent of the amount thereof, and in case he or it fails to do so, then the said deposit theretofore made will be forfeited and the award of said franchise will be void and said franchise will then and there by said Board of Supervisors be again offered for sale to the highest bidder therefor in the same manner and under the same restrictions as hereinbefore provided and in case said bidder fails to deposit with the County Clerk the remaining ninety per cent of his bid within twenty-four hours after its acceptance, the award to him of said franchise will be set aside and the deposit theretofore made by him will be forfeited and no further proceedings for the sale of said franchise will be had until the same shall be readvertised for sale.

23. Notice is also hereby given that the successful bidder for said franchise must within five days after franchise is awarded to him or it, file with the said Board of Supervisors a bond running to said County in the penal sum of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars with at least two good and sufficient sureties to be approved by the said Board of Supervisors, conditioned that said bidder shall well and truly observe, fulfill and perform each and every term and condition of said franchise, and that in case of any breach of the condition of said bond the whole amount of the penal sum therein named shall be taken and deemed to be liquidated damages, and shall be recoverable from the principal and sureties upon said bond. If said bond be not so filed the award of said franchise will be set aside and any money paid therefor will be forfeited.

ON TEACHING HISTORY

"What we have to do", says President William A. Neilson of Smith College, "is clearly not to start counter propaganda, but merely to hold up the hands of scholarship in seeking and telling the truth. Leave the writing and teaching of history to the scholars, and demand that the politicians keep hands off."

It sounds like very good sense, this declaration, but we cannot help but wonder. Who was it wrote the histories that were used in our schools 20 and 30 and 40 years ago? The difficulties which we have today are due directly to the prejudices instilled by the scholars of that generation, prejudices to which the self-seeking politicians find it only too easy to make appeal.

Those were the days before most of us knew that John Hancock was a smuggler or that Thomas Jefferson complimented the French Jacobins on the September massacres of the Terror, when we knew all about the Indian allies of Great Britain in the War of Revolution and forgot the efforts Congress made to win the support of the savages, and the bounties certain of the colonies offered for scalps; when Andrew Jackson was the man who swore "by the Eternal" he would defend the union rather than the man who, as Lecky said, "was the founder of the most stupendous system of political corruption in modern history."

We know now that George Washington did not cut down the cherry tree; that he may, perhaps, have fibbed; and that at the Brandywine he swore "like an archangel" as the surprised staff officer had it. Are we any better off?

The politicians have small ground for satisfaction in their reading of history, but the scholars, so-called, have hardly reason to boast. One group appeals to ignorant prejudice while the other would make us altogether too wise. Is there no reasonable middle ground?

True, "America should produce its own rubber," as the rubber manufacturers maintain, even though for some years it would require considerable stretching to make the supply go round.

COUNTING ON CANADA

Every year Canada buys from Great Britain something less than $150,000,000 worth of goods and sells the mother country, in return, $400,000,000 worth. Under the circumstances it is hard to understand the proposal of London bankers that Canada be the medium through which the United Kingdom discharge its indebtedness to the United States.

If British capital were the dominant factor in Canadian industry it would be different, but it is the capital of the United States that counts there. American capital controls Canada's timber, wood pulp, nickel, asbestos, gold and other mining interests, and conservative estimates place its share in Canadian manufacturing at 60 per cent. British capital came too late into the field.

Moreover, whereas Canada's industrial census of 1921 placed the Dominion's industrial capital at approximately $3,000,000,000, bonds held this side the border bring our investment in Canada well above $2,000,000,000.

Anyway you look at it, Canada and the United States are very much in business together, and the only way Great Britain could hope to pay her debt through Canada would be by adding so extensively to her Canadian purchases as to establish new credits for investment in natural resources.

As it is, Canada, with its own fiscal system, gives the motherland no inside track. If England wants to develop Canadian resources as a means of paying the war debt, she must compete with the capital of the rest of the world and run her risks with it.

THE VANISHED ISLAND

If persistent reports of the disappearance of Easter Island are confirmed, a new mystery is added to one of the biggest mysteries in the world.

When this little island was discovered, just two centuries ago, midway between Chile and the main group of South Sea Islands, it was inhabited by a remarkable group of statues. There were hundreds of them, mostly human figures portraying an unknown race, carved of solid volcanic rock, many of them 70 feet or more in height and buried to a considerable depth in the earth. Scientists studied them in vain. It was impossible to determine their age or their purpose, or by what people they were erected.

The tradition is that the island, shortly before its discovery, had risen from the sea to which it now seems to have returned. Volcanic Islands often do queer things. If so, those statues may represent a highly developed race which was destroyed untold thousands of years ago. For all anyone knows, Easter Island may have been the highest mountain peak of a submerged continent. There are traditions of a Pacific continent, called Lemuria, comparable to the lost Atlantis told of by Plato.

Such changes are an old story to this earth. Earth history is one long record, as geology shows, of land emerging and submerging, of mountains and islands and continents rising and falling, and the process is still going on. Wherever a salt bed is found in drilling for minerals, there is evidence of an ancient sea. All land and all life seem to have come from the sea originally, and may return to it in the end, like Easter Island and its secrets.

Seeing how much of a row is stirred up by printing guesses at the "greatest Americans", we wonder what would happen if the experts started making lists of the smallest.

FOR BETTER MAPS

A plea for better maps has been issued by writers in the New York Times letter column. It is a call which many people will echo. One of the letters deserves quoting in part, as follows:

"If there is a good detail map of Greater New York, comparable with the sectional city maps in Baedeker's guide books, I have never found it. When it comes to maps of other cities and countries, our publishers seem to follow the policy of splendid isolation. The idea of large scale—self-reading maps of the kind published by British and German houses—maps as tools—has not yet been applied to the atlases of our own country. As for the city maps, when I look over the splendid German street maps of London, Paris, Rio de Janeiro and other cities, I wonder why the Germans never published similar maps of our own cities."

Here is a field for American competition with German skill not generally considered, which will bear consideration. It is true that American magazines occasionally publish maps, domestic or foreign, which are all that the most ardent map student could wish. But these are as a rule devoted to areas under public discussion at the time, and leave the strictures on American maps as a whole still deserved. With the rapidly developing events on every hand arousing public interest in map study, some opportunist publisher should see the light.

A lot of Americans seem determined to have homes of their own this year, even if they have to get along with only one automobile. Then, too, the new fashion of making the family garage a part of the house may have something to do with the home-building boom.

Blue Sky Law Enforcement

San Francisco Journal.

The California commissioner of corporations is trying to do his duty. His task is large and intricate. Upon his success in dealing with the conditions at present affecting the investment field depends the welfare and continued effective existence of the blue sky law. No law can insure honesty among people who are bent upon being dishonest, but proper enforcement can make dishonesty so unsafe that it will be reduced to a minimum. But no matter how well such regulatory laws are enforced they can never serve as a substitute for common sense and caution on the part of the investors.

It ought to be a maximum among inexperienced people who have money to invest not to go afield with their money in search of untried projects holding out glittering promises of large returns. People who lack the opportunity to investigate personally, or who lack the knowledge to form accurate judgments of the soundness of any proposition, ought to seek the guidance, or at least the advice of investment bankers of established reputation and large experience. If they are not fortunate enough to have any acquaintances among these people they had better keep their money in some sound savings bank until such time as they can inform themselves. Their only safety lies in assuming that they are going to be defrauded until they know something substantial to the contrary. Sometimes the financial wolves have most luxurious dens and all the appearances of prosperity. They may have apparently influential connections and good social standing. But these are no tokens of security. To understand the investment business requires close study and wide experience, and if the investor is not so equipped he ought to make sure that he is relying on some honest person who is.

The cases of two so-called investment concerns now under investigation illustrate the need of this caution. Evidence has been brought to light which tends to show that money paid by prospective investors found its way into the pockets of the officers without adding to the assets of the company even so much as a tall red cent. Just how much dividends a company could be expected to pay on investments of that kind the shorn lambs will only learn when it is too late to do anything about it. The commissioner cannot lock all the stable doors.

The New Highway Law

San Francisco Chronicle.

The new highway act marks a great advance in our methods of dealing with State highways. In the effort to cover the entire State quickly on the lines as marked out in the original act the construction of a large mileage was too light, even for the pleasure and tourist traffic, which was then mainly in mind. All such roads went promptly to pieces under the motor-truck traffic, which so promptly developed and which must be the basis for road specifications hereafter. About 365 miles of such road will be completely reconstructed, at a cost of about $27,000 a mile. For all purposes there will be expended during the biennium about $37,000,000, derived from traffic taxes of various kinds and county taxation. This includes work on State highways and county roads.

The permissible loading of trucks is fixed at weights which it is hoped, that the roadbeds will carry without destruction, and the principle seems to be established that after highways have once been built by State bond issue they must be maintained by some form of taxation of traffic.

The danger from traffic is sought to be minimized by more care in licensing and rigid enforcement of the license laws. Something has been accomplished toward restricting the use of automobiles for felonious purposes by requiring garage keepers to keep certain records and by some other minor provision. Probably more will have to be done in the future.

Summarizing, it may be said that the prospect is that by the end of the coming biennium the highway system of the State will be in condition to provide adequately for all the traffic which can be foreseen.

American Influence

Fresno Republican.

The amicable settlement of the difference between Greece and Turkey has given to the world a dramatic illustration of the power of American influence, when properly used.

For days, M. Venizelos and Ismet Pasha, the accredited delegates of the two nations labored to effect a settlement but seemed to get no nearer to the desired result. Then United States Minister Grew of Switzerland presented to them an urgent appeal from the state department and a few hours later, the danger of war had passed.

The appeal from the United States did not suggest in any way how Greece and Turkey should settle their differences. It would have been highly improper for the United States to presume that it was in a position to suggest any basis for settlement. It had no part in the peace conference, its representative being only an observer.

But the United States did suggest in its appeal, that a renewal of war would long delay reconstruction for both nations and would frighten the foreign capital which is so desirable at this time for upbuilding.

The view of the future, presented as it was, brought to the delegates of the two nations a realization of the folly of any further struggle and a compromise that both have agreed upon as entirely satisfactory has been announced to the world.

The result of this participation will be a powerful argument for those who favor a limited participation by the United States in European affairs.

Good Sense Hard Work

Long Beach Press.

Sensible thinking and hard work! This very sensible and germane suggestion is made, in lieu of legislation, to correct any flaws that may be found in the general economic situation. A high official of the Federal War Finance Corporation puts forth this formula. It is a good one.

The habit is growing upon the people to look too much to legislation for relief. Whenever there is a hill to climb, or a disagreeable situation to be met, forthwith a movement is started to have it dealt with by legislation. This is a mischievous practice and should be discouraged. The people should not become namby-pamby in working out their problems. Good red blood should be in evidence in their dealing with crises and with the rough places in the country's economic path. Paternalism gone mad would go far toward wrecking the whole fabric of individual initiative and wholesome progress in this country.

Sensible thinking and hard work are indicated in coping with defects, ills and critical situations in the Nation's economic life.

Rambling Right Along

Judge Gary, on Christianity

From a Recent Address

Fresh from a Mediterranean cruise, including a visit to the Holy Land, Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the Board of Directors of the United States Steel Corporation, made a speech at the annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute that has attracted widespread attention, because of its strong religious trend.

Judge Gary had scarcely started with a description of his foreign tour, when, mentioning the Holy Land, he launched into a vigorous defense of the Bible against its modernist attackers and urged a broader application of Christian principles.

"The moral and religious principle of the Bible, both the Old and New Testaments," he said, "have never been and can never be, successfully combatted. Since the preservation of history commenced, there has never been anything approaching the Holy Bible as a literary production or a code for a proper and desirable human conduct or as a foundation for future hopes.

"If any here should believe this is an exaggeration, which is not probable, read again this book and you will be surprised. Visit Palestine in the light of, and under the inspiration of the Bible. The landmarks of Palestine are as described in the Bible. The more we read and study, the more we must be convinced of the absolute reliability of the book of books.

"One who reads of, or personally witnesses evidence of the rise and fall of great nations and communities and cities, is led to believe that an overruling God determined their destinies. Such nations as the United States, even, or Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, China, Germany, Austria, Russia, will do well to constantly bear in mind the history of the past and the possibilities of the future. 'Let him that thinketh he stands, take heed, lest he fall'.

"We should, if possible, avoid ill-natured controversies, international, national, state, municipal, public, private, political, sectarian, economic or otherwise. They are numerous at present; indeed, they seem to be fashionable. Where, or in whom, is the blame?"

"'He that is without sin, let him first cast a stone!' Let us diligently search our hearts."

AN ELEGY

They are so sure of you now,
The loving and cruel and blind,
You are so frail and small
Since the light dimmed out of your face.
Death's ultimate commonplace
Has given you back to them all;
Now they can comprehend
And afford to be kind.

You are so plastic now;
So submissive and still,
Your slender, rebellious hands
Have been folded and hidden away.
You, who were too brave to pray
When your soul was scarred by the hands
That they forged through the years
On your youth, and your dream, and your will.

They can be generous now,
They who never have given,
When they gave you a shaft
Complacently branded "At Rest",
I think that you paused in your quest
Worlds away, while you laughed
Your old dauntless laugh
Through your startled new Heaven.

Pursue Our Way in Patience

To "an unconscious plagiarism" on the part of the San Francisco Journal, The Register and its readers are indebted for a bit of very fine literature beautiful and wholesome sentiment and sound philosophy—to say the least. Here it is, with some repetition, but it is good enough for several repetitions:

> The attention of The Journal has been called to an unconscious plagiarism in an editorial appearing Monday morning under the heading "W. S. D. Loses." In the editorial occurred the sentence: "The world is wide; there are a thousand million different human opinions, wills, ambitions, tastes and loves; each person has a different history, constitution, culture, character, from all the rest; human life is the work, the play, the ceaseless action and reaction upon each other of these different atoms. With this in mind we may pursue our way with patience for the opinions of others; an appreciation for everything that is beautiful and good; a temper so genial the views of others shall not wear upon our sensibilities, not taking offense where none is intended."
> "We should remember that the world is wide; that there are a thousand million different human wills, opinions, ambitions, tastes and loves; that each person has a different history, constitution, culture, character, from all the rest; that human life is the work, the play, the ceaseless action and reaction upon each other of these different atoms. Then, we should go forth into life with the smallest expectations, but with the largest patience; with a keen relish for and appreciation of everything beautiful, great, and good, but with a temper so genial that the friction of the world shall not wear upon our sensibilities; with an equanimity so settled that no passing breath nor accidental disturbance shall agitate or ruffle it; with a charity broad enough to cover the whole world's evil and sweet enough to neutralize what is bitter in it—determined not to be offended when no wrong is meant, nor even when it is, unless the offense be against God." * * *
> Due to the inadvertence of the writer, a sentence giving Mrs. Eddy due credit for the excerpt and for the paraphrase which followed was omitted from the original editorial.

Pure Logic

By Berton Braley

The amateur gardner scratched his head,
"This thing is too much for me," he said,
"I plant tomatoes,
Green peas, potatoes,
Lettuce and beans, to meet our needs;
I treat 'em kind
As I ought to do,
But all I find
When the season's through,
Is a bean or two and a lot of weeds."

The amateur gardener thought and thought
On why his gardening came to nought;
From cerebration
An inspiration
Came suddenly into his puzzled brain;
Then he gave a wink
And he cried, "Im sore
That I didn't think
Of that thought before,
A logical plan that is safe and sane!"

So the amateur gardener bought the seeds
Of all the different sorts of weeds,
He planted thistles
And things with bristles
And all plant pests he had heard about;
Then corn and peas,
Potatoes too,
And plants like these
Sprang up and grew
Till they'd choked the weeds and the thistles out!

Gold Nuggets

In a rugged, out-of-the-way region on the ocean side of the Coast ranges, in Monterey county, California, gold nuggets have been found of such size as to suggest that this was once a favorite retreat of the proverbial goose that laid the golden eggs. Matter-of-fact prospectors, however, have saught to find the veins from which such masses of gold, loosened by the weather, were washed into the stream beds. Their search has not been successful, and J. M. Hill, a United States geologist of the Department of the Interior, in a report just published suggests that the nuggets came from rich superficial pockets in very small veins, and that no large and rich deposits are likely to be found by deep mining. The Coast ranges of California, unlike the Sierra Nevada, are not rich in gold, and the occurrence of these large nuggets is exceptional and illustrates the fact, known to many prospectors, that the discovery of a few large nuggets does not necessarily indicate the existence of a rich deposit of gold ore in place.

Mr. Hill's report, entitled "The Los Burros district, Monterey County, California," is published as Bulletin 735J and can be obtained on application to the director of the Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Trees Blown Down

Supervisor Thomas J. Jones of the Inyo National Forest, on a recent snowshoe trip into the country north of Mammoth, discovered that the winter storms had blown down over two million feet of yellow pine and Douglas fir lumber on his forest. It is believed that the severe windstorm that swept Eastern California on February 12 last was the cause of this heavy windthrow. Fortunately, forest officers report that it will be possible to salvage the bulk of the down timber, as the Hess Lumber company of Bishop is operating a government sale in the immediate vicinity.

Icebergs

When pieces of ice, little or big, come in contact it is their habit to freeze together. Thus icebergs are formed from snowflakes. It is estimated that the weight of some of the bigger icebergs of the Atlantic is as much as 2,000,000,000 tons, and they not infrequently tower to a height of 1000 feet above the waves which at that, is but one-tenth of their bulk. To form one of these icebergs may have taken 100 years but even so they are only playthings for the gulf stream.—Compressed Air Magazine.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 20—THE RAGSIES GET NEW CLOTHES.

This is a story about how Nancy dressed up the Ragsies.

One day in Ragsy Land Nancy had an idea. "I'm going to make you some new clothes," she said.

"Who for?" asked Mister Tatters, the little Ragsy man.

"Why all of the Ragsies," she answered. "You just shan't go around any longer looking like ragamuffins."

Mister Tatters looked down at his old overalls all worn to rags and slowly shook his head. "I don't think we need them," he said. "We can work better in old duds."

"Oh, you'll soon get used to them," said Nancy. "You might want to give another party.'

"That's so!" said Mister Tatters reluctantly. "Perhaps it would be better if we dressed up a little. The airy Queen sent us some cloth one time, but we never had any use for it. You'll find it in my bedroom bureau drawer."

Nancy got her scissors and snipped and cut and fitted and sewed and pretty soon she had every single Ragsy man fixed up in a brand-new suit. She made some with long-tail coats and tights like the Brownies wore. And she made some with belated tunics like the gnomes wore. And she made some with short jerkins like the elves wore.

But when they were finished nobody looked happy.

"We shall have to change our names now because we aren't Ragsies any more," said Rag Tag sorrowfully. "We all look like dudes."

"And we'll have to stop helping folks because we're too dressed up," said Bob Tail soberly.

"Well, if that's the way you feel about it, you'd better take your old clothes back," decided Nancy. "Here they are, every one of them."

BIG JAUNT OF CLARA AT END

Convicted 'Hammer Murderess' Still Hopes to Prove Innocence

NOTORIOUS PRISONER IMPOSED ON SHE SAYS

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Clara Phillips will be taken directly to San Quentin penitentiary tonight. Superior Judge McCormick late this afternoon granted a motion of Deputy District Attorney Keyes and signed new commitment papers for her, on the ground that her former appeal had technically been filed a day too late to comply with the law.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—The monotonous clicking of a limited over the desert rails today hastened the end of the six months "vacation" from the county jail of Clara Phillips, escaped "hammer murderess."

Tonight at 7:40 when the Sunset Limited pulls into the station, Clara's sensational jaunt to the tropics, beginning when she crawled through the window of her jail cell December 5, and culminating in her arrest at Tegucigalpa, Honduras, a few weeks ago, will be ancient history.

Her hope of freedom and her dream of fame gone, she will be back where she started—in a plain, white-washed cell in the county jail. There will be one difference, however: her cell will not look out over a friendly roof to the street.

But even these plans may be upset at the last minute. The district attorney's office will breathe much easier once Clara is safely escorced in "murderer's row" of San Quentin.

A final legal skirmish between the rights of the state and Clara's few remaining legal safeguards was to be held late this afternoon in superior court.

Clara's sister, Etta Mae Jackson, attempted to obtain an attorney for her at Tucson, Ariz., but Clara's guards refused to let him see her when he presented himself at the station, according to advices received at the district attorney's office.

CONVICTED SLAYER HOPES FOR RE-HEARING

ABOARD SUNSET LIMITED, June 1.—Clara Phillips' greatest hope as she approaches Los Angeles is that she will be given a chance to prove she is not a "hammer murderess."

The notorious prisoner appeared disconcerted over reports from California that she would be denied an opportunity for re-hearing of her case and her escape from the Los Angeles jail last December.

"I was a good sport down in Honduras, and when the American officials arrived I waived my extradition so that I could return and prove my innocence. I played the game squarely and now when I get back to my own country I find they are trying to take away my only chance to do that which I came back to do. It isn't fair and I can't believe it is true."

In her vanity case Clara carried an important looking legal document. It was her waiver of extradition, embossed with gold seals and bound with red ribbon in the manner of official Latin-American papers.

Over her signature it stated she was confident she could prove her innocence and for that reason would come back voluntarily to America.

"See, I put my faith in writing," said Clara, pointing to the impressive-looking document. "I waived extradition. I said I would come back and face the music. I played the game on the level with all my cards on the table. Now they want to persecute me."

So-called 'Spoils' System Bill May Face Referendum

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Invocation of the referendum to bring the Bromley bill, passed by the last legislature and now before the governor for signature, before the people for vote at the November election was broached today.

Letters signed by State Senator Herbert C. Jones; Mrs. Aaron Schloss, California club woman, and Chester Rowell, former railroad commissioner, editor and University of California regent, were broadcast over the state, asking citizens to sign petitions to bring the bill to the state polls.

Opponents of the measure claim it will give the governor control of almost a dozen state commissions, placing 100 important offices under his direct appointive jurisdiction constituting a "spoils" system.

LA TAQUE, Quebec, June 1.—"If Baby Jay Leeds should come into my home—and I am ready to take him in—it must be on the basis of complete separation from his mother."

Thus did Mrs. Anne U. Stillman draw the line between the son of her husband and "the other woman", and the "other woman" herself.

"I am ready at any time to adopt Little Jay Leeds and bring him up with my own children, whose half brother he is," said Mrs. Stillman in an interview at her home at Grand Anse.

"If Mr. Stillman shirks his plain duty, it is still the duty of the Stillman family to recognize its responsibility for the welfare of the child. If there is no one else to care for him, I will assume the entire burden. It is a difficult situation, a terribly difficult situation. But it does exist and we must recognize it.".

COUPLE TO BE MARRIED AT S. S. PICNIC

While mothers of the congregation of the Spurgeon Memorial church were preparing chicken and delicacies for picnic lunches tomorrow, and while fathers gave attention to the condition of the family automobile for transporting the family to the park, kiddies of the households today were looking forward to the annual picnic of the Sunday school, at Orange county park, tomorrow, in anticipation of getting their first glimpse of a wedding party and witnessing for the first time a marriage ceremony.

Introducing a novelty in the program of a Sunday school picnic, Miss Maymie Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Armstrong, 622 South Sycamore street, and an active worker in the Sunday school and church, at 3 o'clock, will become the bride of George Bercereau, of Los Angeles, with a pastor from Los Angeles performing the ceremony. The wedding ceremony will be public and the marriage vows will be taken in a corner of the pavilion at the park.

Miss Armstrong is a graduate of the Santa Ana high school, and last June graduated from the Southern Branch of the University of California. She has been teaching this term at Fountain Valley school, at Talbert, which position she has resigned.

The groom is a nephew of L. D. Mercereau, of this city. He is employed in Los Angeles.

The Sunday school picnic program for tomorrow will include a number of athletic events for men, women and children.

Fumes of Carload of T. N. T. Numb Driver

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Prostration from the fumes of a load of T. N. Precidio was almost unconscious by the time he delivered his load, because the deadly fumes escaping from the T. N. T. had impregnated the air about the truck.

OPERA TOUR IS WAGNER KIN PLAN

Son of Famous Composer to Conduct U. S. Orchestras In Father's Music

BERLIN, June 1.—Siegfried Wagner, son of the famous composer, Richard Wagner, is in Berlin today to sign a contract to conduct operas on an American tour embracing more than a score of cities.

Wagner would conduct local orchestras, such as the Boston symphony, in his father's compositions. Then, using the orchestras from these cities, Wagner would make one night stands at Brooklyn, Providence, Milwaukee, Baltimore, Washington, Dayton, Columbus, Buffalo, Erie, Toledo, Kansas City, St. Paul, Oakland and San Diego.

Jules Daiber, former manager of Tetrazzini, Ganna Walska, and others, will manage the tour.

The proceeds will be used to make possible once more the festivals of Bayreuth, to which the opera loving world once made annual pilgrimmage.

These festivals at the Bavarian town that was Richard Wagner's home and where his son now lives have been suspended for some time due to lack of funds.

2 EMPLOYES ARRESTED IN ROW

Fighting in the "woodland fued,' involving pretty Virginia Lee Cookson, rancher, and Charles S. Mann, manager of the Modjeska ranch, was renewed today as two employes of Mrs. Cookson were arrested on a complaint signed by Mann, and Mrs. Cookson filed an injunction suit against Mann, asking the court to compel him to refrain from interference with her.

A two-inch pipe line, running from a reservoir across 1000 feet of the Modjeska land, to Mrs. Cookson's ranch, was the point of contention in both suits.

Robert E. Suthton and S. F. Mittingly, farm hands employed by Mrs. Cookson in laying the disputed pipe line, were arrested yesterday when they came to the sheriff's office, and were arraigned before Justice J. B. Cox on charges of having destroyed a pipe line belonging to Mann.

Plead Not Guilty

Pleading not guilty, they were released on their own recognizance to appear for trial July 16. This was the date that Mrs. Cookson was scheduled to come to trial on the same charge.

In her suit, Mrs. Cookson gave a history of the dispute. When she purchased her ranch from the Modjeska company, she secured permission, in her contract, to connect a two-inch pipe to the reservoir and use a reasonable amount of water, without cost to her, she claimed. The contract containing that provision was appended.

When, however, she laid this line, at a cost of $500 to her, and connected it with a 3-inch outlet at the dam, which, she claimed, Mann told her was her's to use, he ordered her to remove it.

This she refused to do, whereupon he caused her arrest by the sheriff, and tore up the pipe line, she claimed.

She restored the line, however, but upon information available, she understood that Mann plans to disconnect it and remove it, she said.

She asked a temporary order from the court, enjoining him against such action, until the case shall come up for hearing.

Finally, she asked that a permanent order restraining Mann from interfering with the line, be issued by the court, and that the court find for her to the extent of $5,000 damages.

The suit was prepared by Attorneys W. F. Menton, Santa Ana, and J. Robert O'Connor, and Charles Scholz, Los Angeles.

RECORD FLIGHT OVER NATION PLANNED

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Clark Vance, Logansport, Ind., an air mail pilot, will attempt a twenty hour non-stop transcontinental flight from San Francisco to New York within the next ten days, the National Aeronautical association announced today.

Vance will fly in an airplane he built himself.

Vance intends to leave San Francisco at 10 a. m. and land in New York at 6 the next evening. His route will lie over Omaha, Chicago and Cleveland.

A. C. Nelson, Salt Lake City, superintendent of the western division of the air mail service, today applied to the national aeronautical association for official recognition of the flight. Vance is on leave of absence from his air mail duties. His plane, when fully loaded, will weigh 4200 pounds, carry 350 gallons of gasoline and travel 122 miles an hour.

Last February he won praise from his superiors by landing his plane on the crest of the Sierras in a snowstorm, after fighting a ninety-mile gale. He made his way through the storm to the Reno railroad station with 300 pounds of mail and completed his trip to the coast by railroad.

Ruhr Business Is Seemingly Normal Says Gov. Allen

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LONDON, June 1.—"Business as usual" is the order of the day in the Ruhr, In spite of the strike, communist uprisings and executions, former Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas said today in an interview.

Having just returned from a visit to the occupied area, Allen gave his eye and ear impressions as follows:

1—There are few outward inward indications of the military occupation; the Germans are well dressed and don't look hungry.

2—Germans in the Ruhr don't attempt to conceal the fact that the policy of passive resistance is doomed to failure. It is realized that a reasonable reparation must be made.

3—The atmosphere of calm may be due, in part, to the fact that the French have deported 120,000 German railroad employes who might have caused trouble.

FATE OF WETS IN NEW YORK IN BALANCE

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press)

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—A statement will be given out by Governor Smith between 6 and 7 o'clock tonight explaining his action on the repealer of the state prohibition enforcement bill, it was stated at the governor's office.

This gave rise to a report that he had already acted on the bill. The statement will run between 4,000 and 5,000 words, it was said.

The fact that it would be of such length was seized on by the wets as a sure indication that he had signed the repealer it being argued that such a long statement would not have been necessary if he had vetoed it.

The governor denied himself to all callers this afternoon after he had held a hearing on a minor bill and devoted himself to the repealer.

Final action of the governor on the repealer will be announced to the newspaper men shortly after 9 o'clock tonight. This was the information furnished by the governor's secretary, who added that it would be released to the morning papers.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—Governor Al Smith, as judge and jury, took the case of prohibition under advisement today.

Before Sunday midnight he must sign or veto the repealer of the state enforcement act passed by the legislature—sing and make himself leader of the wet faction in the national Democratic party, or veto and abandon the cause of Tammany hall.

The evidence in the case is all in, having been presented in the final arguments of wet and dry leaders during a five-hour hearing in the assembly chamber yesterday. The thirty-day period in which he is permitted to act on the repealing bill expires Sunday midnight. In view of doubt over whether it is ethical or legal to act on Sunday, the governor is expected to make known his decision by midnight tomorrow.

There is no definite information as to what action the governor will take. Presence of some of the Tammany leaders in Albany gave hopes to the wets that their pressure might be exerted on the governor to sign the repealer. Dry followers, however, were convinced that they had swayed the executive

Royalists All Over Country Planned Overthrow of Republic, Claim

(By United Press Leased Wire)

PARIS, June 1.—A royalist plot, directed against the republic, has spread throughout France, Minister of Interior Maurice Manoury announced in the chamber of deputies late today.

The government has discovered proofs that the royalists of all France bound themselves together in a conspiracy directed at the government, he said. Manoury declared police had seized documents showing plans and the list of members.

The investigation is continuing.

The revelation concerning the plot came as the result of pressure brought by the left wing of the chamber of the government, following attack upon three Socialist leaders last night in which they were roughly handled.

Royalists Blamed

It was charged this attack was designed by the royalists.

Manoury declared the government deplored this outbreak and would pitilessly suppress any further movement of French facisti.

The chamber voted confidence in the ability of the government to repress disorder and defend the republic, 379 to 191.

Adoption of fascisti methods by French royalists caused a violent uproar in the chamber of deputies.

Deputy Daudet, whose followers last night administered a purple ink shampoo and castor oil to three Socialist leaders, was waylaid as he entered the corridor of the chamber.

Deputies Curse, Yell

About sixty deputies surrounded him, cursing and yelling insulting names. Guards rushed in and Daudet was spirited away while several of the deputies clashed with the guards.

Later when Daudet entered the chamber during a debate, deputies of the left wing leaped from their seats and attempted to attack him. They shouted "assassin!" as they ran toward him. Officials, however, intervened.

Deputy Herriot demanded in the chamber that the government immediately take steps to repress the royalists. He declared they were conducting an intolerable "facisti campaign." Daudet rose to reply, but those on the left wing yelled so loudly that he could not be heard.

Socialists' Ire Up After Purple Ink Shampooing

(By United Press Leased Wire)

PARIS, June 1.—Introduction of Fascisti methods into French politics will be debated in the chamber of deputies.

Following the manhandling of three Socialist leaders, who were shampooed with purple ink, forced to drink castor oil and rolled in the mud, Deputy Herrott said he would interpellate the government concerning the episode.

As the three Socialists—Deputy Moutet, Marc Sagnier and former Minister Violette—were leaving their homes late last night, they were stopped. The attacks, it is said, were aimed to prevent the three from attending an "anti-Fascisti meeting."

AMERICANS REFUSE TO TALK DOPE

U. S. Delegation Leaves Opium Meeting at Geneva Without Giving Attitude.

GENEVA, June 1.—After an uproarious session in which American delegates withdrew, the League of Nations' opium commission today adopted the program submitted by the United States for suppression of the traffic.

GENEVA, June 1.—The entire United States delegation walked out of the opium commission meeting at League of Nations headquarters here today. The Americans refused to answer questions regarding their proposals, or to participate in any discussion of them.

Chairman Porter of the house foreign affairs committee and other American leaders recently appeared before the commission and urged that steps be taken to stop production of drugs.

The American withdrawal occurred in connection with a resolution introduced by Sir Maicom De Levignes accepting the American proposals.

Porter announced that the Americans could not discuss the proposals. The commission must take the proposals and leave them as they are, he said.

The American delegation then withdrew and the session broke up in a heated row. Many of the delegates declared they considered themselves insulted. Order was finally restored. The Americans remained absent, so De Levignes announced he would answer the questions as best he could.

DEATH TOLL 10 IN RELIGIOUS LAW RIOT

DURANGO CITY, Mex., June 1.—Soldiers patrol the streets and churches are closed today following religious rioting which yesterday resulted in ten deaths and wounding of 17.

Three police are among the dead.

The killings occurred when a crowd of 3,000 attacked mounted police in front of the governor's palace. They were demonstrating through the streets in protest against the new law, which limits the number of ministers of any sect to not more than twenty-five.

Religious students claim the normal number of priests in the state of Durango is 250 and the law would result in practical extermination of Catholicism.

The crowd began demonstration at noon yesterday, and after three hours listening to speeches began throwing stones at the palace.

Police fired high first and then the battle began.

Ridge Route Detour Told by Auto Club

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—One detour on the Ridge route between Crane Lake and Caswell on the road to San Francisco is necessary for motorists to make, according to the weekly report on the Automobile club of Southern California.

This detour is two miles long. Some work is also being done on the inland roads. The work of widening and resurfacing the coast route along the beach front at Gaviota pass occasions the necessity of a small detour.

The San Diego highways are reported in good condition, as are all county highways leading from the city.

through Tucson, Arizona, where the "tiger woman" was first arrested. She recalled the circumstances with a bitter smile.

"I could have escaped then if I had wanted to," she said. "But what was the use? I had nothing to fear from going back to Los Angeles. I have nothing to fear now. I could have escaped at Tegucigalpa, too, but I didn't want to. I wanted to come back to my own country and exonerate myself. I hated Honduras and its people. I was sorry I ever went there. But now it seems I am to be denied a chance by my own people to face my accusers again and prove my innocence."

Same Conductor In Charge

By coincidence H. W. McBreen, Pullman conductor of Los Angeles, who identified her on his train when she was fleeing to the border after the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, is in charge of the train that is now returning her from her longer and more spectacular flight. He visited her in her compartment today and reminded her how she had denied her identity until the sheriff at Tucson boarded the train and placed her under arrest.

Mrs. Phillips received him coldly.

At El Paso police officials boarded the train and identified Clara as the woman they had seen in Juarez, Mexico, last February. It was the belief of officials that she came from Mexico City to the border on some mysterious mission after her flight from Los Angeles. Clara denied she was ever near the border after she sailed with Jesse Carson from New Orleans January 19.

Mrs. Phillips is closely guarded. She and her sister, Etta Mae Jackson, occupy the middle of three compartments with connecting doors. The officers in adjoining rooms maintain a steadfast watch.

Both Use Rouge Freely

Both women take particular pains with their personal appearance. Clara wears a brown silk dress with a blue net neatly coiffed over her hair. Etta Mae wears a black traveling frock. Both use rouge freely and blacken their eyebrows and eye lashes.

There are nearly 300,000 women farmers in the United States.

January was named after the two-headed Roman god, Janus.

RADIO AS ILLS FINDER HELD BEST YET

BY FRANK A. CLARVOE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO June 1.—Dr. Radio, diagnostician, pathologist psychologist and what not, has hung out his shingle.

The radio and its league, electro-magnetism, acording to Dr. Albert Adrams, San Francisco physician, whose methods of diagnosis by radio have rent the medical world, are instruments for the future diagnosis of disease and thought and for germ sanitation.

For years Dr. Adrams has employed the principles of radio activity in diagnosing disease through the use of human blood. In this work he has employed a human subject as the sensitive "receiving station," for the waves of energy, he claims, are broadcasted by various diseases. He considered the human body the most sensitive of all receiving apparati for radio activity. But after five years of experimentation, he has evolved a radio machine which eliminates the human subject.

Mental Reaction Held Recorded

The instrument receives reactions, both physical and psychological, according to the demonstrations he has conducted on his clinical laboratory.

Among the discoveries claimed by Dr. Abrams, which he claims he is able to employ in diagnosis through the use of this delicate instrument, are:

That the human body are fundamentally healthy, that each human body gives forth and receives waves of radio activity, and that each person has a wave length peculiar to himself.

That with death, the radio activity of the body ceases.

That each risease has a distinct wave length which may be recorded on his instrument set to receive "messages" from that disease.

Disease Broadcasts Regularly

That diseases "pulsate" giving forth waves at regular intervals, cancer, for instance, pulsating every four seconds.

That thought travels on ether waves and its nature and the moment of its birth may be recorded.

The general use of electro magnetism in sanitation is predicted by Dr. Abrams on the basis of experiments which have convinced him of the value of its use.

Dr. Adrams uses a horse-shoe magnet in "sterilling" his radio instrument before and after each experiment in diagnosis.

"I believe that the best method of sanitation in the future will be a great horse-shoe magnet, hung in the place visited by the influence of disease," Dr. Adrams declares. "There are unlimited possibilities here; who can tell what they are?"

to the dry viewpoint.

The governor, himself, has refused to express, even to his closest friends, any indication of his action. A speech he made a week ago in Coney Island, in which he said he "would enforce the law," no matter whether some of his friends liked it or not, is the only vague comment he has made.

EX-GOVERNOR CLAIMS BIG REVENUE LOSS

PASADENA, Calif., June 1.—Former Governor John A. Dix of New York, spending his vacation here, today indicated that New York had lost so much money since the prohibition laws went into effect, and would have to spend as much moreto enforce prohibition, that there was much economic justice in Governor Smith's hesitancy in signing the repealer that is before him today and upon which the nation is awaiting his decision.

"With prohibition New York lost $24,000,000 annually in excise taxes, part of which went to schools, but added $24,000,000 in expenses for the cost of enforcement," Dix said. Dix expressed much interest in what Governor Smith's action will be but ventures no prophesy or opinion as to what it should be.

BARITONE SOLOIST PLEASES AIR FANS

KFAW'S pogram last night was curtailed through an unavoidable cancellation of the Belvedere Terrace orchestra which was scheduled to play at The Register radio studio.

The burden of the evening's entertainment therefore fell upon John C. Putman, baritone soloist, who rendered several selections. In his fine baritone voice he offered "Face to Face," "Call Me Back, Pal o' Mine," "Sunshine in Your Smile" and "After Every Party." Claude Gorham, pianist, played "Carolina in the Morning," and also accompanied the soloist of the evening in all his numbers.

Next Monday, KFAW will present a big program when Garry Fisher's Frisco Favorites will play for The Register's big family of air fans. This orchestra, one of San Francisco's best, is playing at the Lighthouse Cafe, Balboa, for the season and their appearance at KFAW has been made possible through the courtesy of Messrs. Loveridge and Spencer, proprietors of that cafe. Monday night's radio entertainment should prove to be the event of the year, as the personnel of the Fisher organization is composed of seven musicians, each one a past master of syncopation.

Bootleggers Battle Dry Agents In Chase

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Police and prohibition agents engaged in a running gun fight with alleged bootleggers here today when a booze car tried to escape back into Maryland with its cargo, which was being brought into Washington through the cordon of dry agents surrounding the capital.

Two men were captured and 45 gallons of whiskey were taken.

His trial was set for June 27, when he entered a plea of not guilty.

TAXPAYER INFORMED HIS LOT HAS BUILDING ON IT

WABASH, May 25.—When Oscar Nayrocker of Wabash visited the office of the county treasurer to pay taxes on a vacant lot owned by him he was informed by the treasurer that there was a two-story frame building on the lot. "Hope there is," said Oscar, "but when I left the lot 15 minutes ago there was no sign of a house." Finally the matter was referred to the county assessors, who were asked to find the house.

LONDON, June 1.—Gene Sarazen, American champion, won the northern British golf professional prize at St. Anne's today with a score of 290.

Prospector Goes Money Mad Claim

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The very latest wrinkle in reasons for not asking alimony was given here by Mrs. Allyre Hamilton when granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Frederick Hamilton, living in anchorage, Alaska.

"He wouldn't pay alimony anyhow," she told the judge. "He's gone money mad."

But beneath the humor of her assertion was tragedy, as in most divorce cases. She said she had had a happy married life until Hamilton struck gold in Alaska and became wealthy. During eight years they sought the yellow metal happily together. With the finding of gold three years ago, Hamilton quit writing her and forgot her, she asserted. Their five-year-old son became ill and unable to buy him needed luxuries, she was forced to see him die unhappy and forlorn.

BANKER URGES CARE IN SALE OF HOMES

Organization of a county association of realtors for discussion of county problems and promotion of sociability among real estate brokers of the county was suggested by A. E. Hargrove, president of the realty board at Anaheim, in a communication read at today's meeting of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors at St. Ann's Inn.

A meeting to discuss plans for such an organization will be held Monday evening at Anaheim in the office of the Chamber of Commerce. Six local dealers indicated their intention of attending the conference.

With W. L. Salisbury as chairman of the program committee, E. B. Sprague, cashier of the Orange County Trust and Savings bank, was the speaker. He declared that realtors assumed a great responsibility in the location of a family in the city.

"You are dealing in a serious business—you may look lightly on the selling of a home to a new arrival, but if the buyer is investing all his wealth in the home you are selling him, it is a serious matter," Sprague said.

"If you locate a family in a certain part of town, you should bear in mind that you are dealing with the future of that family," continued the speaker. "The environs will have their influence on the children of that family, and may determine the future of the children. Be careful that you locate a family in the proper environs."

Mrs. Croker Fights For Share of Fortune

DUBLIN, June 1.—Mrs. Beulah Crocker denied on the witness stand here late today that she had ever married previous to meeting the late Richard Crocker, Tammany millionaire.

Children of Crocker's first marriage, in the suitb rought here, contend that she had lives as the wife of Guy Marone in North Ampton, Mass., and other places. They based their suit against the will, leaving her the major portion of the Croker fortune, on this charge.

"I never was in North Ampton, New Brunswick or Canada," Mrs. Croker declared. She said that during the 26 days of a previous trial in Florida she had never heard Marone's name mentioned.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

There is hardly a neighborhood in the United States where women cannot be found who have derived benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this botanic medicine has been overcoming some of the worst forms of female ills. As one woman has been benefited by its use she has told others who have used it with the same good results; so the use of this great medicine has spread from shore to shore by the recommendation of those who have found it good. Therefore, ask your neighbor; let her tell you from experience the benefit which ailing women derive from its use.—adv.

Telephone Service In Orient Chaotic

PEKING, May 26.—At the present time telephone service throughout China is in a somewhat chaotic condition as far as ownership and control are concerned. The central government operates a comparatively small number of exchanges, most of which are at Peking, and a few stretches of long distance line. The remainder of the system is under private control either by foreigners or by the Chinese. In some cases provincial or state governments operate what are in effect municipal systems.

The chief cause of this unfortunate state of affairs is due largely to the government's attitude in the matter of granting concessions for the development of this important public service. Unable to exploit it adequately itself, the government has in recent years manifested an increasing unwillingness to attract the private capital necessary for the purpose.

OBITUARY

Dr. Henry S. W. Barnes was born in Marshall county, Illinois, near Lacon, the county seat of that county, April 4, 1850. He grew to manhood, with his parents on the homestead in that locality.

He was a student of the Northwestern university at Evanston, Ills., for one year, after completion of a good common school education In 1871 he became a student of Rush Medical college in Chicago and was there at the time of the great fire of October 9, 1871, at which time the college was totally destroyed and the students scattered to other schools in various places.

Dr. Barnes went to the State University of Iowa at Iowa City, where he finished his medical studies and graduated March 5, 1873.

On April 17, 1873, at Winona, Ills., he was married to Ann Eliza Erwine. Following that event he, with his wife, moved to Fairbury, Ills., where he formed a co-partnership with Dr. N. T. P. Robertson, an old established physician, and his brother Dr. S. M. Barnes, who had previously established himself there with Dr. Robertson.

He practiced medicine there for six years, then moved to Launemina, Ills., in the same county, where he built a store building and opened a drug store and continued his practice which was well established in that county. The store building was the first store building in the town.

In 1882 he sold his drug business and moved to Macksburg, Iowa, where he practiced his profession until 1892 when he moved to Creston, Iowa, where he lived and practiced medicine until 1907, when he came to Santa Ana, where he remained and was in active practice until he was disabled by his last illness which was diabetic ganggrene and from which he suffered for about fourteen months.

AN APPRECIATION

Death is a reaper
And with his sickle keen.
He reaps the bearded grain
And the flowers that grow between.

Tributes to men of Dr. Barnes' type are difficult to formulate. His life was such that eulogies seem superfluous. He leaves a record on the pages of time sweet with the fragrance of good deeds.

Those who had an intimate knowledge of his life feel the weight of sorrow at his passing, and the sympathy, love and esteem of these go with him through the valley of death into the brightness of that eternal day where shadows and sorrow give way to light and joy; and years will not dim the sweetness of life or the kindliness of deeds left on the sands of time by this absent brother.

For a half century, most of the time spent in a country where physical hardships were encountered, this good man visited the sicksick and suffering, never sparing himself to reach the bedside of those who were in distress. His high sense of profressional honor and his indefatigable search for wisdom gave him prominence in the activities of the State Medical Society of Iowa.

He loved his books, and his literature was selected with great care. The advancement of his profession never left him behind. He possessed a keen analytical mind and poetic temperament. In matters pertaining to politics, religion and sociology he was well informed and very decided in his opinions. He was an intense student and a ceaseless reader of the best literature of the time. His sixteen years residence in California brought him great comfort, as he had longed to identify himself with this state, especially Santa Ana and Orange county in which he had unbounded faith.

An alert mind and retentive memory made him a most interesting conversationalist. He reveled in the beauties of nature and received great inspiration from the Creator's handiwork. Vacations to the mountains, the valleys or the seashore brought to him more than the simple enjoyment of vision. He studied these mentally and discussed formations and composition that revealed a scientific mind.

Devotion to his family, friends and profession were strong characteristics. His life was an active and useful one.

As a baby, a bay, a youth, a man, he filled each place since his life began.

And now after many, many years filled with inevitable joys and sorrows, pleasures and pain, hopes and disappointments, he reached the mountain peaks where the snow caps of old age crowned a life of usefulness, and then he gently sank into the evergreen foothills of everlasting rest. And so he would not have us grieve, but would say to us:

"Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me;
But may there be no moaning of the bar,

SOCIETY

Girlhood Triumphant Shown In Pageant At Twist Home

"We should all unite in holding forth certain ideals to the splendid girlhood of our land," declared Mrs. W. L. H. Benton yesterday in outlining the theme of a pageant of girlhood presented under her direction by the young girls of the Church of the Messiah in the attractive gardens of the Charles G. Twist home, 1520 North Main street.

According to Mrs. Benton, the pageant was chosen as a means of teaching truths and fostering pure and noble thoughts in the minds of girls, and surely no one could see the success of lovely pictures without realizing that the aims must have been fully realized.

With Miss Mabel Krause at the piano and Loren Cannon playing violin obbligatos the musical setting was particularly lovely while solos by Mrs. Walter B. Leecraft and Walter C. Vieira added to the impressive effect.

As members and friends of the Church of the Messiah gathered on the lawn, the pageant opened with a graceful dance by Miss Virginia Lowell, who in rose silk kimona with batik obi and gay chrysanthemum head-dress, was a charming Japanese maid.

The pageant proper opened with a presentation of seven well-known girls of ancient and Biblical history, each noted for some sterling worth of character. Miriam, represented by Miss Boyd Joplin, as patriotism, appeared as a young Jewish maid with oriental headdress and scarf over her white flowing draperies. Her pose of triumph with cymbals upheld was particularly pleasing.

As she paced slowly from sight, The Blessed Virgin entered. Miss Enid Twist as Purity, in the rich deep blue and soft rose draperies so beloved by the old Masters in depicting the Virgin, was a picture of Madonna-like serenity and her expression of holy and spiritual joy was remarkable, as she quoted the words of joy of the Virgin.

"Eustochium," that studious Roman maid who aided St. Jerome in his translation of the Vulgate, was enacted by Miss Loretta Spangler clad in the coarse brown cassock, rope sandals and blue head dress of the student. She entered with her head bent low over a copy of the Bible and walked with slow and thoughtful step to join her companions.

Miss Kate Benton as "Iphigenia," the Grecian maid, exemplified obedience and in flowing white Greek draperies, with her golden hair unbound under a fillet and her hands shackled, was a picture of a day when "burning Sappho loved and sung." She gave lines from Gilbert Murray's translation of Euripides' "Iphigenia."

One would think that Miss Jane Griffiths as Jeanne d'Arc was really hearing the voices, judging from the rapt expression on her face as she paused and the strains of the Marsellaise filled the air, sung by Mr. Vieira. Miss Griffith was attired in true peasant frock—little white blouse, flowing blue skirt and black laced bodice of the Maid of Orleans.

As the girls slowly disappeared, their places were taken by their counterparts in modern life.

Miss Clara Louise Lambert in a frilly white frock was a lovely young society girl whose whole face and air bespoke the purity of the Blessed Virgin. Miss Virginia Rice in pink gingham and with her arms filled with books, was the present-day counterpart of the studious Eustochium while courageous Iphigenia lived again in the factory girl of today, represented by Miss Beatrice Boyd in the neat uniform and cap required in the modern factory.

Miss Juliette Taylor in lovely flowered frock of Colonial days, was the "little mother" who exemplified duty and with two pretty wee "sisters," (the little Misses Josephine Keeler and Frances Was) declared her dearest duty was to lead her younger sisters in healthy happy ways.

Attired in the neat sweater, small hat and pleated skirt of the business girl of today, Miss Olive Granger showed the thrift exemplified by the Priscilla of Miss Robertson after which came the Apotheosis of Girlhood, when, to appropriate music, the Blessed Virgin appeared to take the center of the picture with the two little maids, Josephine Keeler and Frances Was standing, one on either side, holding sheafs of St. John lilies while the girls of the old world and those of today, grouped themselves on the lawn beneath the wide porch where Miss Twist stood.

The entire affair was so beautiful and the characters so well chosen that each role seemed perfectly adapted to the one presenting it, that guests crowded around Mrs. Benton to express their appreciation of her leadership. The young girls taking part were all congratulated and later were posed on the lawn for a succession of pictures which Mrs. Twist wished to take.

A pleasant social aspect was given by the serving of tea by Mrs. S. P. Freeman and punch by Mrs. Guy Gilbert and her friend, Mrs. Burgess of Pasadena.

A table devoted to home-made candy was presided over by Miss Jean Battersby.

Stitch and Chatter

Mrs. F. J. Rogers and Mrs. William Thompson entertained the members of the "Stitch and Chatter" club Thursday afternoon, at the former's home, 1010 North Ross street when two pretty comforts were tied for Mrs. Rogers and a fine programe was enjoyed.

Ariel Thompson gave a reading entitled, "How Edythe Helped Things Along," (James Whitcomb Riley) and a song "That Same, Old, Dear, Old Place," also a piano solo, "Melodies."

Miriam Adamson gave a reading entitled "Polly's Surprise Party," a song "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," (James R. Ball), and a piano solo "Girl of Mine," by Harold Freeman. Later Edythe Rogers of Orange played a piano solo, "Carolina in the Morning," and De Etta Bierbower also of Orange, offered a clever reading, entitled, "Cat a Kissin," all of which was much enjoyed.

Then came refreshments of punch, sandwiches, wafers, cake and ice cream. Tiny American flags as favors, were given to the seventeen guests. Roll call was answered by a Memorial day quotation and each one gave her "most embarrassing moment" as a closing bit of enjoyment.

It has been customary, Rafferty said, to hold the election of new officers on the date of the last meeting of the year. A small attendance due to pre-dating of the meeting made the meeting unfavorable for an election, he said. The meeting was scheduled for May 28, but was held May 21.

Church Young People Frolic Gayly As In Childhood Days

Young people of St. Peter Lutheran church of this city, attired in discarded, knee-length party clothes of childhood days, motored to the William Reusch home at Garden Grove Tuesday evening and there took part in a joyous "kid" affair. The "little people" were made welcome in a home decked for the occasion with pink roses, sweet peas and Easter lilies.

Upon their arrival, they were treated to stick candy and all-day suckers through the generosity of certain of the guests and were entertained by suitable games of childhood. Great enjoyment was expressed in the manner in which they entered into the games.

One of the most interesting events was the presentation of an Eversharp pencil to one of the members, Siebit Goldenstein, a Luther Leaguer, who after having been a member for some time will soon return to his home in Golden, Nebraska. He will be greatly missed by his comrades of the league of which he has proven a worthy member.

For the enjoyment of the "children" assembled, refreshments of wafers in animal shape, kisses, punch and all-day suckers were served all of which met with the enthusiastic approval of the Misses Mary and Margaret Kraft, Alice and Malinda Miller, Louise Scheibe, Justine and Phyllis Krock, Ella Anderson, Verna and Mildred Petz, Messrs. and Mmes Edward Simpkin, George Krock, Lou Anderson, Emil Franzen, William Reusch; Messrs. Otto Schilling of Santa Fe Springs, Stanke of Orange, Siebelt Goldenstein, Arthur Anderson, Carl Bayha, Guy Koons, Albert Kraft, Browmly Krock, Hazen Simpkin, Joe Koons and Henry Martin.

High School Graduate Will Become Bride In Early June

Filling the two most important roles of girlhood, Miss Viola Riutcel will be a sweet girl graduate with this year's senior class of the Santa Ana high school and soon thereafter will be a blushing June bride when on June 12 she will be wedded to Mr. John Reid, an electrical engineer of this city.

While the engagement had never been formally announced, Miss Riutcel's friends and comrades of the Junior Philathea class of the First Methodist Sunday school were well aware of the approaching marriage and last night honored the bride-elect with a charmingly appointed shower held at the church community house, 602 French street.

Dominating the attractive decorations was the great fire-place banked with mountain ferns. Sweet peas and carnations were used in profusion and the light from twinkling candles shed a soft radiance over the scene when refreshments were served.

Small tables were arranged with tiny tapers to harmonize with the pastel tinted tall ones, and were centered with crystal baskets filled with dainty Japanese sweet peas which further emphasized the pastel colorings. A salad course was followed by ices and cake after which the honoree was showered by her friends with lovely gifts in honor of her approaching wedding.

Details of the attractive affair were in charge of a committee of which Miss Thelma Stockebrand was chairman and those extending their loving wishes to Miss Riutcel included her mother, Mrs. Riutcel and the class teacher, Mrs. Ed. Van Nest together with the Misses Marjorie Arnold, Gertrude Smith, Hazel Salisbury, Thelma Stockebrand, Irene Turner, Mary Nunn, Frances Stockebrand, Hazel Morrison and Bessie Jackson.

Dinner Is Followed By Theater Party For "Country Cousin"

On Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Duggan of 222 South Sycamore street, with their daughter, Miss Dorothy Duggan, just returned from Berkeley for her summer vacation, entertained with a dinner and theater party for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pease of Orange.

Following the enjoyment of a delectable menu at the Duggan home, the members of the party went to the Temple theater where they thoroughly enjoyed the performance of "The Country Cousin" by the Community Players.

Parent-Teachers

Combining important business with an interesting program, the City Federation of Parent-Teacher associations held its last meeting of the year last night at the Church of the Messiah.

Election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. Harry Leipsic; first vice-president, Mrs. Walter Fine; second vice-president, Mrs. William R. Sylvester; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. C. Mays; treasurer, Mrs. Byron Walbridge; financial secretary, Mrs. J. C. Bach; historian, Miss Isabel Anderson; auditor, W. W. Hoy; parliamentarian, Mrs. Sallie Powell.

The program included community singing of "America"; a vocal solo by Maurice Phillips, accompanied by Harry Garstang; a Dutch doll dance and a basket dance by little Miss Muriel Bray, an outline of the playground and community service situation by Miss Mildred Wiley, and a talk on "Citizenship" by Miss Isabel Anderson.

Miss Wiley read the proposals given to the Santa Ana Community Service board and her report was followed by a talk by the retiring president, Mrs. E. M. Blake, who stressed the need of supervised playgrounds and urged the city association to support the Community Service plans.

City Superintendent J. A. Cranston stated his approval of the plans and spoke of the fine work Parent-Teacher associations are doing, declaring it to be a material held to the promotion and maintenance of good schools.

Miss Anderson outlined the tools for the making of good citizens, speaking of the national ideals of citizenship laws which have been passed to promote it, and emphasized compulsory education and part time laws, which she said were invaluable in the building of good citizens among the children.

"The government does not exist apart from all of the people," said Miss Anderson, and hence a universal responsibility rests upon the whole people."

"The schools cannot assume the entire responsibility for making good citizens. Teaching of Latin and algebra may be left to the school but teaching of citizenship requires co-operation of the home which furnishes the materials, the legislature and school administrations which furnish the tools and the teachers who are the workmen."

Amendments to the constitution of the city federation were passed, one of the most important being that which stated that there should be two regular evening meetings in the year, to be held the last Thursday in October and in May.

Announcement was made that there would be an all-day district board meeting, June 9, in Birch park.

Five Hundred Club Is Entertained

Mrs. Jack Campbell was charming hostess to members of the Five Hundred club and a few other guests last night at her home, 1072 1-2 West Fourth street where American Beauty roses offered attractive decoration.

Miss Margaret Wiley scored high at the evening's amusement and was rewarded with a handsome pendent of carved ivory. Later the guests remained grouped around the tables while Mrs. Campbell served a delightful two course menu of fruit salad and coffee with ices frozen in the familiar forms of the different suits of playing cards accompanied by individual cakes in similar shape.

The pleasant evening will be the final one enjoyed as a club until the coming of cooler weather when the members will again institute their winter series of entertainments.

Those enjoying Mrs. Campbell's hospitality were Mrs. James Kittle, Mrs. Ralph Cole, Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Roy Handy, the Misses Gwendolyn Hoyle, Blanche Hill, Rebecca Joplin and a guest group composed of the Misses Margaret and Isabel Wylie, Glenna Jean Hill, Ella Clocum and Alice Fuller of Orange.

"We will also need cars to take many of the Southerners to Orange county park after the ceremonies at the graves of the veterans."

Flowers, it was explained, may be left at Spurgeon Memorial church by those who wish to assist in decorating the thirty-five or forty graves in the cemetery. Veterans and their friends and relatives have been requested to meet at the church at 9:30 a. m. Services at the cemetery will be held at 10 a. m.

POPPIES MADE BY GERMANS OPPOSED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 1.—The sale of poppies made in Germany by American commercial concerns to posts of the American Legion was characterized as "disgraceful" and as an "insult to the heroic dead of the World War," by Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the American Legion, in a statement issued at legion national headquarters.

The statement came as result of word from Iowa that several posts of the state had been victimized by firms who sold the "made in Germany" poppies. The poppies had been supplied by a firm in an Indiana city.

"American Legion national headquarters obtained a supply of 2,500,000 poppies made by French disabled men and other needy persons in that country" Mr. Bolles said. "From this supply national headquarters is providing official legion poppies to be worn on Memorial Day in honor of those who died in the World War. The flowers will be sold by several thousand legion posts in all parts of the country to provide funds for the decoration of overseas graves and for the relief of sick and needy veterans. The tactics of irresponsible business concerns in importing poppies made by citiens of a nation responsible for the death of those whose memory we reverence on Memorial Day are disgraceful, and are an insult to the heroic dead. The legion will oppose their methods whereever it finds that posts are being victimied by the unscrupulous firms."

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE PLAN FOR SUNDAY COMPLETE

Admission to High School Exercises Limited to Those With Tickets

OTHER EVENTS SET

Four Days Next Week Will Be Needed to Complete Commencement

With the Rev. Will A. Betts, pastor of the First Methodist church, scheduled to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the high school graduating class here next Sunday night, Principal D. K. Hammond announced today that admission will be by ticket only.

At the same time, it was announced that the public will be welcomed at the junior college baccalaureate services, to be conducted by the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, at the First Congregational church, Sunday at 11 a. m. and at the overflow baccalaureate services to be led by the Rev. Moffet Rhodes, at the Spurgeon Memorial church, Sunday evening, June 3, at 7:30 o'clock.

Seating Capacity Limited

"At the high school," said Principal Hammond, "we will be able to take care of only about 1500, and this will make it necessary, as usual, to limit the admissions.

"The tickets for the sermon, as well os those for the high school commencement exercises, will be distributed to parents and others through the high school senior class members. The seats covered by these reservations will be held a reasonable length of time, say until 7:45 p. m., when the vacant seats probably will be given to those who are waiting."

Principal Hammond said it would be wise for all those not holding tickets to go to the Spurgeon Memorial church instead of attempting to gain admission to the high school services.

Many Events Scheduled

For the high school baccalaureate services the Rev. M. Betts will take as his subject, "A Synonym of Genius." At the Spurgeon Memorial overflow services the Rev. Mr. Rhodes will preach the sermon for 230 pupils of the junior high school who are schedled for promotion this year.

With busy days ahead of them, pupils and instructors of Polytechnic high school today were making active preparations for the ceremonies which will close the school year here next week. Events scheduled include class day assembly at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday; the senior play, "The Charm School," scheduled for Tuesday Junior college commencement exercises, Thursday night, high school commencement, next Friday night, and the ilumni banquet and dance, at St. Ann's Inn, Saturday night, June 9.

ASKS HICKORY LIMB

LEAVENWORTH, June 1.—Albert Auts, negro farmer, appealed to county commissioners to buy him a new wooden leg. His last one was destroyed when his home burned recently, he said. Unless he is provided with the wooden limb, he will be unable to earn his own living and become a ward of the county poor farm, he said.

Scientists say the surface temperature of the sun is 6000 degrees, Centigrade, or 11,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

INN 'HELLO GIRL' FINDS CONVENTION DUTIES ARE VARIED

Tiny Hawkins, Santa Ana girl, who greets delegates and visitors at the telephone switchboard of St. Ann's Inn whenever a convention comes to town and establishes headquarters there.

Her duties range from finding husbands, to predicting the name of the new president to be acclaimed by the conclave.

Whenever a convention comes to town — and they are frequent these days — Tiny Hawkins is to be found at the telephone switchboard of St. Ann's Inn, which under the management of G. A. Schweiger, has won the honor of being convention headquarters.

Tiny insists she never had any other name but "Tiny."

Not many years ago, within the exclusive limits of Boston, Mass., a pair of new and extremely proud parents gasped in ecstatic chorus: "Isn't she tiny!" Their statement has remained unchanged.

The pilgrimmage of the trio to Santa Ana was a natural consequence. Choice flowers blossom in the "Garden Spot of California."

Then Tiny bobbed her hair, absorbed the modern girl's philosophy and became a telephone operator. She has been operating her philosophy and telephones for five years.

"No, I am not a man-hater," she explained. "But they seem so unnecessary. Once a telephone operator, always a telephone operator. That's my motto."

Uutimatum Reason Mystery

Whether her ultimatum was the result of watching the convention antics of temperamental musicmasters, the toreador tendencies of realtors, or the cavorting, roaring lions, deponent sayeth not.

But take it leave it, Mr. Delegate, your blandishments are of no avail. Tiny says so.

She is a regular, modern, up-to-the-minute, independent business girl, 1923 model. Owns her own car and everything. She has been "pinched" for speeding and paid her fine like a man.

"It was ridiculous," she declared with painful reminiscence. "My car is not boosting for any particular prospective presidential candidate. Nor is it a Moon. But it has a heavenly name, "and rattles like thunder."

Tiny allowed one guess at this riddle.

Was 'Pinched' Once

"I've had it only three months," she continued, "and would you believe it, I was arrested for driving twenty-nine miles an hour. Wasn't that ridiculous?" she appealed.

Between conventions Tiny Hawkins acts as relief operator for a long distauce line.

"That's where the car comes in handy," she explained. "One day I may be in Anaheim. Another in Fullerton. My work takes me all over the county and at all

MOOSE LODGES WILL PICNIC SUNDAY

Moose will frolic beneath the sycamores and oaks of Orange county park Sunday, at the joint picnic of the Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, and Anaheim lodges of the fraternal order, according to Charles Hamilton organizer of the Santa Ana lodge.

Plans for the picnic were completed at a meeting here last night. Musical events, athletic contests, a baseball game, and a variety of "stunts" were planned.

Busses Will Be Provided

Special transportation in Crown stage busses will be provided members of the Moose lodges and their families and guests to the county park Sunday morning, Hamilton said.

The first stage will leave the Crown stage office, on North Main street here, at 10 a. m. Other stages will be dispatched as soon as a sufficient number of picnickers arrive at the stage depot, according to arrangements. The final stage is scheduled to leave at 1 p. m. The return from the park will be handled in the same manner, it was announced.

Athletic Rivalry is Keen

"The affair will be a regular basket picnic," Hamilton said. "ollowing complete demolition of the contents of the baskets dancing, games, and stunts will entertain the picnickers.

"A baseball game has been arranged between two of the lodges. The Anaheim lodge has issued o challenge for an athletic event. Not to be outdone, Huntington Beach has issued a few challenges on its own account.

"The entertainment program of musical events and vaudeville turns promises to satisfy an audience of 'first-nighters.'"

RAIL COMMISSION RULING IS UPHELD

Holding that the commission had acted within its discretionary power, the state supreme court today had denied the application of Sidney E. Saunby, C. A. Melcher and the California Farm Bureau federation for a writ of review to annul an order of the state railroad commission of April, 1922.

This order required the Southern California Edison company to make a rate reduction in several counties of approximately $1,600,000.

The action was based upon the proceeding for the readjustment and fixation of rates in several counties of Southern California. The presiding commission limited the scope of the inquiry to exclude the question of state and federal taxes. By a previous order of the commission, the Edison company was allowed to charge a certain amount of this to operating expenses.

This, the supreme court ruled, was permissible, hence the denial of the application for a writ of review.

COUNCIL DEFIED IN REPAVING BATTLE

Property Owner Says Law Favors Him, But City Officials Differ

Maintaining that under an agreement with property owners at the time of the original paving on East Fourth street, the city is responsible for maintenance of that street, and declaring that property owners were "bulldozed" into paying for the repaving of the street two years ago, Frank Thomson, 902 East Fourth, today declared that he was not scared in the least by recent action of the council, directing the city attorney and city engineer to prepare for proceedings to have the street in front of his property paved under the district plan.

In effect Thomson says that the city may go as far as it pleases in its legal proceedings, for in the end, he believes, it will have to pay whatever expense is incurred in connection with the repaving of his frontage.

Agreement Claimed Made

"I complied with the Vrooman law in the original installation of the pavement in 1905," said Thomson today. "Later an agreement was entered into between the city, myself, the late W. H. Spurgeon and others by which the city assumed responsibility for future maintenance of the street. I have no fear as to the final result. My attorney advises me that I am within my rights—and I am going to stand pat."

When the street was repaved two years ago, Thomson held out and would not put in the work in front of his lot. Later he started installation of the pavement under a formula of his own, and was halted by the city, and after that section of the street he is held responsible for was about half paved.

Council Reverses Itself

Recently he submitted to W. G. Knox, city engineer, a proposition to tear out the work and replace it with eight-inch base, the city to do the surfacing. The council at its meeting Monday evening, May 21, last, decided that it would have the work done at its own expense. It reversed this position last Monday night and directed that proceedings be begun to force the work, under the 1911 improvement and 1915 bond acts.

City Attorney Z. B. West Jr., declared today that just as soon as he is presented by the city engineer with data on the boundaries of an assessment district, he will prepare an ordinance approving the boundaries, and will follow this with a resolution of intention to create the district and order the work.

Valuation Basis Is Crux

West pointed out that the acts provide that where abutting property in a district has been improved, assessments shall not lie against such property, the point being that in the case of Thomson, and another piece of property across the street which has not been repaved, the costs of the proceedings can be charged against the two pieces.

The law provides that cost cannot be imposed on a district in excess of 50 per cent of the assessed valuation of property within the district. In some quarters it has been maintained that proceedings could not be adopted for forcing the repaving of the two pieces because the cost would be in excess of 50 per cent of the assessed valuation of the two properties. Under interpretation that the costs cannot exceed 50 per cent of the assessed valuation of the property in the district, West maintains that the law can be invoked to force the repavement on the unpaved portions of the street.

Minutes and Records Searched

Knox stated today that he had made diligent search of the minutes of the council having to do with the original paving of East Fourth, and other records bearing on the work, and he is unable to find the agreement referred to by Thomson. The latter says the agreement was made some time in 1907.

Thomson is now engaged in erecting a two story concrete store and rooming-house building on a portion of his property. The structure will cost approximately $5000, Thomson says.

WALNUT EXPERT TO GIVE TIPS FROM CHINA

Richland Growers Go Into Annual Meeting With Officials Tomorrow

With the annual reports of the president, J. A. Smiley, and secretary, Andrew D. Smiley, scheduled to be presented, and selection of a board of directors slated, members of the Richland Walnut association of Orange today were contemplating attending the annual session of the organization to be held at the packing house at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Carlyle Thorpe, manager of the California Walnut Growers' association; W. T. Webber, sales manager, and W. B. Hooper, walnut specialist with the state university, will deliver addresses.

Meet Held Important.

"This meeting is of extraordinary importance since it will give leaders of the industry an opportunity to emphasize recent discoveries which are expected to be of great financial benefit to the growers," said J. A. Smiley.

"A year ago Thorpe made a trip around the world to gather the information which he intends to disseminate at the Richland meeting. On camel back and in jinriksha, he traveled across great arid areas in China and Manchuria to reach the walnut growing districts which have been feeding the Orient for thousands of years.

"While on this tedious journey he made many observations as to cultural and harvesting methods.

To Tell Basic Rules.

"Some of these ideas are the fundamental principles of walnut growing in the Orient. Some of them are basic principles which have successfully stood the test of centuries.

"Bringing these ideas home, Thorpe compared them and their results with local cultural and harvesting methods and their results. He found, in some cases, the methods in this newer country were not as successful as those which the Orientals have practiced for centuries.

CRIQUI CONFIDENT OF WINNING TITLE

NEW YORK, June 1.—Eugene Criqui, European featherweight champion, today announced that he would knock out Johnny Kilbane in the sixth round when they meet here tomorrow.

The 34-year-old Frenchman, who fought his way to the European championship after he had part of his jaw shot away at Verdun, said he felt fine, that he weighed 124 pounds and that he was ready to take the title.

Kilbane, on the theory that socks and not words win fights, refused to venture a prediction on what he would do.

"I'm the champion and I feel as good as I ever did. You know what I mean," he said.

The champion said he was also under weight and that he would spend the rest of the time doing nothing. He finished his training two days ago. Tom O'Rourke, who is staging the contest in the park of the New Kork Giants, said the ground would hold 60,000 spectators and he expected to have customers hold all the seats.

Children at Day Nursery, 610 Garfield street.

Contentment not only of the seventeen wee tots who spend their days there but contentment on the part of the matron, Mrs. A. H. T. Taylor, marks the few days that have been spent by them in the new Day Nursery home at 610 Garfield street. The Ebell society conducts this nursery.

"What a change!" said Mrs. Taylor, expressing her complete satisfaction with the new nursery.

"It's just ideal here," she continued. "There are so many things that are better than we had on East Fifth street that I can hardly recount them. First, the nice airy rooms, the big yard and the shade. Why, in summer at the Fifth street place it was very hard for the children to play, because we had no shade. Now we have several nice trees, and it's just fine.

"Then, we have a separate room for the clothing that we sell as one of the means of supporting the Day Nursery. This is a well arranged room, and those who patronize it can come to it without disturbing the children.

"And we have a lot of porch. Wire has been put up so that we can fence this porch off for the youngsters."

The children of the Day Nursery range in age from one year to six. In every instance, the parent or parents are employed during the day, and the children are cared for at the Day Nursery. A warm, substanial meal is served at noon.

Milk and bread and jam are also provided at "hungry times."

In the back yard are swings and teeter-boards.

"A slide and two big sandpiles are the present needs of the children's playgrounds," said Mrs. Taylor.

8903 AUTOISTS VISIT CAMP IN YEAR

Eight thousand nine hundred and three motorists have visited Santa Ana's modern auto camp in the last year, according to the report of L. A. Ludwig, custodian, given out here today.

Two thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine cars, representing virtually every state in the Union have visited the big park on North Main street since it was thrown open in May, 1922.

Last month, Ludwig said, 215 cars arrived at the park, the total number of visitors for the month being 699. Out of this number, Ludwig added, eight had become residents of Santa Ana, while two families had settled in Orange.

May Shows Gain

"The figures for May show a decided gain over those for April," said Ludwig, "and indicate that tourist travel will be exceedingly heavy this summer.

"Motorists from Ilinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Minnesota and other states tell us that many Eastern and Mid-Western residents have determined to head for California this year.

"Santa Ana, exceptionally well advertised by word of mouth, will draw its full share of the great summer rush. When the vacation period is on in full swing, many newcomers will undoubtedly make Santa Ana the center of their summer tours.

521 In May

"Since March 1, we have had 521 cars in the auto park, with 1,541 persons, from all sections of the country."

Among the visitors who had heard of Santa Ana's attractiveness was a tourist from Juneau, Alaska.

"He was delighted with our highways and the scenic beauties found along the route," said Ludwig. "In Juneau and vicinity they have only 35 miles of good roads. It costs $10 for a city license and $10 for a territorial license."

Peek Ordinance Sets City to West Astir Because of Possible Loss

S. A. STORES PREPARED

Garments For This Season Seem Ideal For Beauty and Real Comfort

By TOM LEWIS

With Long Beach emerging from a merry councilmanic war concerning bathing suits—their length, color, cut, and the manner in which they shall be worn—Santa Ano and Orange county residents today were projecting their thoughts beachward and asking the leading question: "What are we going to wear?"

"Wear what you like, but come often, seems to epitomize the sentiment of beach resort proprietors, who have watched with lively interest the efforts of Long Beach to "get from under" the deluge of publicity which marked the revival—and subsequent repeal—of the famous Peek bathing suit ordinance.

After ordering the Peek ordinance, calling for long-skirted women's bathing suits, into force for several days, the Long Beach city council hastily killed the measure, after a heated session in the council chambers.

Publicity Damaging, is Plaint

"The order to enforce the Peek law has cost Long Beach $10,000 damage in the past few days, through ridicule, which caused marked decrease in the beach crowds," Councilman Frank Downs is quoted as saying to the city fathers.

This ordinance, drafted several years ago by former Director of Safety W. M. Peek, also prohibited "low visibility" bathing suits, and prescribed suits "which show plainly at a distance that they are suits, and not flesh."

The council also ordered all bathing tents removed from the beach, accentuating, Orange county residents declared, the fact that Newport Beach now has a so-called "dressing ordinance," which will require beach habitues to be on guard against possible arrest when the bathing season is at its height.

This ordinance, passed after a bitter fight marked by pointed debate, makes it unlawful for bathers to use their automobiles, in certain zones, for dressing and undressing. In other zones, however, notably at the auto camp, dressing and undressing, with specified restrictions, will be permitted.

Comfort Santa Ana Motto

However, all this has little to do with the demand for snappy models in 1923 bathing suits, according to Santa Ana dealers.

"Be comfortable, whatever you do," is the advice of one leading merchant, who admitted that he was more interested in satisfied customers than in disputes between well-meaning city fathers.

"This year, the bathing suit manufacturers have done themselves proud. The garments are ideal—neither too long, nor too short—and the colors! Ah, the colors are sublime! The discerning man and the fastidious woman can have anything the heart desires. See for yourself!"

Colorful Garments Everywhere

A minute inspection of multi-colored suits proved that the astute merchant was correct. In a woman's shop there was a nifty garment of purest white, and the ferret-eyed reporter wondered who was going to wear that — and whether Mr. Peek would bar it from Long Beach, on the grounds that it "did not show plainly at a distance that it was a suit and not flesh."

Other shop windows were resplendent with colors and littered with beach shoes of every conceivable hue.

There were green suits, suggestive of the great deep on a tranquil day; vivid reds, reminiscent of Pacafic sunsets; delicate pinks, sky blues, orange tints, and the prosaic black and white, with here

Constipation is largely responsible for auto-intoxication that leads to dangerous diseases unless it is not only checked but permanently relieved. Constipation, in fact, is the basis of a majority of human ailments which could be headed off if people would only help rid themselves of this serious, health-undermining condition, which can be easily done.

Constipation must be fought to a finish—not with pills and cathartics, which are dangerous to the delicate membranes of the intestines and temporary at best—but with nature's greatest cereal health food—Bran—Kellogg's Bran, which is as delicious as it is beneficial.

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful in its work because it is ALL BRAN. And, to get permanent relief, ALL BRAN is a necessity, for it is the "bulk" of Kellogg's Bran that sweeps and purifies, ridding the system of poisons and bringing conditions to normal. Eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; as much with each meal in chronic cases—and we guarantee that you will get relief permanently and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran is delicious. You do not have to learn to like it. Eat it as a cereal or sprinkle on or mix with hot or cold cereals. Or, cook it with hot cereals, allowing two tablespoonfuls for each person. Kellogg's makes wonderful muffins, griddle cakes, raisin bread, macaroons, etc. Recipes on package.

Leading hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers.

Kept Losing Ground for Five Years, Says Los Angeles Man—Declares He Now Feels Fine as in Younger Days.

When John R. McLean, a cabinet maker, living at 519 Maple Ave., Los Angeles, said: "Tanlac was what I needed to put me in first class working trim," he corroborated the statements of thousands of others who have used the medicine with the most gratifying results.

"Before taking Tanlac," he explained, "I had lost considerable weight and was in a badly run-down condition. Every year, for five or six years, I had been getting thinner and feeling more and more rundown.

"I at last realized the importance of getting something to stop my decline and build me up, and as my aunt had gotten such good results from Tanlac, I turned to the treatment myself with the result that it has added eighteen pounds to my weight and made me feel as good as I ever did in my younger days."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere. adv.

FORD MAY WIN IF HE OBEYS HIS ORDERS

WASHINGTON June 1.—If Henry Ford would play the game according to the rules that Democratic politicians lay down for him he could have the Democratic nomination for vice-president in 1924.

Ford will refuse the vice-presidential nomination, if it is offered to him.

He will refuse to play the political game according to any set of ancient rules made by party politicians.

He doesn't care a whoop for party loyalties or party services or even for parties, by all of which the politicians set great store.

Democratic politicians are worried about the "Ford-For-President" movement which their experienced observers tell them is sweeping the west and middlewest. Public contemptuous towards Ford and his possibilities, in private, leading Democrats have given earnest consideration to means of making Ford do one of two things. These are:

1—Establish himself as a "regular" Democrat in good standing and by performing service for the party show himself entitled to party honors.

2—Eliminate himself from consideration as a Democratic nominee.

They cannot figure out a way to do either, simply because Ford will not play politics the way the politicians are used to playing it. presidency. William Randolph strength, various Democratic candidates would like to make a deal with him to accept the vice-presidential nomination. They have received no encouragement. Ford has said he is not interested in the presidency. The politicians do not believe him, but they do know he is not interested in the vice-presidency. WFilliam Randolph Hearst's effort to hook his third party to the Ford popularity has gotten nowhere thus far. Indications are that Ford does not want to tie to any man or any movement that is cluttered up with "side issues" like political revenge. In fact, if he gets into the presidential campaign, either as Democratic nominee, or as an independent, Ford will run on the most "unpolitical" platform and by means of the most unpolitical methods ever seen in American politics, his friends say.

SEANCES 'FAKE' EXPERT SAYS TO PSYCHICS

NEW YORK, June 1.—Harry Houdini, master magician and president of the Society of American Magicians, denounced as "an outright fake' the alleged spirit manifestations which he and other experts observed at a seance arranged by the Scientific American at its offices in the Woolworth building last Wednesday night. Houdini is the first of the nationally known judges of the psychic test to declare that the demonstration was not what the medium claimed it to be.

Houdini's denunciation of the performance by George Valentine, the medium of Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, came after the magician had been tounted by his friends "for being such a simpleton" as to take any stock in the proceedings staged by the Scientific American. He said he couldn't permit his friends to believe that he was convinced that the performance by seance. When questioned Houdini explained why he had concluded that the seance was a fake, and declared that he went to the demonstration at the invitation of the Scientific American which placed no restrictions upon him.

Would Arrest Medium.

The head of the Society of American Magicians was so firmly convinced of the fraud perpetrated by the Wilkesbarre medium that he declared Valientine ought to be arrested for "preying on the most sacred emotions of the human heart." Houdini said he went to the seance prepared to believe in spiritualism if the medium could prove it. But he was far from convnced that the performance by Valientine was any more than a second rate exhibition of old stock tricks which could easily be detected by even the inexpert.

Valientine was the first of these recognized mediums of the United States to try to win the five thousand dollar prize offered by the Scientific American to any one who could produce genuine manifestations of psychic phenomena.

Houdini says every person in the room was pledged to give the Wilkesbarre medium all the latitude he would take in his performance. It was the belief of Houdini, according to the latter, that the more rope the observers gave the medium, the sooner would he hang himself. And according to Houdidi he did. Just listen to Houdini:

Sought Prize Only.

"The man came there to win the five thousand dollar psychic test prize offered by the Scientific American and we had all agreed to act like a lot of boobs to see what his game was. They put him to a test which any man with half a brain could have seen was no test at all. The man did not have a chance of producing any phenomena that would convince any of us that it was spiritualism.

"Yes, I went there at the invitation of the Scientific American, and I feel at liberty to tell just what happened. There was no string tied to my invitation and I was not pledged to secrecy although there has been an awful lot of reticence on the part of those who were present at the 'seance.'

"I never saw such awkward work in all my life; and that medium had made a statement which he asked us to believe, that he had often been lifted off the floor by spirits and that the spirits had placed him upon a table. He got off that bunk before he started his performance.

"And we said, 'Is that so' and 'How remarkable' and 'Can you just imagine a thing like that.' That man thought he had us fooled. There wasn't a chance at any time that this magician fooled us.

"I think those people ought to be put in jail for preying on the most sacred of human emotions."

Graduation gifts are constant reminders of an unusual occasion.

One should select such gifts with care and deliberation. In most instances suitable inscriptions must be engraved upon them. In others, perhaps, they must be forwarded to distant points to the happy recipient.

Our suggestion, that you give an Elgin Watch on such an occasion, is prompted by the knowledge that such a gift will endure and serve as a happy reminder of the occasion for many years.

Mystery Of Twins In Denver Unsolved

On May 13 twins were born to Mrs. Clinton Plantz. The mother declared a strange physician was summoned by a neighbor and that the doctor took the babies from her to put in an incubator. That was the last she saw of her children.

Mrs. Plantz does not remember the physician's name nor the name of the woman who called him, she says.

Plantz declared today that he was not at home when the babies were born and that when he arrived at the house from work he was told he was the father of twins who had been taken away by the physician.

hours of the day or night."

The conventional exclamation was made as to what her parents thought of her driving alone around the country at all hours of the night. Her home is in Santa Ana.

And Tiny returned to her fascinating task of tracing lost husbands, foundered committees, past presidents, future presidents and various convention items.

STOCKS SUFFER AS INTEREST IS LAX

Professionals Have Free Hand and Pound Short Side of Exchange

(By United Press Leased Wire)

NEW YORK, June 1.—Stocks suffered today from a lack of public interest. With the outside following apparently indifferent to developments on the stock exchange, professional operators had a free hand and they pounded the short side on the theory that further reaction was due, following the six point recovery in the industrial averages over the last ten days.

Another break in cotton carried prices down $4 a bale, reflecting the cutting down of activity in the textile trade. This development in one of the principal commodity markets reacted in turn on stocks which developed larger volume on the decline in the last hour. Some selling of steel common and the independent steel shares, especially Republic and Bethlehem, was based on the failure of incoming orders to take up the current rate of production.

The market closed lower.

GRAIN PRICES IN ANOTHER DECLINE

Wheat Forecast Favorable and Export News Has Bearish Trend

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press)

CHICAGO, June 1.—Favorable crop reports and depressing export news caused grain prices to drop sharply on the Chicago board of trade today.

The B. W. Snow report, placing the condition of winter wheat at 80.4, compared with 79.5 a month ago, resulted in heavy selling of wheat. Word was received from Washington stating that Greece had forbidden the importation of wheat and flour, discrediting reports that traders might expect a heavy demand from that country for this season's crop. Snow said the crop was in an improved condition, but continued favorable weather would be needed for proper maturing.

A moderate volume of trade was noted in corn throughout the day, but there was no heavy buying.

Demand for oats was limited. Most of the buying came from commission houses.

CHOOSE HEADS OF LUTHERAN SYNOD

Following the organization of a separate district of the joint synod of Ohio and other states, delegates attending the district meeting, in session at St. Peter's Lutheran church here today, devoted the forenoon to a close study of Galatians in the original Geek text, as presented by the Rev. J. H. Peters of Anaheim. The discussion of this study will be followed by a paper on missionary problems.

Yesterday the forenoon session was devoted to preliminary work, in which the synodical constitution was read and adopted. At the afternoon session the program for the remainder of the convention was outlined. The program late today was devoted to a practical application of a paper on missionary problems, presented by the Rev. W. Hohberger of Los Angeles. Dr. E. F. W. Stellhorn, mission superintendent of Columbus, O., was among today's arrivals.

Officers elected for the district were:

LODGE CLOSES BIG MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Santa Ana Lodge No. 20, Fraternal Brotherhood, last night closed its 90-day membership campaign. President P. A. After the business session, short addresses were made by Carter and Mr. Tripple of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder of San Diego, O. Johnson and W. F. Heathman and Judge Francis Bartle, of this city.

This was followed by refreshments of home made cake and coffee. The grand march from the hall to the banquet room was led by Gilbert Carter of Long Beach and Mrs. Bartle of Santa Ana.

Next Thursday night will be open night for members and friends with a social dance, it was announced.

FINANCIAL COMMENT

Short Talks on Current Events of Interest to Investors

By James Wilbur

By the transformation of large areas of arid lands into sections rich in agricultural products, the hydro-electric corporations of California have enriched this state by millions of dollars annually and provided employment for thousands of citizens. The growth of the state has been identified closely with the development of hydro-electric projects. Industrially, the state is practically dependent upon power from this source, but it is probable that, by supplying cheap and dependable power with which water is pumped to the surface of arid lands and the soil made to yield bountifully under cultivation, the corporations have benefited the greatest number of persons.

Irrigation is necessary to the successful cultivation of the greater portion of agricultural lands in Southern California, particularly the citrus groves, for which this state is famous. In many parts of the state this irrigation has been made possible by the organization of irrigation companies, which by the construction of impounding dams and ditches have brought the waters from higher levels to the ranches and citrus groves.

In other districts, however, it has been found impossible, either because of natural reasons, or because of prohibitive cost, to construct irrigation systems. It is here that the hydro-electric corporations, by supplying power for pumping at rates which make it profitable to cultivate the lands, stepped in and by assisting the ranchers in every conceivable manner, have added millions of dollars to the value of the annual products of California ranches.

The three great hydro-electric corporations operating in the southern central part of California today are furnishing power to irrigate more than one million acres of lands as follows:

	Acres
Southern California Edison Company	626,000
Nevada-California Electric Corporation	61,054
San Joaquin Light & Power Corporation	341,556
	1,028,610

These figures are as of December 31, 19222, and each of the companies has added considerable area since that time. The transmission lines of the Nevada-California Electric corporation, which extend from Mono lake to the Imperial valley, traverse an immense area of arid land which is suitable for cultivation. Much of this land already has been tested and found to have a plentiful supply of water beneath the surface within easy pumping distance. After pumps have been installed this now unproductive land will yield big returns.

In extending their lines to the agricultural lands, thereby gaining additional business and enriching the state, the power companies have taken the lead. It is an axiom in California that "population follows the power lines." On the private power corporations has fallen the burden of pioneering the way. Through their efforts these million acres now are supporting thousands of citizens and adding millions of dollars annually to the wealth of the state and nation.

Alleged Liquor Law Violator Pays $500

James Morrison, arrested several weeks ago in the big liquor raid at Seal Beach by sheriff's deputies, today had paid a fine of $500, imposed yesterday by Justice J. B. Cox.

Morrison had pleaded not guilty to possession, but yesterday he retracted his plea.

Despite the plea of guilty, and the statement of Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wettlin, that this precluded the possibility of a trial, Cox insisted on hearing evidence before imposing the sentence.

Man Who Took 20 or 30 Drinks Bailed Out

J. Eddie Goss, the man who was said to have admitted taking between "20 and 30 drinks" when he was arrested near Orange last Tuesday night, was free today under $300 bail, awaiting preliminary hearing before Justice J. B. Cox July 2 at 2 p. m. He is charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Goss was arrested by Sheriff Jernigan and Deputy Orlo Moncrief after he had driven his sedan into a hedge on the E. E. Campbell ranch, authorities said.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Receipts of strawberries were lighter today and dealers experienced little difficulty in moving their stock at prices ranging from 60 to 65 cents per drawer. Blackberries and loganberries were lower in price. Cantaloupes were 50 cents lower by the crate, but fresh, firm stock was rather scarce. Peaches were in light demand with crates selling from $1 to $1.25 each.

City cold storages now hold a total of 36,116 boxes of apples, which is a reduction of 10,291 boxes for the week.

Receipts: Grape fruit two cars; oranges two cars; cantaloupes two cars.

A few sacks of wax beans sold at 17 1-2 and 19 cents per pound.

Stockton yellow onions, just received, brought $2.50 per cwt. New white potatoes are in better demand at 3@3 1-2 cents per pound. Best tomatoes sold up to $2.50 per lug.

DRIVER OF DEATH CAR GETS 1 YEAR

Denied probation after he had been found guilty of intoxication when he drove the automobile in which Ollie Miller was killed several months ago, L. L. Meek was today sentenced to serve one year in the county jail.

He was tried before a jury in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court several weeks ago, and when he was found guilty, applied for probation.

This the court denied today but gave the young man a jail sentence instead of committing him to San Quentin, an alternative which the law affords.

Denies Charges Made In Will Contest Suit

General denial of charges contained in the will contest suit filed by Goldie McGregor and Wilma Bladen Young Taylor, when he attempted to secure probate of the will of the late Vada Bladen, were filed in superior court today by Harry Bladen.

Bladen denied that the deceased, who left the major portion of her estate to him, cutting off the plaintiffs in the suit with $10 each, was of unsound mind.

He denied that he had been convicted on an infamous crime, but admitted serving one year in the pententiary at Oregon for larceny. He was pardoned in 1913, he claimed.

He denied that he used undue influence on his mother, or that he had told her that his sisters, the plaintiffs, were immoral and kept company with objectionable persons.

Plans today were being completed by Kiwanis club members to furnish the necessary automobiles in which children of Mrs. Maude Putnam's classes of the Mabel Rockwell School of dancing will be taken tomorrow, to Los Angeles where the dance revue given recently at the Temple theatre, will be presented on the lawn of the Children's Orthopedic hospital on South Flower street at 2 p. m.

The little crippled children of the hospital will have their number augmented by similarly afflicted children from other institutions of that city. It is expected that 200 of the little folk will enjoy the program.

Nearly forty children dancers will go from this city and in their gay and brilliant costumes, will endeavor to give identically the same performance as that presented here.

Mrs. Putnam will join the party at Los Angeles. Mrs. Edith Androus will act as accompanist.

Start will be made from Rockwell hall promptly at 11:30 a. m., it was announced.

ESTATE LEVIES MAY GO UP IN NEXT SESSION

WASHINGTON, June 1.—An increase in taxes on estates will be one of the proposals in the next session of congress which is certain to stir up controversy. Senator Capper, Konsas, Republican, head of the senate farm bloc, includes an increase of this character in a tax program which he announces that he favors. Others of the so-called "progressives" group rates on estates than those in the present law which range from 1 to 25 per cent be imposed as a means of forcing those who inherit wealth to pay a larger share of taxation.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon not only is opposed to any increase in taxes on estates, but believes that the present rates are much too high for peace time and are actually destructive of values. It is Secretary Mellon's contention that taxes which in effect seize upon capital as distinguished from earnings are fundamentally wrong. He points out that if the wealth of an estate consisted of money, evil results of a tax of this sort would not be so great, but that usually it is necessary to convert holdings of an estate into money in order to pay taxes and that this forced liquidation causes a shrinkage in values.

Some of those who insist that the present tax is not high enough would go so far as to double the rates. To prevent evasion of estate taxes this element favors a tax on gifts.

Tax Exempt Changes

Senator Capper in outlining his views on taxation favors the elimination of tax exempt securities, the imposition of a tax on undistributed earnings of corporations, increased inheritance taxes and a tax on gifts.

"The last congress by removing the excess profits tax and by reducing the millionaire's surtax on income from 65 to 50 per cent, made it still easier for those who can pay taxes easiest and who own the largest amount of taxable property, to carry far less than their just share of the nation's tax burden already being carried by the little fellows," said Senator Capper.

"But it seems with all of the tax evasion and tax lifting among those whose incomes run into six figures, or better, they are not satisfied. Wall street promoters and financiers are to descend on the next congress, in December, with another demand to enact the sales tax scheme, although prices and living costs are steadily rising and profiteering in coal and sugar is rampant. This would mean a futrher tax on lean pocketbooks for the benefit of fat ones, the taking from the people of a larger percentage of their earnings through subjecting the consumer to a consumption tax, that wealth may get still further from under its share of the national load.

"The usual pretense will, of course, be made that by taxing consumption and relieving big business still further from paying taxes, the giant will have that much more capital to invest in business.

Purpose of Move

"Summed up, the purpose of all this tax propaganda is to put more and more the tax burden upon the producers of wealth and less and less on wealth itself. No good can come of it, ond worse time for attempting to put over a sales tax could hardly be found. Prices are rising, profiteers are openly preying upon the people. The chances that the people will calmly submit to a sales tax is small, indeed. And yet great wealth in its blindness and unwisdom cannot see that it is so.

"Probably congress has the greatest fight on the tax question in its history just ahead. The people's representatives must prepare for it. The hig shift in taxes already has gone too far and must go no farther; in fact, the load must be adjusted. This country cannot be made prosperous by exempting great fortunes from taxation and piling the cost of government upon the American standard of living. Instead, what the situation demands is that the flood of tax exempt securities be checked; that a tax be placed on a gift tax levied to prevent their evasion. These measures constitute a square deal program in taxation and nothing less should be accepted as final."

DEMAND FOR HORSES NOW IS INCREASING

Although the number of horses in the country has been steadily decreasing and the number of stallions registered for service in the various states has been on the decline in recent years, according to an analysis of the situation by the United States department of agriculture, there are indications that this downhill movement is coming to a halt.

There is also reason to believe that as a result of the culling that has been going on in the last few years the quality of the horse stock is being improved at a rate greater than usual.

At the end of 1922, there were 203,000 fewer horses and 39,000 more mules in the United States than at the beginning of that year. While production has not kept pace with the death rate, the demand has been increasing. Last year there was an increase approximately 40 per cent in the number of horses received on markets over the previous year.

NEW PRINCIPLE IN NUTRITION, CLAIM

Experiments in nutrition during the last few years have resulted in the discovery of new principles in nutrition, many of which are important in the proper feeding of dairy cattle, says the United States department of agriculture.

It has been found that an adequate diet must cotnaine certain mineral ingredients, and also certain organic compounds whose exact chemical nature is still unknown, but which have been called vitamins.

It is quite possible to make up a diet from ordinary feedstuffs which will containe sufficient protein and energy, and yet be deficient in either minerals or vitamins or both.

HUGE LOSS IS CHARGED TO RAT HORDE

Damage by rats to produce and property in the United States amount to $200,000,000 annually, according to the department of agriculture.

Rats affect a larger percentage of the population than any other pest in existence. Infesting almost the entire world, they carry on unceasingly their work of destruction, of transmitting disease, and of inspiring repugnance or dread where they are present or threaten invasion of the home.

Injury to farm produce starts when the seed is first planted and continues through the growing season and harvest, in the wholesale and retail markets, and often in the home of the consumer. Such losses in the aggregate so affect the ultimate price of foodstuffs that everyone shares them, whether he maintains rats on his premises or not.

Modern ideas of thrift are opposed to such unnecessary waste, and the demand for relief is becoming insistent. What is most needed is a constant campaign of education to increase public intolerance of rats, carried on by extension and sanitation officials and all others interested. Individual efforts, which through the centuries have been ineffective in eliminating rats, must give way to organized endeavor.

For information regarding the relation of the rat to the public health, address the surgeon general, United States public health service, Washington.

For information relative to the habits, life history and economic status of the rat and for additional information in regard to anti-rat campaigns and methods of control, address the bureau of biological survey, United States department of agriculture, Washington.

Probe Sudden Crash Of Stock Magnates

NEW YORK, June 1.—Investigation into the crash of Jones and Baker, the largest stock brokers on the curb here and one of the largest firms ever to go into involuntary bankruptcy, was launched here today, while authorities in Chicago were determining whether the Illinois "blue sky" law had been violated by the firm.

"Long" accounts of customers were reported to amount to $10,000,000, with short accounts running possibly to $2,000,000 and bank loans totalling $2,500,000.

Steps were taken by authorities to insure that there would be no obstacles to surmount as in previous inquiries when other brokerage firms failed.

TRANSPLANT TOMATOES

Don't hesitate to transplant tomatoes twice if the plants are growing too thick in the seed beds or seed boxes. The double transplanting will make them stockier plants.

It takes about 100 days from seed sowing to the first ripe tomato of the earliest varieties, if conditions are favorable. Figure it out and see if the tomatoes do their duty.

SMUT PREVENTIVE

Make a note that a spray of formalin solution is a preventive of corn smut.

DESTROY LICE

Dust tobacco on the pea vines when the dew is on them if there are any signs of plant lice, which sometimes appear after they get well above ground.

Flavor of Brandy In Mince Pie Is Illegal, Court Says

CHICAGO, May 25.—Mince pies will not retain their ancient flavor of brandy, according to a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals returned Wednesday asserting that the Victoria Distilling Co. of Louisville, Ky., could not move 45 barrels of brandy which it has in storage in Chicago.

The company said that the brands was to be used in mince pies.

WOMAN IS HIT BY TWO TRAINS AT SAME TIME

HAMMOND, Ind., May 25—What is worse than being hit by a train at a railroad crossing? Being hit by two trains, is the answer of Jewel Fernandero, who was riding in a taxicab that was struck by two trains at the same time on a crossing in East Chicago. She has filed $10,000 suit for damages in the superior court here.

DAIRYING INCREASES

SASKATOON, Sask., May 25.—The remarkable increase in dairy production during the past few years has been one of the outstanding features of agriculture in this province.

DECLARES U. S. SHOULD WIN AIR RACE

WASHINGTON, May 22 — Deploring America's apathy toward the aviation development as a national peril and scandal, Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the naval air service, declared today the United States must win the international seaplane races in England, Sept. 28, to arouse this country from a fatal lethargy.

Admiral Moffett said the nation must awaken to the real possibilities of navigation of the air, already recognized in other countries, where vast fleets of commercial and fighting planes are building, and to look upon aviation as an industry rather than a sport.

"The seaplane races are not primarily sporting events," he declared, "but look to the development of planes and engines that will meet the most severe tests, both from the commercial and combat standpoints. They are of outstanding importance because of the stimulating effect on airship development."

The United States, although entering for the first time and confronted with the best aviators of France, England, Belgium and Italy, using the finest planes those countries can produce, has a good chance to win the race, according to Admiral Moffett.

Victory means the event will be held in the United States in 1924 and the possession of the famous Snyder air trophy by the American navy. Admiral Moffett said the American entries would be the last word in aviation art, while the pilots would be selected after a careful study of the navy's 135 flyers.

Within a short time candidates for the American team will be assembled at Anacosta, D. C., air station for intensive training.

Three seaplanes, the most powerful ever built by the navy, to be piloted by an American team, are under construction.

WASHINGTON IS PREPARED FOR SHRINE CLUBS

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Cities have risen mushroom-like over night during gold-rushes in the West, but no staid metropolis has ever doubled its population in a day. Yet that is what Washington expects to do during Shrine Week—June 3 to 8.

The Nation's Capital was a beehive of activity today preparing to play host to a multitude that will make the great inaugural crowds seem like a Squash Center county court day throng in comparison.

Washington, normally a city of about 450,000, anticipates tucking away 900,000 each night of the week the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine turn the city into a colorful Arab camp with their red fezes and bisarre zouzave costumes.

A shriner with a bent for statistics has figured out that Washington's guest, if rolled into one, would make a noble twice the height of the Washington Monument—1100 feet—weighing 75,000,000 pounds. Broad Pennsylvania avenue would make a narrow footpath for his 150 feet shoes and he would wear a fez the size of the capitol dome.

The housing committee, having filled every available hotel, has asked citizens to open their homes to this gigantic guest. Nearly 1500 Pullman cars standing in the terminal will house others and many thousands may be forced to go to the tent colony now being organized.

Washington's guest will pay a board bill of $5,000,000 a day. Washington merchants, who have raised a fund of $500,000 for entertainment of their guest, expect to reap a profit of $50,000,000 in ten days.

The hens of six states will be kept busy laying eggs for the crowd. "Old Bossy" must give up 25,000 gallons of milk daily for coffee alone and the baker must furnish 250,000 loaves of bread. It is estimated that 2,500,000 pounds of meat will be eaten during the colossal carnival.

VIENNESE FLOCK TO RISQUE DANCES

VIENNA, May 25.—Dancing in the nude, exhibitions of which are being given nightly in one of the largest concert halls, is the latest attraction to which Viennese are flocking.

They have been appearing for several years in scanty attire in cabarets and on the vaudeville stage, but only recently did they startle their audience clad in nothing more than the proverbial "smile."

Their performance was undisturbed as were those of the following few nights. Then the press and clergy began a storm of protest and a tirade against the police department for permitting such exhibitions.

On beholding the dancers in their terpsichorean interpretation of Chopin, Verdi and Gounod, the prefect of police decided that there was nothing indecent about the exhibition, and that on the contrary it was a worthy contribution to the world of art.

Meanwhile Barber and Droste continue their nightly exhibitions in the "altogether," and the concert hall at which they are appearing is turning nightly away hundreds of disappointed "patrons of art."

ONIONS SMELL LIKE SUBWAY TO HIM

COLUMBIA CITY, Ind., May 25.—A vague, yet strangely familiar, aroma was wafted on the erstwhile sweet spring breezes to the delicate nostrils of an ex-New Yorker. "Ah," he exclaimed, taking a deep inhale, "when did they put in the subway out here?" It developed that high winds had damaged the onion fields by blowing the small tubers out of the earth and hurling them through the air.

TEA

The tea plant is an evergreen bush, growing about four feet high; its growth being limited by frequent prunings. There are three kinds of tea. First, Green or unfermented. Second, Black or fermented. Third, Oolong or semi-fermented. All of these teas can be produced from leaf picked from the same bush.

There are three crops or pickings of tea. The first crop is picked the last week of April and the first of May, the second is picked the last of May and the third crop in June and July. The first crop tea is always the highest grade.

Green Tea is produced by steaming the leaf, when picked, to make it soft and pliable, then it is rolled, and fired in pans or baskets over a charcoal fire. The leaf retains its natural color through the entire process. There are two main divisions of Green teas, Japan green teas and China green teas. Japan produces Basket Fired and Pan Fired green teas, China produces Gunpowder, Imperial and Young Hyson green teas.

Pan Fired teas are made from the small leaves, fired in pans and turned over by machinery, while Basket Fired teas are made from the long leaves fired in wicker baskets over charcoal fires. The leaves are placed in baskets about eight inches deep and are turned by hand in order to prevent as much as possible the breaking up of the leaf.

Gunpowder, Imperial and Young Hyson teas are practically the same, the only difference being the shape of the leaf. After these teas are rolled they are run through seives of different sized meshes. The small round rolls are Gunpowder, the large round rolls are imperial and the long rolls are Young Hyson.

Black teas are produced by a process of fermentation, which is brought about by spreading the green leaf on trays made of canvass, saturated with water. These trays are piled in a hot room for three or four hours, the evaporation of the water causes the leaf to change from a natural green to a copper color. The leaf is then rolled and fired at a high temperature, which turns it black.

Oolong teas are semi-fermented and are produced in the Island of Formosa. They are produced in the same way as black tea, except that they are fired when the leaves are only about half fermented.

There are two main divisions of black teas. The black teas produced in China are called English Breakfast or Congou teas. The black teas produced in India, Ceylon and Java are Orange Pekoe, Pekoe and Pekoe Souschoung.

The fine small leaf in all teas are the highest grade, and the large coarse leaf the cheaper grades. The darker the leaf in the cup the poorer the grade. The Orange Pekoe tea is considered the best for Iced Tea.

In making tea, scald out a crockery tea pot and while it is still warm put in the tea. Pour on freshly boiled water that has been brought to a quick boil, allow the brew to stand from five to seven minutes. If iced tea is desired the tea should be poured off to cool at the end of five or seven minutes. Never allow the tea to cool with the leaves in.

DO YOU LIKE A BLACK OR GREEN TEA? Whichever you prefer we have the tea that will suit you. Teas that make the FRAGRANT, Refreshing drink you like. We guarantee our teas to be absolutely pure.

H. B. TEAM RETURNS FROM BIG CLASSIC

Coach Walker Tells Views On Fight at Chicago For U. S. Track Title

Not alibing but still confident that they could have finished with more points had they had an even break of luck, members of the little Huntington Beach track squad, Coach Ray Walker, Ross Nichols, Charlie Bickmore, Virgil Elliott and Milt Nash, today were back home from Chicago where last Saturday they tied for fourth place at the National Interscholastic meet. The men returned to their homes late last night.

"We did pretty well, I think," Coach Walker said, "but had the breaks gone just a little bit our way instead of in the opposite direction I am of the opinion that we might have won the meet.

"Charlie Bickmore was fast enough to get either a second or a third in those high hurdles. He romped through his heat in the semi-finals when the runner in the lane to his left hit him and pushed him into a hurdle. Bickmore almost fell. He was out of his stride but at that he regained a lot of ground and just was nosed out of place. This would have entitled him to run in the finals which Nichols won with ease.

"Nash was simply not in form or he could have bettered his third position in the quarter-mile. He was not tired at the finish but he didn't have his usual finish at the tape.

Elliott's performance stamps him as a broad jumper to watch. He made 22 feet 6½ inches back at Chicago. Not once did he fail to better 22 feet. Next season he may get out to 23 feet or better for he was jumping in wonderful form in the east."

The Huntington Beach team still has a good chance to cop the national title for with the exception of Bickmore, every man on the squad will be eligible next season.

JUNIOR HIGH NINE LOSES TITLE GAME

BY DAVID ROBERTS
(Junior H. S. Sport Editor)

The Santa Ana junior high school baseball team yesterday dropped a hard-fought game for the cup awarded to schools in the surrounding country to prove themselves superior to all others. This was between Tustin and Santa Ana and Tustin won 12 to 8. Santa Ana won last season and if they had won this year they would have had the cup in their permanent possession.

Santa Ana was up against it for several of the boys on the first squad could not be present and four inexperienced players had to substitute the vacancies.

Although Santa Ana lost, Forgues, the local pitcher, struck out 18 of the 27 men that faced him.

Forgues and Kuykendall both knocked out triples while Kuykendall drew a double to his credit besides. Suddaby and Farrar got a double each for Tustin.

The boys al played well and comparatively few errors were made. This game marks the closing of the league as a successful one for Tustin. Mr. Lauderbauch and his bunch of stars have played the game well and deserve much credit. As for Archer and the local team, a gamer lot never played the game and Santa Ana has had one of the best and cleanest bunch of ball-players that she has ever had in her history.

Former Champ Has Eyesight Restored After Blind Spell

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.—Pete Herman, former bantamweight champion, his eyesight partially restored after almost a year of total blindness, declared today he hoped to return to the boxing game.

"I am planning on getting back into the manager's end of the fight game," Herman said today. "I do not expect my eyesight will ever be good enough again to warrant my return to the ring."

Herman lost the sight of his right eye shortly after an exhibition charity bout in Philadelphia seven years ago. He continued fighting, however, and won many big decisions until a year ago, when his left eye began to fail him and he was soon totally blind.

Yesterday the bandages he had worn over his eyes for three months were removed and he discovered he had regained partial sight.

"It was one of the happiest moments of my life," he said today. "When those bandages were removed and I saw the light of day once more I felt like a new man."

LONDON, June 1.—Gene Sarazen, American open champion, was leading by a large margin in the finals of the northern English professional matches at St. Annes this afternoon.

EXCELSIORS DEFEAT DALE INDOOR TEAM

Featured by one torrid tie encounter and another free hitting melee, the Santa Ana Industrial Indoor baseball league got away to a big league start at the local "Y" court last night.

The Post Office team and the Robertson Electric company henchmen struggled to a 13 to 13 tie, calling the contest "no game" in order to relinquish the court at the scheduled time. Their tilt will be played off at a later date, T. P. McKee, local Y. M. C. A. secretary and director of the league, announced today.

The Excelsior Creamery company sluggers doned their hitting clothes and mangled the Dale Hardware force 26 to 13. Both teams hit the ball frequently.

The Southern Counties Gas company and the City Hall teams will hook up at 7 o'clock tonight in the second frame of the league. The Printers and Bankers mix at 8 bells.

Present Poly Girl Net Star With Cup As League's Token

MISS FRANCES COCROFT.

A member of three successful girls' teams, indoor baseball, basketball and tennis and now Southern California Interscholastic single champion in the net sport, Miss Frances ("Billie") Cocroft, today has as one of her most prozed possessions a shiny silver cup presented to her at a Santa Ana high school assembly yesterday afternoon by the Girls' league as an award for being the "best all-around girl athlete in school."

The beautiful trophy was awarded on the basis of scholarship, athletic ability and sportsmanship.

Miss Cocroft, who played in her first tournament only last summer, is just completing her second year at the local school. Tennis critics who have watched her style of play predict that the next few years hold a rosy athletic future for her.

Three silver cups are reposing in the Poly trophy case as a result of the victories of the tennis team during the season just closed. The Orange league cup is now the permanent possession of the local school.

DELHI RESULTS

Kid Mexico, Steve Biss—draw.

Henry Gatten, Young Sheller—draw.

Johnny Nandez won from Young Monroe, decision.

Eddie Dugan stopped Eddie Benson, first round.

Battling Weir stopped Eddie Carl, third round.

Eddie Doolis stopped Big Chief third round.

BY RINGSIDER

Crowding more action into their fourth round than they had offered during the entire first three frames, Kid Mexico and Steve Biss, middleweights, went to a draw in the main event at the Delhi arena last night. It was a popular decision.

Mexico made the mistake of trying to box his speedier opponent in the opening stanzas and was slowly losing out on points until he snapped out of his lethargy and began to fight the only way he ever should—to hammer, slug and cuff. The Huntington Beach boy can take them far better than nine out of ten of his opponents and in a slugging match the other guy usually will give ground first.

Mex Begins to Fight

Realizing that he was trailing the ex-sailor on points, Mexico began to fight the last round. His straight right and his uppercut landed frequently, the former blow almost invariably stopping on Biss's damaged optic which was closed completely. Just when the beach boy had overcome the sailor's slight lead and was beginning to sail out in front, Biss landed a darby right to the button that shook Mexico all the way down. That punch evened matters.

Joe Grimm, badly dented from his bout at Vernon Tuesday night, gave way his place on the card to Henry Gatten. Gatten slightly outpointed Young Sheller but was awarded a draw. Sheller held his own until he broke a bone in his right hand in the last round. He was helpless thereafter and Gatten punished him severely.

Johnny Nandez whipped the ducking little Joe Monroe, a game kid but a poor opponent for a boy like Nandez. Monroe was floored by a smack to the jaw in the second and was always second best. It was a poor match.

Dugan Stops Benson

Eddie Dugan rushed Eddie Benson into a corner and knocked him kicking with one punch after about sixty seconds of first round milling. Benson was out cold and Referee Tommy Quinlan didn't even finish the count over him.

Two big fellows, one styling himself Battling Weir and the other Eddie Carl, went two and a half dizzy rounds before Weir got wise that Carl's stomach was a vulnerable spot. The fight stopped one punch later. It was a riot while it lasted.

Practical Notes on the S. S. Lesson

Prepared for The Register by Cal. Ogburn

Lesson for June 3. Jer. 35:5-14, 18, 19. JEREMIAH, THE PROPHET OF COURAGE.

Jeremiah stands as the representative of all who have been—or may be—identified with any "Lost Cause," that, because of its worthiness, should not have been "lost." During forty long eventful years Jeremiah struggled against the inevitable. A son of Hilkiah the priest, he must have been from the first a man of standing, well known, the owner of a landed estate at Anathoth near Jerusales, and, therefore, should have had a great and wholesome influence. But he was unable, try as he might, to stay the rising tide that was to sweep the kingdom of Judah out of existence.

A remnant of his own people, against his expostulation, went into Egypt, compelling him to go with them, where, according to Jerome, he was put to death. And so ended the fruitless, thankless, life-long efforts of this prophet of God to save his country and his people from destruction.

A Successful Failure

From all that is recorded we can learn of nothing that Jeremiah ever said or did that made a lasting impression for good. He never so much as received the encouragement of a temporary success. And yet he kept on and on with his pleading, remonstrating, warning, just as though he was meeting with the most encouraging response. Why did he do it? There is one answer above all others: he was doing the will of God.

Jeremiah was not, after all, the champion of a "Lost Cause.' God's "Cause" never is lost. The people to whom Jeremiah spoke from God stubbornly refused his counsel and perished. But the cause of truth, justice and righteousness, to which Jeremiah devoted his life, is as everlasting as the throne of God. Judged by human standards, no man is bound to succeed, but he is under obligation to do the will of God, and doing that no effort of his goes unrequited. Believe that, and you will yield to no discouragement, and believe it you must, if you accept the justice of God as fundamental to his nature.

"I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites bowls full of wine, and cups; and I said unto them, Drink ye wine."—v. 5. Jeremiah was not tempting the Rechabites to drink wine. He knew that they were such thorough abstainers from all intoxicants that there would be no temptation to them in what he did.

An Object Lesson

Jeremiah meant to teach and reprove his own people by the use of this striking object lesson. A pictured truth is the most appealing. Here was a wandering, nomad, Gypsy-like band of people who had taken refuge for the time being from Nebuchadrezzar in the city of Jerusalem.

Jeremiah would use them to give instruction and reproof. He was original and resourceful in his methods. The teacher before his class, the preacher from the pulpit, the editor—in fact, all who occupy the place of an instructor—must make use of means that will arrest and hold the attention, if the truth taught is to be apprehended. And nothing is quite so well suited to do this as an apt illustration. Do not hesitate to use the unconventional, if by so doing you can impress a vital truth.

"But they said, We will drink no wine; for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father, commanded us saying, Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your sons forever."—v. 6. Behold the influence of one man who who dared to be unconventional and unpopular! Jonadab had lived almost three centuries before—and still lived—and yet lives. No man who advances the common good ever dies. His name may be lost in oblivion, but his influence is immortal. The "Rechabites," of various names and orders, or none at all, have come to be an innumerable company.

To be a "teetolar" is no longer to be thought peculiar or ridiculous. Millions have been what Jonadab alone saw—in a practical way—that total abstinence from the use of all intoxicants is conducive to happiness and long life.

The Simple Life

While we have gained much in numerous ways during the last half century, we have lost much. We have lost, or are in great danger of losing, the ability to be simple in our manner of living. The loom of life becomes more and more complicated, and difficult and noisy in its operation. And the fabric that is woven is not of that uniformly high quality and subdued colors that was of our fathers weaving. We have neither time nor inclination to be leisurely, meditative, and thoroughly appreciative of the best that life might be made to contain. Ours is a nation of great and rapidly-growing cities, where there is constantly more or less turmoil, turbulence and trouble. Maybe it will all end in one sublime crash, as was the ending of the kingdom of Judah,—but more likely we shall gradually return to the quiet of the country and suburban life, and to the "simple pleasures that always please,' if we remain city dwellers. We learned, with Jonadab, that wine is not conducive to health, wealth or happiness, and outlawed strong drink as a beverage. And the time probably will come when the "simple life" will make an irresistible appeal. Let the "Jeremiahs' continue to point to the "Rechabites" as models and it will be done.

REINCARNATION IS BLAMED FOR CHAOS

CHICAGO, May 28.—Reincarnation is responsible for the present turbulent situation in Europe, delegates to the convention of the American Thesoophical Society declared here.

"The Romans were reincarnated into the English in whole groups," said A. Eugene Deaderick, one of the 700 delegates. "The Carthagenians were reincarnated into the Germans and the Greeks into the French.

"Thus the ancient Latreds and wars were perpetuated.

H. J. Budd, chairman of the society declared reincarnation is a proven fact; that the human ego is more highly developed each life time and finally approaches the state of super-human genius.

"Christ was a super-human," Deaderick declared.

Police Dog, Devoid Of Outer Garb, Now Is Hunting Barrel

"Starky," the police dog, has a hair cut.

In itself, a haircut isn't such an important operation, but when a large, fur-covered canine is involved, it becomes a matter of greater consequence.

The denuding process covered a greater area than haircuts usually do, and according to Officer Howell who is official guardian of Starky, the four-footed sleuth presents a changed appearance.

"He acted sort of ashamed after the tonsorial act was completed," Howell said today. "He walked around like he was looking for a barrel."

Anyway, the animal who has walked the beats with the best of Santa Ana's patrolmen, is now in perfect disguise, and may, according to City Marshal Rogers, be assigned to the detective squad with Sid Smithwick.

SEATTLE WILL SEE SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHS

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who is lecturing here on spirit manifestations, answered charges made by Dr. J. Allen Gilbert of Portland and by the Seattle society of psychic research.

The Seattle society asked that the Lally "spirit photographs" which Conan Doyle is carrying, be withheld from exhibition in Seattle because they were not authenticated.

Conan Doyle today replied that the photographs were particularly well authenticated. He said he "would certainly show them in Seattle."

Reply to Dr. Gilbert, who has offered $500 to Conan Doyle or any one else who can transmit a code agreed upon by Dr. Gilbert and his wife, now dead, Conan Doyle said: "These gifts from the beyond are controlled from the other side. We cannot say why one man gets assurances and another does not. For years I got none. Now I get many. We must go by the evidence that so many thousands, including many of the world's foremost scientists and leaders of thought, have actually had this consolation even though Dr. Gilbert has failed to get it."

Dr. Gilbert said he had received thus far 135 answers from mediums, none of which are correct.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

NORMA TALMADGE, O'BRIEN ON WEST END SCREEN

If "Her Only Way" were not such a good photoplay as it is the real film-fan would find a visit to the West End theatre where Norma Talmadge is starring in the George Scarborough pay well worth while in the satisfaction that comes from seeing Miss Talmadge and Eugene O'Brien once more acting together in the same scenes.

The work of these two players in "Her Only Way" registers their efforts at a time when they were each bubbling with enthusiasm, each going ahead to honors on the screen and thus, working in their own interest, striving to make every scene and incident count in their favor.

These two players work out, in "Her Only Way", an interesting story of love and suspicion; intrigue and jealousy and selfish villainy in a highly edifying manner and the "surprise finish" gives the "kick" of satisfaction that comes when the plot detectives are baffled and happiness comes to end all well.

HARRISON FORD IN CAST OF PRINCESS FILM

Harrison Ford, as leading man in "When Love Comes", Helen Jerome Eddy's first independent starring vehicle now playing at the Princess theatre, gives us the proper touch of sentiment and romance to the role of the young and timid lover. His playing in the picture has been the subject of no end of favorable comment among screen fans who look deeply into the problems of photoplay production.

Harrison Ford has served as leading man for many of the foremost stars of the screen. Among his most notable achievements in recent months was his skilful playing opposite Norma Talmadge in "Smilin' Through."

The lobby of the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco, whach has seen international famous notables from all corners of the globe and which has been the site of many political convention headquarters, including the last Democratic convention, plays an important part in Marshall Neilan's "Fools First," which begins a two-day engagement at the Yost theater tonight.

Richard Dix, Claire Windsor and other players in this picture made the trip to San Francisco with Mr. Neilan, in order to give the public one of the most attractive lobby scenes ever staged and to insure an "honest-to-goodness" atmosphere for those scenes.

STARS RISK DEATH IN "THE GO-GETTER."

Several near accidents marked the filming of certain scenes for the production, "The Go-Getter," now showing at the Temple theater. Seena Owen, playing the leading feminine role, was slightly bruised b ythe wing of the airplane used in the production, and the leading man, T. Roy Barnes, risked his life by standing on the tracks in the path of a swiftly approaching train, jumping to safety when the engine was only a few feet away.

"The Go-Getter" is an excellent picturization of the story by Peter B. Kyne. The cast is excellent.

FOR CITRUS SCALE

Rosin soap spray is especially good to use for scale on lemon and orange trees. Use one pound to about three gallons of water. A thorough spraying is almost as effective as a fumigation, if done at the proper time. Kerosene or distillate is often added, but should be used with care to prevent burning of foliage and fruit. We handle the Rosin soaps in one, three and forty pound cans.

ORANGE MAN IS BADLY BURNED ABOUT HANDS

ORANGE, June 1.—With his face and one arm swathed in bandages, Walter Lembke, this city, today was recovering from severe burns sustained when a gasoline stove exploded virtually in his face as he was about to toss it from a tent at Serra, near San Juan Capistrano.

Was Camping

The accident which might have proven fatal had Lembke's clothing caught fire, happened during a camping trip late last week.

The stove, one of the common gasoline camping variety, did not belong to Lembke but was in the tent adjoining that of the local people.

Lembke, who happened to be passing, found the stove ablaze on the floor of the tent which at that time was unoccupied.

Fearing that the flames might catch the tent and be transferred to automobiles parked about the place. Lembke picked up the flaming stove to toss it out in the open.

Just as he prepared to hurl it out of the tent, the tank exploded, severely burning Lembke's right arm and blistering his entire face.

Sounds Warning

"There is grave danger in connection with the use of gasoline stoves on camping trips, or for that matter, the home," Lembke stated today in issuing a warning to prevent recurrence of simlar mishaps.

Calvin Gray stopping in Dallas in the most expensive suite in the most exclusive hotel, is the enemy of Colonel Henry Nelson, son of Bell Nelson, banker, Gray becomes friendly with the Briskow family, who have struck oil. Besides Gus and Ma Briskow there is a daughter, Allegheny, and a son called Bud. Pa Briskow takes Ma and Allie to the mountains, where they stay at an expensive hotel. Allie has a tutor named Mrs. Ring. Bud is sent away to school. Gray is in love with Barbara Parker, known as Bob, who buys land for Colonel Henry Nelson.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

AT such times Allie was more than disagreeable. Hate flamed in her eyes, she beat herself with her fists, she kicked the furniture, and she broke things. Once she even butted her head against the wall, uttering language meanwhile that all but caused her companion to swoon.

Mrs. Ring resigned after this final exhibition, but, lacking the courage to face Allie in a mood like that, she went to Gus Briskow.

"It is simply impossible to remain," she told him. "Already I'm a physical wreck, for I never get a moment's rest. The salary is attractive, but Allegheny is too much for me."

"You're kinda worked up, Miz' Ring. Mebbe I can make it pleasanter for you."

"In what way, may I ask?"

"Well, by payin' you more."

"You are generous. The salary we agreed upon isn't low."

"Try it, ma'am, for a little while. Mebbe it won't bother you so much after you get used to it. Allie likes you."

"And I—I am interested in her. She is progressing, too; in fact, I have never seen anyone learn more rapidly. But—she is so unusual. Still, perhaps I am the one—perhaps it is my duty, under the circumstances—"

Allie was sitting alone in her room one evening, fagged out from a hard day. Some people were talking on the veranda outside her window, and she heard one say:

"The girl can look really stunning."

"Exactly. I don't understand where she gets her looks, for her parents are—impossible. Wouldn't you know what they were?"

Allie needed no clearer indication of who was under discussion.

"She's a glorious rider," the first speaker was saying. "She passed me the other day, going like sin, with her face blazing and that big, lively chestnut running flat. The way she took that curve about the Devil's Slide brought my heart into my mouth."

The breathless eavesdropper felt a hot wave of delight pour over her, her very flesh seemed to ripple like the fur of a cat when it is stroked.

"Oh, she's a picture, mounted! Seems to have complete confidence in herself; and the strength of a giantess, too. But—my God! when she's on her feet!" And have you heard her talk?" Evidently the other speaker had, for there came the sound of low laughter, a sound that stabbed Allie Briskow like a bayonet and left her white and furious.

She was unusually silent and somber for the next three or four days; she went through her exercises without vim; at her studies she was both stupid and sullen. When Mrs. Ring's patience was exhausted and her frayed nerves finally gave out, Allie rounded upon her with a violence unparalleled.

In a panic Mrs. Ring sought out Gus Briskow and again resigned. By this time, however, the novelty of her resignation had largely worn off, for seldom did more than two weeks elapse without a hysterical threat to quit. Gus decided, after some consideration to wire Calvin Gray and offer to pay his traveling expenses if he would come to Burlington Notch for a few days.

CHAPTER XIV

Allie Shows Her Teeth

ONE accomplishment that Allegheny mastered with gratifying ease was dancing. It came naturally to her, for both she and Buddy were full of music.

"You're getting on," he told her, one day. "That last was splendid—top hole—absolutely."

It was on that afternoon that Delamater had told the clerk of discovering Ma Briskow alone in the woods. There was an open golf tournament at the Notch, prominent amateurs and professionals were competing, and the hotel was crowded to its capacity with players, fashionable followers of the game and a small army of society reporters and sport writers.

Delamater was especially agreeable today, more than usually flattering. Not for some time did his scholar become conscious of the subtle change in his demeanor.

They had become well acquainted by now and were on a basis of easy familiarity, nevertheless it came as a shock to Allie to be called by her first name—such a shock that she missed a step and trod on Delamater's foot. They came to a pause.

The dancing master was tall and slim his face was on a level with hers, and now he smiled into it, saying, "My mistake, my dear."

"I reckon it was." The girl's eyes were glowing queerly, and the man was amused at her evident agitation. Her first word had thrown the poor thing into a flurry.

They began to dance again, and, after a moment, with a gently rising inflection, Delamater murmured, "You heard what I called you?" He approved of the sachet that Allie used, and he became acutely conscious of the jewels resting in the palm of his hand. "You don't care?" he said, with his lips close to her ear.

"Humph! I'm not caring for anything or anybody today."

It is the lot of any man in the heat of his desire to make mistakes, and Delamater erred gravely at this moment. He kissed Allie. Without warning he kissed her full and fair upon her red, half-open lips.

For the briefest instant of amazement the two stood motionless in the middle of the polished floor while the phonograph brayed on; then Allie shook herself free of her partner, and in the same movement she smote him a mighty slap that sent him reeling.

With a cry he scrambled to his feet. "What the hell—?" he growled, savagely.

Allie's face was chalky. Breathlessly, curiously, she inquired, "Wha'd you do that for?"

"What did I do it for?" Say! You ought to be complimented—tickled to death." Delamater rubbed his cheek and glared at her. "By God! I wish you were a man. Oh, don't worry, I won't touch you again! Who the hell would, after that?" Allie opened her lips to speak, but he ran on more angrily as the pain bit into him. "Thought I meant it, eh? Why, you lumbering ox—"

"Then you ain't in love with me or—or anything?"

"Love?" The speaker uttered an unpleasant sound indicative of scorn. "Wake up, sister! What d'you take me for? Why, your mother talks bird talk, and your dad lives in a box stall and eats oats with his knife! Here I kid you alone a little bit—slip you a kiss, as I would any girl, and you—you—" Delamater stuttered impotently. "Love? I guess I'm the first regular fellow that ever gave you a chance."

Delamater was surprised when his pupil turned her back upon him, strode to the nearest window and flung it open as if for air; his surprise deepened when she faced him again and moved in his direction. Her expression caused him to utter a profane warning, but she continued to bear down upon him, and when she reached out to seize him he struck at her as he would have struck at a man.

To those who are familiar with Burlington Notch, it will be remembered that the hotel is pitched upon a slope and that the rooms on the first floor of the east wing are raised a cnsiderable distance above the lawn. The windows of these east rooms overlook the eighteenth green, and during tournaments they are favorable vantage points of golf widows and enthusiasts who are too old to follow the competitors around the course. Today they were filled, for an international title was at issue and Herring, prince of amateurs, was playing off the final round of his match with the dour Scotch professional, McLeod.

A highly enthusiastic "gallery" accompanied the pair, a crowd composed not only of spectators, but also of officials, defeated players, newspaper writers, camera men, caddies, and the like.

Out of the air overhead came the sound of a disturbance and every face turned. A most amazing thing was in the way of happening, a phenomenon unique in the history of tournaments, for a man was being thrust forth from one of the hotel windows, perhaps twenty-five feet above the ground—a writhing, struggling, kicking man with fawn-colored spats. He was being ejected painlessly but firmly, and by a girl—a grim-faced young woman of splendid proportions. For a moment she allowed him to dangle; then she dropped him into a handsome Dorothy Perkins rosebush. He landed with a shriek. Briefly the amazon remained framed in the casement, staring with dark defiance down into the upturned faces; her deep bosom was heaving, her smoky hair was slightly disarranged; she allowed her eyes to rest upon the figure entangled among the thorns beneath her, then she closed the window.

Mrs. Ring was waiting on the veranda for Gus Briskow when he returned to the hotel about dark. He had learned to dread the sight of her on that verando, for it was her favorite resigning place—what Gus called her "quitting spot," and it was evident tonight that she was in a quitting mood, a mood more hysterical than ever before. It was some time before he could get at the facts, and even then he could not fully appreciate the enormity of the disgrace that had overwhelmed Allie's instructress.

Avocado Growers Attention!
Day by day in every way our fine, rich, avocado lands that we are offerings at from $650 to $750 per acre at Carlsbad, California, are growing less and less.
We want to urge you now while the selections are still first class to avail yourselves of the opportunities offered you of purchasing this rich land, fully water stocked, in this mild, even climate, close to the sea with fine transportation and on ten yearly payments while it may yet be had.
We also offer for your selection beautiful, highly improved Palisade residence lots, fully restricted, some on the State Highway, overlooking the sea at an elevation of from seventy to ninety feet.
Our sales are growing so rapidly that we fully predict that before the summer is out, we will have none of this fine land to offer you.
While your trees are coming into bearing grow bulbs, flowers and two out-of-season vegetable crops per year at fine profits.

Excepting therefrom any portion of said streets, alleys, roads and highways, situated within the boundaries of any incorporated city or town, and excepting also, all of those certain streets, alleys, roads and highways within the boundaries of said County of Orange, in the deed or other act of dedication of which is included a provision prohibiting the granting therein or thereon of a franchise.

2. That the said franchise will be granted and shall be held and enjoyed only upon the terms and conditions herein contained, and the said grantee must within thirty days after the passage of the ordinance granting such franchise, file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, a written acceptance of the terms and conditions therein expressed.

3. The term "grantee" hereinafter used herein shall be held to include the grantee, his, its or their successors or assigns.

4. That the grantee of said franchise shall have the right to construct and maintain such traps, manholes, appliances and attachments as may be necessary properly to maintain the pipes and pipe lines laid or constructed under said franchise, and said traps, manholes, appliances and attachments shall at all times be kept flush with the surface of the highway and so located as to conform to any order of the Board of Supervisors in regard thereto, and not to interfere with the use of the highway for travel. The grantee of said franchise shall have the right, subject to such regulations as are now or may hereafter be in force to make all necessary excavations in said highways for the construction and repair of said pipe lines, traps, manholes, appliances and attachments.

5. That if the said pipe lines shall be laid along any paved or macadam highway in the County of Orange, they shall be placed at the edge of the highway so as not to disturb the paved or macadamized surface, and in no event shall any pipe be laid across the macadam or paved highway without a special permit from the Board of Supervisors so to do, which permit shall specify the manner in which the said pipes shall be laid across the highway and may provide for the repair of the highways after the said pipes have been laid, by the officers of the County at the expense of the grantee, and upon the presentation of a bill therefor the grantee shall pay the sum at once, or in the event of its failure so to do, this franchise shall thereupon be forfeited.

6. That all pipes, pipe lines, traps, manholes, attachments and appliances constructed, erected or maintained under the provisions of this franchise shall be constructed, erected and maintained in accordance to and in conformity with all the ordinances, rules or regulations now or hereafter adopted or prescribed by the Board of Supervisors of Orange County, provided that all pipes and pipe lines laid under said franchise shall be of first class material and subject to the approval of said Board of Supervisors, provided that no pipe laid under said franchise shall exceed ten inches in diameter.

7. That the work of laying or repairing all pipes, pipe lines, traps, manholes, attachments and appliances shall be conducted with the least possible hindrance to the use of the highways for purposes of travel, and as soon as the laying, constructing, erecting or repairing of any pipe, pipe line, trap, manhole, attachment or appliance is completed, all portions of the highway which have been excavated or otherwise injured thereby, shall be placed in as good condition as the same was before the laying, constructing, erecting or repairing of any pipe, pipe line, trap, manhole, attachment or appliance, to the satisfaction of the Board of Supervisors of said County, and that any damage or injury suffered by any person by reason of any excavation or obstacle being improperly guarded during said work, shall be borne by the grantee, his, its or their successors or assigns, of this franchise.

8. That the County of Orange reserves the right to change the grade of any highway over which this franchise is granted, and the grantee of said franchise, his, its, or their successors or assigns, shall within thirty days change the location of all pipes, traps, manholes, appliances, and attachments laid, constructed or erected hereunder so as to conform to such change of grade.

9. That if any portion of any highway shall be damaged by reason of breaks or leaks in any pipe or pipe lines, traps, manholes, attachments or appliances laid or constructed under this franchise, the grantee thereof shall at its own expense, repair any such damage and put such highway in as good condition as it was before such break or leak, to the satisfaction of the Board of Supervisors of said County.

10. That if said grantee shall fail to comply with any instructions of said Board of Supervisors with respect to the location of any of said pipes, pipe lines, traps, manholes, appliances or attachments, or the repair of any damage to highways within ten days after the service of written notice upon said grantee, his, its, or their successors or assigns, requiring compliance therewith, that said Board of Supervisors may immediately do whatever work is necessary to carry out said instructions at the cost and expense of said grantee, which cost by the acceptance of this franchise said grantee agrees to pay upon demand.

11. The grantee shall not commence the construction of any pipe lines under the provisions of this franchise until it shall first have obtained a permit from the Board of Supervisors so to do. Such permit shall be granted upon application of the grantee, which application shall show the following facts: the highway upon which it is proposed to construct or lay the said pipes, the length of pipe lines proposed to be constructed or laid upon the highway, the size and description of the pipe intended to be used in the construction of the pipe line and such other facts as the Board of Supervisors may require. On the first day of July and January of each year after the date of the granting of this franchise the grantee shall render a statement to the County of Orange showing in detail the permits issued and the total length of pipe line, for the construction of which under the terms of this franchise, permits have been taken out during the preceding six months, and if the total length of pipe line actually laid during said six months, is less than that permitted under the permits issued, such statements shall in addition to the above show in detail the total length of pipe line actually laid under said permit, and in either event the grantee shall accompany said report with the payment of One Dollar ($1.00) per rod or major fraction thereof of pipe line which has been actually constructed under the permit taken out during the preceding six months, under the provisions of said franchise.

12. The grantee hereof shall also file with the Board of Supervisors on or about the 5th day of January of each year during the life of this franchise, a map or set of maps showing in detail the exact location and size of all mains, laterals, and surface pipes installed beneath the surface of the public highways in the territory hereinbefore described belonging to or used by or under the control of such grantee, or his its or their successors or assigns. Whenever any pipe, tunnel, or other structure located under the surface of said highways is abandoned, then within thirty days thereafter the said grantee shall file with said Board of Supervisors a statement in writing giving in detail the location of all such pipes, tunnels, or structures which shall have been abandoned subsequent to the filing of the last preceding map, or set of maps. Said maps and said statement shall be duly verified by the said grantee or his, its, or their successors or assigns.

13. The said grantee shall also within thirty days after the granting this franchise file with the Board of Supervisors of Orange County a detailed statement showing the location and length in lineal feet of all pipe lines constructed by the grantee on any of the public highways within the district described in this franchise and for which no franchise has been obtained, if any such there be, and shall accompany such statements with the payment of One ($1.00) Dollar per rod or major fraction thereof, of pipe lines shown therein.

14. That the grantee of said franchise shall have the right during the period for which said franchise is granted to transport, furnish and distribute oil and its byproducts through the said pipe lines.

15. That the said grantee shall during the life of this franchise, pay to the County of Orange, in lawful money of the United States, two per cent of the gross annual receipts of such grantee arising from the operation, use, or possession of said franchise. No percentage shall be paid for the first five years succeeding the date of such franchise, but thereafter such percentage shall be paid annually.

16. It shall be the duty of the grantee of said franchise to file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors at the expiration of six years from the date of the granting of said franchise, and at the expiration of each and every year thereafter a statement verified by oath of said grantee, or by the oath of the manager or presiding officer of said grantee, showing in detail the total gross receipts or gross earning collected or received by the said grantee during the preceding twelve months from the transportation and distribution of oils or their by-products through any part of the system, for the construction and operation of which said franchise is granted and within ten days after the filing of the aforesaid statement it shall be the duty of said grantee to pay to the County Treasurer of Orange County the aggregate sum of said two per cent of the amount of gross annual receipts arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise, and if the amount paid is incorrect in the judgment of the Board of Supervisors, they may order the payment of such additional sum as they may find due hereunder, and any and all sums due under said franchise, if not paid may be collected by suit.

17. The said grantee shall not sell, transfer or assign said franchise, or the rights or privileges granted thereby, without the consent of the Board of Supervisors, nor shall said franchise or right or privileges be sold, transferred or assigned, except by duly executed instrument in writing filed in the office of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange, and nothing in said franchise contained shall be construed to grant to said grantee any right to sell, transfer or assign said franchise, or any rights or privileges thereby granted, except in the manner aforesaid.

18. That any neglect, failure or refusal to comply with any of the conditions of said franchise shall thereupon immediately effect a forfeiture thereof, and the said County by its Board of Supervisors may thereupon declare said franchise forfeited, and may exclude said grantee from further use of the highways of said County under said franchise, and said grantee shall thereupon and immediately surrender all rights in and to the same, and said franchise shall be deemed and shall remain null and void and of no effect.

19. The grantor or any municipal corporation now existing or hereafter formed shall have the right at any time, after five years from the taking effect of the ordinance granting said franchise, to acquire the work, property, and rights of the grantee, or any portion thereof, constructed, acquired, or operated under the said franchise upon making just and reasonable compensation therefor.

20. Notice is hereby given that sealed bids in writing will be received at the office of the Board of Supervisors for said franchise up to ten o'clock in the forenoon of the 26th day of June, 1923.

21. That the said bids will be opened at that time, that all bids must be for the payment of a stated sum in gold coin of the United States, which sum shall not be less than Two Hundred Dollars, and that the franchise will be struck off, sold and awarded to the person, firm or corporation, who shall make the highest cash bid therefor, provided that at the time of opening said bids, any responsible person, firm, or corporation, present or represented, may bid for said franchise a sum not less than ten per cent above the highest sealed bid therefor, and that said bid so made may be raised not less than ten per cent by any other responsible bidder and said bidding may so continue until finally said franchise shall be struck off, sold and awarded by said Board of Supervisors to the highest bidder therefor in gold coin of the United States, provided further that said Board of Supervisors may in its discretion reject all bids received for said franchise.

22. Each sealed bid must be accompanied with cash or certified check payable to the County Treasurer of Orange County for the full amount of said bid, and no sealed bid will be considered unless said cash or check is inclosed therewith, and the successful bidder must deposit at least ten per cent of the amount of his bid with the Clerk of said County before said franchise will be struck off to him, and if he shall fail to make such deposit immediately his bid will not be received and will be considered as void, and said franchise will then and there be again offered for sale to the bidder who shall make the highest cash bid therefor, subject to the same conditions as to deposit, as above mentioned. Said procedure will be had until said franchise is struck off, sold and awarded to a bidder who shall make the necessary deposit of at least ten per cent of the amount of his bid, as herein provided. Said successful bidder shall deposit with the County Clerk within twenty-four hours after the acceptance of his bid the remaining ninety per cent of the amount thereof, and in case he or it fails to do so, then the said deposit theretofore made will be forfeited and the award of said franchise will be void and said franchise will then and there by said Board of Supervisors be again offered for sale to the highest bidder therefor in the same manner and under the same restrictions as hereinbefore provided and in case said bidder fails to deposit with the County Clerk the remaining ninety per cent of his bid within twenty-four hours after its acceptance, the award to him of said franchise will be set aside and the deposit theretofore made by him will be forfeited and no further proceedings for the sale of said franchise will be had until the same shall be readvertised for sale.

23. Notice is also hereby given that the successful bidder for said franchise must within five days after franchise is awarded to him or it, file with the said Board of Supervisors a bond running to said County in the penal sum of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars with at least two good and sufficient sureties to be approved by the said Board of Supervisors, conditioned that said bidder shall well and truly observe, fulfill and perform each and every term and condition of said franchise, and that in case of any breach of the condition of said bond the whole amount of the penal sum therein named shall be taken and deemed to be liquidated damages, and shall be recoverable from the principal and sureties upon said bond. If said bond be not so filed the award of said franchise will be set aside and any money paid therefor will be forfeited.

24. All bids for said franchise shall be left with J. M. Backs, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of said County.

By order of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange, California.

Dated this 22nd day of May, 1923.

TALBERT

TALBERT, June 1.—As several of the young people of the community are planning on leaving soon, some to return to their homes after spending the school term here and others are to be absent for the vacation period a farewell out-door party and weinie bake was given by the members of their crowd upon the sands at Huntington Beach.

With the playing of games a happy time resulted and the toasted weinies and marshmallows were duly appreciated when the supper hour arrived.

Included in the party were Miss Elva Titus, Miss Luella Johnson, the Misses Helen, Louise and Martha Wardlow, the Misses Alpha, Dedah and Lola Gilbert, Laurence Doyle, Lloyd Dakon, Roy Titus, Jack Worthy, Earl Presson, Earl Strons, Ellis Shaw, Clarence Bland, Fred Brand, Eugene Barbee, William Gilbert, Doyle Gilbert and the chaperone, Mrs. D. C. Gilbert.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Proctor and the lattetr's niece, Miss Gates, attended the Orange show at Anaheim on Friday evening.

Charles Jessee of Visalia is spending the week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Jessee. He arrived last Sunday and expects to return north Saturday of this week.

Mrs. George Ross and daughter, Miss Betty Ross of Santa Ana and their cousin, Mrs. Harriette Mock of Long Beach were callers Saturday at the home of Mrs. Harry Harper.

Mrs. Dahlia Swift and small daughtert, Gwendolyn were dinner guests in Santa Ana Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Plavan.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Gilbert entertained as dinner guests Friday the latter's father, L. T. Wells of Huntington Beach and Frank Montgomery and nephew. The Montgomerys are life long friends of the Gilberts and have just arrived from Kansas.

Lloyd Dakon motored to Ontario for the day Sunday to visit his parents who reside there. He was accompanied on the trip by Laurence Doyle, Miss Elva Titus, Miss Alpha Gilbert and Mrs. Georgia De Poister. Upon arriving there the party found the grandmother who resided in the Dakon home quite low as the result of a paralytic stroke suffered the day before and on Monday the message telling of her death was received.

Mrs. Paul Plavan attended a pleasant afternoon social function held at the home of her sister, Mrs. Alfred Manderschied of Greenville the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Rush and Mrs. D. E. Jessee visited the Santa Ana cemetery on Tuesday afternoon and there decorated the graves of relatives and friends preparatory to Memorial day.

The Parsons and Parsons store closed Wednesday in commemoration of Memorial day.

Lloyd Dakon who has been carrying his arm in a sling for several weeks due to a break resulting from the back-firing of a machine which he was cranking, is now able to use the member to some extent, it having been released last Friday from the bandages.

On Friday evening quite a crowd of local people motored to Santa Ana to attend the tabernacle meeting and saw the moving picture "The Campbellite Nun" which was being shown that evening. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Presson and two children, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Presson and two children, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. ON TEACHING HISTORY

"What we have to do", says President William A. Neilson of Smith College, "is clearly not to start counter propaganda, but merely to hold up the hands of scholarship in seeking and telling the truth. Leave the writing and teaching of history to the scholars, and demand that the politicians keep hands off."

It sounds like very good sense, this declaration, but we cannot help but wonder. Who was it wrote the histories that were used in our schools 20 and 30 and 40 years ago? The difficulties which we have today are due directly to the prejudices instilled by the scholars of that generation, prejudices to which the self-seeking politicians find it only too easy to make appeal.

Those were the days before most of us knew that John Hancock was a smuggler or that Thomas Jefferson complimented the French Jacobins on the September massacres of the Terror, when we knew all about the Indian allies of Great Britain in the War of Revolution and forgot the efforts Congress made to win the support of the savages, and the bounties certain of the colonies offered for scalps; when Andrew Jackson was the man who swore "by the Eternal" he would defend the union rather than the man who, as Lecky said, "was the founder of the most stupendous system of political corruption in modern history."

We know now that George Washington did not cut down the cherry tree; that he may, perhaps, have fibbed; and that at the Brandywine he swore "like an archangel" as the surprised staff officer had it. Are we any better off?

The politicians have small ground for satisfaction in their reading of history, but the scholars, so-called, have hardly reason to boast. One group appeals to ignorant prejudice while the other would make us altogether too wise. Is there no reasonable middle ground?

True, "America should produce its own rubber," as the rubber manufacturers maintain, even though for some years it would require considerable stretching to make the supply go round.

COUNTING ON CANADA

Every year Canada buys from Great Britain something less than $150,000,000 worth of goods and sells the mother country, in return, $400,000,000 worth. Under the circumstances it is hard to understand the proposal of London bankers that Canada be the medium through which the United Kingdom discharge its indebtedness to the United States.

If British capital were the dominant factor in Canadian industry it would be different, but it is the capital of the United States that counts there. American capital controls Canada's timber, wood pulp, nickel, asbestos, gold and other mining interests, and conservative estimates place its share in Canadian manufacturing at 60 per cent. British capital came too late into the field.

Moreover, whereas Canada's industrial census of 1921 placed the Dominion's industrial capital at approximately $3,000,000,000, bonds held this side the border bring our investment in Canada well above $2,000,000,000.

Anyway you look at it, Canada and the United States are very much in business together, and the only way Great Britain could hope to pay her debt through Canada would be by adding so extensively to her Canadian purchases as to establish new credits for investment in natural resources.

As it is, Canada, with its own fiscal system, gives the motherland no inside track. If England wants to develop Canadian resources as a means of paying the war debt, she must compete with the capital of the rest of the world and run her risks with it.

THE VANISHED ISLAND

When this little island was discovered, just two centuries ago, midway between Chile and the main group of South Sea Islands, it was inhabited by a remarkable group of statues. There were hundreds of them, mostly human figures portraying an unknown race, carved of solid volcanic rock, many of them 70 feet or more in height and buried to a considerable depth in the earth. Scientists studied them in vain. It was impossible to determine their age or their purpose, or by what people they were erected.

The tradition is that the island, shortly before its discovery, had risen from the sea to which it now seems to have returned. Volcanic Islands often do queer things. If so, those statues may represent a highly developed race which was destroyed untold thousands of years ago. For all anyone knows, Easter Island may have been the highest mountain peak of a submerged continent. There are traditions of a Pacific continent, called Lemuria, comparable to the lost Atlantis told of by Plato.

Such changes are an old story to this earth. Earth history is one long record, as geology shows, of land emerging and submerging, of mountains and islands and continents rising and falling, and the process is still going on. Wherever a salt bed is found in drilling for minerals, there is evidence of an ancient sea. All land and all life seem to have come from the sea originally, and may return to it in the end, like Easter Island and its secrets.

Seeing how much of a row is stirred up by printing guesses at the "greatest Americans", we wonder what would happen if the experts started making lists of the smallest.

FOR BETTER MAPS

A plea for better maps has been issued by writers in the New York Times letter column. It is a call which many people will echo. One of the letters deserves quoting in part, as follows:

"If there is a good detail map of Greater New York, comparable with the sectional city maps in Baedeker's guide books, I have never found it. When it comes to maps of other cities and countries, our publishers seem to follow the policy of splendid isolation. The idea of large scale—self-reading maps of the kind published by British and German houses—maps as tools—has not yet been applied to the atlases of our own country. As for the city maps, when I look over the splendid German street maps of London, Paris, Rio de Janeiro and other cities, I wonder why the Germans never published similar maps of our own cities."

Here is a field for American competition with German skill not generally considered, which will bear consideration. It is true that American magazines occasionally publish maps, domestic or foreign, which are all that the most ardent map student could wish. But these are as a rule devoted to areas under public discussion at the time, and leave the strictures on American maps as a whole still deserved. With the rapidly developing events on every hand arousing public interest in map study, some opportunist publisher should see the light.

A lot of Americans seem determined to have homes of their own this year, even if they have to get along with only one automobile. Then, too, the new fashion of making the family garage a part of the house may have something to do with the home-building boom.

Blue Sky Law Enforcement

San Francisco Journal.

The California commissioner of corporations is trying to do his duty. His task is large and intricate. Upon his success in dealing with the conditions at present affecting the investment field depends the welfare and continued effective existence of the blue sky law. No law can insure honesty among people who are bent upon being dishonest, but proper enforcement can make dishonesty so unsafe that it will be reduced to a minimum. But no matter how well such regulatory laws are enforced they can never serve as a substitute for common sense and caution on the part of the investors.

It ought to be a maximum among inexperienced people who have money to invest not to go afield with their money in search of untried projects holding out glittering promises of large returns. People who lack the opportunity to investigate personally, or who lack the knowledge to form accurate judgments of the soundness of any proposition, ought to seek the guidance, or at least the advice of investment bankers of established reputation and large experience. If they are not fortunate enough to have any acquaintances among these people they had better keep their money in some sound savings bank until such time as they can inform themselves. Their only safety lies in assuming that they are going to be defrauded until they know something substantial to the contrary. Sometimes the financial wolves have most luxurious dens and all the appearances of prosperity. They may have apparently influential connections and good social standing. But these are no tokens of security. To understand the investment business requires close study and wide experience, and if the investor is not so equipped he ought to make sure that he is relying on some honest person who is.

The cases of two so-called investment concerns now under investigation illustrate the need of this caution. Evidence has been brought to light which tends to show that money paid by prospective investors found its way into the pockets of the officers without adding to the assets of the company even so much as a tall red cent. Just how much dividends a company could be expected to pay on investments of that kind the shorn lambs will only learn when it is too late to do anything about it. The commissioner cannot lock all the stable doors.

The New Highway Law

San Francisco Chronicle.

The new highway act marks a great advance in our methods of dealing with State highways. In the effort to cover the entire State quickly on the lines as marked out in the original act the construction of a large mileage was too light, even for the pleasure and tourist traffic, which was then mainly in mind. All such roads went promptly to pieces under the motor-truck traffic, which so promptly developed and which must be the basis for road specifications hereafter. About 365 miles of such road will be completely reconstructed, at a cost of about $27,000 a mile. For all purposes there will be expended during the biennium about $37,000,000, derived from traffic taxes of various kinds and county taxation. This includes work on State highways and county roads.

The permissible loading of trucks is fixed at weights which it is hoped, that the roadbeds will carry without destruction, and the principle seems to be established that after highways have once been built by State bond issue they must be maintained by some form of taxation of traffic.

The danger from traffic is sought to be minimized by more care in licensing and rigid enforcement of the license laws. Something has been accomplished toward restricting the use of automobiles for felonious purposes by requiring garage keepers to keep certain records and by some other minor provision. Probably more will have to be done in the future.

Summarizing, it may be said that the prospect is that by the end of the coming biennium the highway system of the State will be in condition to provide adequately for all the traffic which can be foreseen.

American Influence

Fresno Republican.

The amicable settlement of the difference between Greece and Turkey has given to the world a dramatic illustration of the power of American influence, when properly used.

For days, M. Venizelos and Ismet Pasha, the accredited delegates of the two nations labored to effect a settlement but seemed to get no nearer to the desired result. Then United States Minister Grew of Switzerland presented to them an urgent appeal from the state department and a few hours later, the danger of war had passed.

The appeal from the United States did not suggest in any way how Greece and Turkey should settle their differences. It would have been highly improper for the United States to presume that it was in a position to suggest any basis for settlement. It had no part in the peace conference, its representative being only an observer.

But the United States did suggest in its appeal, that a renewal of war would long delay reconstruction for both nations and would frighten the foreign capital which is so desirable at this time for upbuilding.

The view of the future, presented as it was, brought to the delegates of the two nations a realization of the folly of any further struggle and a compromise that both have agreed upon as entirely satisfactory has been announced to the world.

The result of this participation will be a powerful argument for those who favor a limited participation by the United States in European affairs.

Good Sense Hard Work

Long Beach Press.

Sensible thinking and hard work! This very sensible and germane suggestion is made, in lieu of legislation, to correct any flaws that may be found in the general economic situation. A high official of the Federal War Finance Corporation puts forth this formula. It is a good one.

The habit is growing upon the people to look too much to legislation for relief. Whenever there is a hill to climb, or a disagreeable situation to be met, forthwith a movement is started to have it dealt with by legislation. This is a mischievous practice and should be discouraged. The people should not become namby-pamby in working out their problems. Good red blood should be in evidence in their dealing with crises and with the rough places in the country's economic path. Paternalism gone mad would go far toward wrecking the whole fabric of individual initiative and wholesome progress in this country.

Sensible thinking and hard work are indicated in coping with defects, ills and critical situations in the Nation's economic life.

Rambling Right Along

Judge Gary, on Christianity

From a Recent Address

Fresh from a Mediterranean cruise, including a visit to the Holy Land, Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the Board of Directors of the United States Steel Corporation, made a speech at the annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute that has attracted widespread attention, because of its strong religious trend.

Judge Gary had scarcely started with a description of his foreign tour, when, mentioning the Holy Land, he launched into a vigorous defense of the Bible against its modernist attackers and urged a broader application of Christian principles.

"The moral and religious principle of the Bible, both the Old and New Testaments," he said, "have never been and can never be, successfully combatted. Since the preservation of history commenced, there has never been anything approaching the Holy Bible as a literary production or a code for a proper and desirable human conduct or as a foundation for future hopes.

"If any here should believe this is an exaggeration, which is not probable, read again this book and you will be surprised. Visit Palestine in the light of, and under the inspiration of the Bible. The landmarks of Palestine are as described in the Bible. The more we read and study, the more we must be convinced of the absolute reliability of the book of books.

"One who reads of, or personally witnesses evidence of the rise and fall of great nations and communities and cities, is led to believe that an overruling God determined their destinies. Such nations as the United States, even, or Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, China, Germany, Austria, Russia, will do well to constantly bear in mind the history of the past and the possibilities of the future. 'Let him that thinketh he stands, take heed, lest he fall'.

"We should, if possible, avoid ill-natured controversies, international, national, state, municipal, public, private, political, sectarian, economic or otherwise. They are numerous at present; indeed, they seem to be fashionable. Where, or in whom, is the blame?"

"'He that is without sin, let him first cast a stone!' Let us diligently search our hearts."

Worth While Verse

AN ELEGY

They are so sure of you now,
The loving and cruel and blind,
You are so frail and small
Since the light dimmed out of your face.
Death's ultimate commonplace
Has given you back to them all;
Now they can comprehend
And afford to be kind.

You are so plastic now;
So submissive and still,
Your slender, rebellious hands
Have been folded and hidden away.
You, who were too brave to pray
When your soul was scarred by the hands
That they forged through the years
On your youth, and your dream, and your will.

They can be generous now,
They who never have given,
When they gave you a shaft
Complacently branded "At Rest",
I think that you paused in your quest
Worlds away, while you laughed
Your old dauntless laugh
Through your startled new Heaven.

Pursue Our Way in Patience

To "an unconscious plagiarism" on the part of the San Francisco Journal, The Register and its readers are indebted for a bit of very fine literature beautiful and wholesome sentiment and sound philosophy—to say the least. Here it is, with some repetition, but it is good enough for several repetitions:

The attention of The Journal has been called to an unconscious plagiarism in an editorial appearing Monday morning under the heading "W. S. D. Loses." .In the editorial occurred the sentence: "The world is wide; there are a thousand million different human opinions, wills, ambitions, tastes and loves; each person has a different history, constitution, culture, character, from all the rest; human life is the work, the play, the ceaseless action and reaction upon each other of these different atoms . With this in mind we may pursue our way with patience for the opinions of others; an appreciation for everything that is beautiful and good; a temper so genial the views of others shall not wear upon our sensibilities, not taking offense where none is intended."

"We should remember that the world is wide; that there are a thousand million different human wills, opinions, ambitions, tastes and loves; that each person has a different history, constitution, culture, character, from all the rest; that human life is the work, the play, the ceaseless action and reaction upon each other of these different atoms. Then, we should go forth into life with the smallest expectations, but with the largest patience; with a keen relish for and appreciation of everything beautiful, great, and good, but with a temper so genial that the friction of the world shall not wear upon our sensibilities; with an equanimity so settled that no passing breath nor accidental disturbance shall agitate or ruffle it; with a charity broad enough to cover the whole world's evil and sweet enough to neutralize what is bitter in it—determined not to be offended when no wrong is meant, nor even when it is, unless the offense be against God." * * *

Due to the inadvertence of the writer, a sentence giving Mrs. Eddy due credit for the excerpt and for the paraphrase which followed was omitted from the original editorial.

Pure Logic

By Berton Braley

The amateur gardner scratched his head,
"This thing is too much for me," he said,
"I plant tomatoes,
Green peas, potatoes,
Lettuce and beans, to meet our needs;
I treat 'em kind
As I ought to do,
But all I find
When the season's through,
Is a bean or two and a lot of weeds."

The amateur gardener thought and thought
On why his gardening came to nought;
From cerebration
An inspiration
Came suddenly into his puzzled brain;
Then he gave a wink
And he cried, "Im sore
That I didn't think
Of that thought before,
A logical plan that is safe and sane!"

So the amateur gardener bought the seeds
Of all the different sorts of weeds,
He planted thistles
And things with bristles
And all plant pests he had heard about;
Then corn and peas,
Potatoes too,
And plants like these
Sprang up and grew
Till they'd choked the weeds and the thistles out!

Gold Nuggets

In a rugged, out-of-the-way region on the ocean side of the Coast ranges, in Monterey county, California, gold nuggets have been found of such size as to suggest that this was once a favorite retreat of the proverbial goose that laid the golden eggs. Matter-of-fact prospectors, however, have saught to find the veins from which such masses of gold, loosened by the weather, were washed into the stream beds. Their search has not been successful, and J. M. Hill, a United States geologist of the Department of the Interior, in a report just published suggests that the nuggets came from rich superficial pockets in very small veins, and that no large and rich deposits are likely to be found by deep mining. The Coast ranges of California, unlike the Sierra Nevada, are not rich in gold, and the occurrence of these large nuggets is exceptional and illustrates the fact, known to many prospectors, that the discovery of a few large nuggets does not necessarily indicate the existence of a rich deposit of gold ore in place.

Mr. Hill's report, entitled "The Los Burros district, Monterey County, California," is published as Bulletin 735J and can be obtained on application to the director of the Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Trees Blown Down

Supervisor Thomas J. Jones of the Inyo National Forest, on a recent snowshoe trip into the country north of Mammoth, discovered that the winter storms had blown down over two million feet of yellow pine and Douglas fir lumber on his forest. It is believed that the severe windstorm that swept Eastern California on February 12 last was the cause of this heavy windthrow. Fortunately, forest officers report that it will be possible to salvage the bulk of the down timber, as the Hess Lumber company of Bishop is operating a government sale in the immediate vicinity.

Icebergs

When pieces of ice, little or big, come in contact it is their habit to freeze together. Thus icebergs are formed from snowflakes. It is estimated that the weight of some of the bigger icebergs of the Atlantic is as much as 2,000,000,000 tons, and they not infrequently tower to a height of 1000 feet above the waves which at that, is but one-tenth of their bulk. To form one of these icebergs may have taken 100 years but even so they are only playthings for the gulf stream.—Compressed Air Magazine.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 20—THE RAGSIES GET NEW CLOTHES.

This is a story about how Nancy dressed up the Ragsies.

One day in Ragsy Land Nancy had an idea. "I'm going to make you some new clothes," she said.

"Who for?" asked Mister Tatters, the little Ragsy man.

"Why all of the Ragsies," she answered. "You just shan't go around any longer looking like ragamuffins."

Mister Tatters looked down at his old overalls all worn to rags and slowly shook his head. "I don't think we need them," he said. "We can work better in old duds."

"Oh, you'll soon get used to them," said Nancy. "You might want to give another party."

"That's so!" said Mister Tatters reluctantly. "Perhaps it would be better if we dressed up a little. The airy Queen sent us some cloth one time, but we never had any use for it. You'll find it in my bedroom bureau drawer."

Nancy got her scissors and snipped and cut and fitted and sewed and pretty soon she had every single Ragsy man fixed up in a brand-new suit. She made some with long-tail coats and tights like the Brownies wore. And she made some with belated tunics like the gnomes wore. And she made some with short jerkins like the elves wore.

But when they were finished nobody looked happy.

"We shall have to change our names now because we aren't Ragsies any more," said Rag Tag sorrowfully. "We all look like dudes."

"And we'll have to stop helping folks because we're too dressed up," said Bob Tail soberly.

"Well, if that's the way you feel about it, you'd better take your old clothes back," decided Nancy. "Here they are, every one of them."

And you should have seen the Ragsies grab, my dears. It really was shocking.
